

Competition Concludes At P. E. I. Rifle Meet

The United Services Officers' Match, held at the Squaw Point range yesterday morning, was the final windup of competitions in a highly successful four-day program of the Provincial Rifle Association's seventy-eighth annual prize meeting.

Major A. F. Gormley was the match winner with a total score of 186, while Gunner W. L. Crockett and Captain R. A. McCabe were the second and third place winners with scores of 166 and 157 respectively.

In the United Services Officers' match, which is a tricky and intricate competition, Major Gormley scored a 45 from the 600, 10 rounds without sling, a 44 on the run down to the 100 range firing two rounds at each of the 500, 400, 300, 200 and 100 yard ranges, and finishing up with a 37 and 42 on the 10 rounds snap shooting and 10 rounds rapid fire from the 300 yard range, for his excellent winning score of 168 out of a 200 possible.

Gnr. Crockett's close second place scoring was made up of a 44 without sling, 40 on the run down, 36 for snap shooting and 45 on the rapid fire for his 165.

Leading the final results of the Ottawa Aggregate, Sgt. G. G. MacLennan led the field with a total of 517 to win the silver medal, while Captain A. J. McCabe won the bronze medal winner after he won a final shootout with Major A. F. Gormley and Gnr. W. D. Crockett, who all ended up in a three-cornered tie for second place with a score of 516 each.

Adding the final and pleasant climax to the seventy-eighth annual meeting, a delightful banquet was held last night at the Kepoch Beach Hotel, given by the Department of Physical Fitness, at which the presentation of prizes was made.

Brigadier W. W. Reid, D.S.O., E.D., honorary president of the Provincial Rifle Association, presided at the banquet, while His Honor Lt. Governor J. A. Bernard graced the gathering with his presence and made the presentations to prize winners.

The following are the final day's match results and prize list.

Dado Marino Is Winner Of Flyweight Title

By Roy Essayan
HONOLULU, Aug. 3—(AP)—It was the first punch that told Dado Marino he would win the world flyweight title.

Dado, born in Hawaii of Filipino parents, won a unanimous 15-round decision last night over Terry Allen of London. Dado weighed 112 pounds, Allen 111 1/2.

"The first punch he hit me with, I knew I could win," Marino said in his dressing room after the fight. Neither fighter scored a knockdown, but it was a hard-fought battle.

"I got no excuses—the best man I got," Allen said. "It was a fair decision and a fair fight."

Johnny Sharpo, Allen's manager, said Allen was cut over the left eye in the second round.

"He had a difficult time seeing after that," he said.

Old for the ring at 34, Marino had campaigned long and hard for the title.

Several years ago he went to the British Isles for a title bout but encountered delays when champion Jackie Patterson of Glasgow couldn't make the weight.

The British Boxing Board of Control declared the title vacant. Marino then fought Rinty Monaghan of Ireland for the championship. But a British court restored the crown to Patterson just before the bout started. Marino lost to Monaghan.

Now that Marino is finally champ, said his manager Sam Ichinose, the little Hawaiian is going "to sit tight and wait for offers."

Marino carried the battle to Allen from the starting bell to the end of the fight.

Lynn Patrick To Become Bruins Manager

BOSTON, Aug. 3—(AP)—Lynn Patrick will coach Boston Bruins for the next two seasons and then step into the manager's job, general manager Art Ross of the National Hockey League club, said today. Milt Schmidt will succeed Patrick as coach.

Ross disclosed the plans of the Bruins in the course of conference with hockey writers on the occasion of Patrick's first official visit to the Bruins' headquarters.

"We've brought Lynn in here as a permanent member of this organization," Ross told the writers.

"He's not an interim coach. He's the coach and he will be for two years and by that time he should be able to take over in here when he'll be succeeded on the bench by Schmidt."

"Schmidt deserves it—and, by the way—we haven't told him about this yet."

"But Schmidt can't play and do the coaching. He will work with Lynn the next two seasons and by then should be able to replace him in the office."

"Do you mean," asked a writer, "that he'll succeed you?"

"Yes," replied Ross, "I'm not going to be any younger two years from now, you know."

Patrick, who directed New York Rangers in their battle down to the wire with Detroit's Red Wings for the Stanley Cup, was eminently pleased by the opportunity.

He had planned to return to Victoria with his father, Lester, who also is a noted hockey figure, and run the Cougars in the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

"This is the kind of an opportunity I've been hoping and searching for," he explained.

"I'm ambitious to get ahead in hockey and don't want to be a coach all my life."

"That's why I quit the Rangers and was going out west with my father. I was going to coach there until I had learned the business end. Now I have that same opportunity here in the big league."

Patrick didn't play hockey until he was 21 years old when his father moved the family to Montreal where Lynn began his career in senior hockey and then went to Rangers. Lynn is 36, the same age Ross was when he first came to Boston 26 years ago.

Schmidt, 32, has been captain of the Bruins for several years and has been a National Hockey League all star.

Curt Simmons On Active Duty

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 2—(AP)—Southpaw pitcher Curt Simmons of Philadelphia Phillies today became the first major league baseball player called to active duty with U. S. armed forces as a result of the Korean war.

His loss will be a terrific jolt to the club's pennant hopes.

Simmons, a private with the headquarters battalion, 28th Division Artillery, Pennsylvania National Guard, has been here since Saturday for the division's annual two-week summer encampment.

He had just completed arrangements to fly to Philadelphia to pitch tonight against Cincinnati Reds when his division was called to active duty, to report later this month.

Simmons, 21, has won 14 games and lost only five to rank at the top among National League pitchers. He has been a principal factor in keeping the Phils at the top of the league standing.

Simmons possibly could pitch six or seven more games this month, and might reach the 20-game winner circle.

However, he will be lost to the club for the September stretch drive when, as it now appears, the Phils, Dodgers, Cards and Braves will be battling for the pennant.

Simmons has been a member of the National Guard since shortly after his 18th birthday when he received a $5,500 bonus for signing a Phillies contract.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—(AP)—Curt Simmons, star pitcher for Philadelphia Phillies, may be able to hurl occasionally for the current National League leaders even after he goes on active duty with the Pennsylvania National Guard.

An army official told a reporter today it will be up to individual commanding officers to decide in such cases whether professional baseball players will be issued passes and be allowed to play occasionally with their teams while their units are on duty in the U.S.

Keen Bidding For TV Rights At World Series

NEW YORK, Aug. 3—(AP)—More than $500,000 has been bid for the television rights on the 1950 World Series, it was learned yesterday, and the ultimate figure may reach $600,000.

This is exclusive of radio rights, which under the contract expiring in 1956 go for $175,000 this year.

Thus the commercial by-product of the baseball classic will come close to or exceed $800,000. This compares well with total gate receipts for smaller series, such as $605,475 for the Giant-Yankee series of 1952, and $845,166 for the Cincinnati-New York series of 1959.

The pension fund for major league baseball players receives the radio rights on the series. The television payment goes to the central baseball fund in the Commissioner's office.

The reason for pushing the television price sky high is simple. There now are 5,000,000 television sets in the area connected by the coaxial cable, compared to only 1,700,000 at the same time last year.

That means a potential television audience of 20,000,000, figuring at
