Whitlock-Partridge Nuptials

The Zion Church Manse, City, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the afternoon of June 22 when Olla Partridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Partridge, was united in marriage to George Whitlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Whitlock by the Rev. G. Carlyle Webster.

The bride was charmingly dressed in a pink crepe suit with white accessories, and wore a corsage of pink and white carnations. Her attendant, Miss Margaret Whitlock, sister of the groom, was attractively dressed in a coral crepe dress with white accessories.

Lady Tweedsmuir's Mother Arrives in Canada

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) QUEBEC, June 25—Hon. Mrs. N. Grosvenor, mother of Her Excellency Lady Tweedsmuir, arrived in Canada today from England to visit her daughter and son-in-law, Canada's Governor-General.

Lady Tweedsmuir's mother has been in Canada visiting her son for some time. Mrs. Grosvenor will spend a few weeks with the vice-regal party at the Governor-General's quarters on the Citadel. On her arrival, the tall distinguished looking mother pier by her cello was met at the pier by her grandsons, Hon. John and Hon. Alastair Buchanan and Lieut. Rivers Smith, A.D.C., to the Governor-General. The party drove at once to the Citadel heights.

It was a busy day for the Governor-General. A slight indisposition kept him away from the christening ceremonies of two new Royal Canadian Mounted Police cutters brought late in the day he received a telegram from England. The newspapermen had just arrived from England, coming to Canada on the same boat as Her Excellency's mother. Lord Tweedsmuir spent considerable time chatting with them. He knew several members of the party personally and expressed his pleasure at meeting them in Canada.

Storm Delays Racing Yachts

(C. F. Cable) (By Guardian's Special Wire) HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 25—Forty-seven racing yachts which left Newport, R.I., Monday for the annual dash to Bermuda were bucking heavy weather and were still quite some distance from their goal according to reports tonight. The start was delayed until the starting point at the same time. The storm will prevent records from being shattered this year, yachting experts here said as they scanned weather reports. It seemed likely the first racer would be at least 12 hours behind the mark set in 1932.

C.W.L. Reports Growth in Girl Guide Movement

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) REGINA, June 25—Growth of the girl guide movement under the banner of the Catholic Women's League of Canada was reported today at the 16th annual convention here.

Mrs. J. Coffey of Montreal, National President, who is provincial representative of the C.W.L. Girl Guides for Quebec, remarked that the movement was sweeping Canada. The Girl Guide movement was the foundation of the Catholic Youth movement which was going to be the platform of Catholic Action all over Canada, she said.

A report from Mrs. D. A. Harquail, of Campbellton, N. B., of the east division showed 10 dioceses with a total of 13 active subdivisions and a membership of 7,200. The east division covers Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

of those provinces desiring to participate. Also an advisory body to be known as the national finance council consisting of the Dominion Minister of Finance and provincial treasurers would have been created. The minister's statement follows: "In view of the action taken by the Senate it has been impossible to proceed further with the proposed constitutional amendment. The passing of the constitutional amendment would have been followed by legislation providing for the setting up of local councils in the case of those provinces desiring to participate, and also for the establishment of an advisory body to be known as the national finance council or committee and to consist of the Dominion Minister of Finance and the provincial treasurers of all the provinces."

While unable to proceed with the original programme the desirability of regular and frequent meetings with the provinces for the mutual discussion of problems in the field of finance and taxation is apparent. "The meetings of the committee and the conditions in any investment market in which the Dominion or any province may have occasion to borrow."

Methods of securing greater co-operation and co-ordination in the financial policies of the Dominion and of the provinces; Methods of public accounting and presenting information concerning the public debt, revenues and expenditures, etc., with a view to securing greater clarity and uniformity; And methods of collecting and publishing statistical information."

KINDERGARTEN CLOSING HELD YESTERDAY

The Charlottetown kindergarten was indeed a "garden of flowers" yesterday at the closing exercises when the hall was decorated in pink and white with the children looking very charming in their dainty frocks.

The exercises took place in Hertz Hall under the direction of Miss Bernice Huestell, assisted by Miss Bessie Campbell. A demonstration of the year's work was open for the inspection of visitors. There was a very large attendance composed of relatives and friends of the pupils. Very complimentary remarks on the excellent showing made by the youthful students were passed by Mr. C. H. Black, one of the trustees of the kindergarten.

Program

The following was the program presented at the closing exercises: Little Miss Muffet—Miss Muffet, Flora Gillis; Spiders, Paul Cudmore, Sonny Scantlebury.

Bowness-Townshend Nuptials

A pretty June wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townshend, 70 Longworth Avenue, yesterday afternoon when their daughter, Elsie Mildred, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Myers Bowness, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bowness, Bedeque, by the Rev. G. Carlyle Webster.

REITERATES

(Continued from Page 1) Englishmen to propose reorientation of our foreign policy and the choice of other friends. They do not understand the nation is not free to choose at its pleasure its allies.

"You know Prime Minister Baldwin has said the frontier of Britain is on the Rhine. Your frontier is our frontier."

At one point in his speech, Duff Cooper said: "Two sailors who find themselves on the same raft after a shipwreck might not be friends—but they must be collaborators."

Referring to Britain and France Duff Cooper said: "Liberty has been our goal and peace our passport. But today everything in which we have been engaged is turned to ridicule. The individual, they tell us, no longer counts. Race is the only thing important."

"They preach in Europe at present that liberty is a fake ideal and that submission to another's will is the highest form of human activity. Such ideas contain nothing new. They are as old as tyranny and are completely foreign to the civilization of our world."

"They preach that war itself is desirable and that to fight one's kind is man's nature and that death on the battlefield should be our highest ambition."

"Such ideas are thoroughly loathsome. We fear that they are pregnant with terrible dangers and that if we permit them to slumber they will be a calamity for the world."

"That is why I affirm that not only our frontiers but our very ideals are in mortal danger. It is consequently on the two great democracies of the western world that now rests the terrible responsibility of saving not only our own persons but also the civilization we have created at the price of such great efforts."

German Officials Irritated

BERLIN, June 25—The mouth-piece of the German foreign office, the Deutsche Diplomatische Korrespondenz, disclosed irritation among German officials tonight over the speech of Alfred Duff Cooper, British Secretary for War, in Paris. Although Cooper was not named directly and the address was not published here, the Korrespondenz indicated it was considered "frivolous and astounding dilletantism."

Efforts in which Germany is participating to reach an understanding for peace, the foreign office publication declared, were not encouraged when "certain quarters certainly not unimportant, repeatedly awaken animosities against Germany and call the legitimate protection of German interests a danger to the world as a whole."

Charlesworth Makes Reply To L.O.A. Protest

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, June 25.—The rule of the Canadian Radio Commission is the attacks against churches, no matter to what religious communion they adhere are banned," Hector Charlesworth, Chairman of the Commission said here today.

He was commenting on the demand of the Grand Lodge of the Royal Orange Association of British America for an investigation into the six months suspension of Rev. Henri Lantini, pastor of the Baptist Grande Ligne Mission.

The Rev. Mr. Lantini was suspended, Mr. Charlesworth said, "in the interest of public order because his talks were offensive to Catholics."

The Commissioner's attention had been drawn to the matter by Justice L. Blanc of the New Brunswick Supreme Court, who had informed the chairman that Lantini's broadcasts over the Moncton radio station were offensive to members of the Catholic Church.

Bowness-Townshend Nuptials

A pretty June wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Townshend, 70 Longworth Avenue, yesterday afternoon when their daughter, Elsie Mildred, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Myers Bowness, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bowness, Bedeque, by the Rev. G. Carlyle Webster.

The bride wore a white lace dress and carried a bouquet of Talsman roses and maiden-hair fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Frances Dingwell, wore a salmon colored crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of roses. The groom was ably supported by his brother, Hammond Bowness.

Congratulations to the Bluebird patrol for winning the banner for having the highest number of points for attendance, inspection, games and sale of concert tickets during May and June. The points gained were as follows: Bluebirds 237.

While Heathers 207. Scarlet Tanagers 198. Orchids 149. Hollys 88. Kingfishers 87.

The Company was pleased to award special prizes to Sylvia Bloch and Dillys Owen for their splendid work in collecting advertisements for the programs at our concert. Both the banner and the special prizes were presented in King Square on Friday where the Company had gathered to attend Mr. Tufts' lecture.

CARE OF TENTS

Every Guide should know how to take care of her tent at camp. Tents need to be watched constantly and if well treated they will withstand every kind of weather.

Most of the tents at this year's Guide Camp will be brand new and all new campers (yes, and the old campers too) would do well to remember the following points in the proper care of tents:

- 1. Guy ropes are for holding a tent in position. They are not clothes lines.
2. Never put pins in the canvas or nails in the poles of a tent.
3. Fasten up the brailing and open the doors on fine days.
4. Lower the brailing on the windy side in wet weather.
5. Loosen all guy ropes the minute rain begins.
6. Sleep with either the tent door open or the brailing up.
7. See that all your tent pegs are kept well hammered in.
8. Never touch the tent roof during rain. It will leak where you touched it.
9. Don't wait until the first rainstorm to trench your tent.
10. Keep your tent well set, especially during wet weather when the canvas is likely to get stretched out of shape.
