Reserve Fleet Is Reviewed By King George

(By The Associated Press)
WEYMOUTH, England, Aug. 9.—The King reviewed an impressive array of Great Britain's reserve fleet today beneath overcast skies which marked the nation's gigantic display of sea, land and air power and forced a 24-hour postponement of the King's first back-out since the Great War.

The British Admiralty, gearing its mighty war machine to meet a possible autumn "emergency" in Europe lined up 133 ships of the reserve fleet to demonstrate to the King the nation's maritime preparedness.

When the review was over King George congratulated the 12,000 officers and men on their showing. "To all in the reserve fleet I send my hearty congratulations and good wishes," His Majesty said in a message to Vice Admiral Sir Max Horton, commander of the reserve fleet.

Standing alone in an open cockpit of a simulating royal barge, the King swept through miles-long lines of 131 warships, ranging from the 29,150-ton battleship Revenge to small, swift torpedo boats.

Near the King in the mahogany barge was Fleet Admiral Jean Darian, supreme commander of French naval forces, and Earl Stanhope, First Lord of the British Admiralty.

Through blinding mist and drizzling rain, the King made inspection visits to five representative ships of the fleet. After a two-week shakedown cruise the fleet will join the mighty home fleet for the August-September preparedness period upon which Britain has embarked.

The inspection made naval history. Five days ago not one of the ships now in Weymouth Bay was in commission. But when the King passed in the royal barge today everything aboard every battle unit was spick and span. A record in preparedness has been achieved. Speedy assemblage of the reserve fleet was rewarded by naval experts as a first class example of what could be done in emergency mobilization.

Officers told His Majesty of the immense keels displayed by all the reservists who had been kept up and the King commented on the youthful appearance of many he saw. These young men were bank clerks, clerical workers, others who belong to the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. They had fought in the Battle of Jutland.

Australian Journalist Visits Ch'town

An interested visitor to Charlottetown yesterday was Mr. Frank J. Sullivan, Australian newspaper man who has had a unique experience in journalism during the past four years. Mr. Sullivan is on the editorial staff of the Melbourne Argus, a leading paper in Australia. In 1936, after spending a few months in Europe, he went to the London Times under a plan for the interchange of journalists including the Empire Free Press Union. The scheme is for the purpose of giving press writers first-hand experience on leading newspapers in different parts of the Empire. After spending a few months with the London Times, Mr. Sullivan transferred to the Western Mail, Cardiff, Wales, and thence to Canada, where he served successively on the editorial staffs of the Winnipeg Free Press, the Vancouver Province, and the Ottawa Journal. He is now on his way to join the New York Times for a six months' period after which he will return to Australia.

Mr. Sullivan was the first journalist to take advantage of the Empire Press Union plan so far as inter-Dominion exchange is concerned. At present Mr. Paul Morgan, of the Edmonton Journal, is gathering similar experience on Australian newspapers.

Great possibilities of development for Canada are seen by Mr. Sullivan, who is leaving with a very favorable impression of the Dominion, which he has now visited from coast to coast. He has not only acquired a first-hand knowledge of Canadian journalism but also the Canadian point of view on questions of national defence, economics and other matters of general interest.

He thoroughly enjoyed his brief visit to Prince Edward Island, and regretted only that he could not see more of Canada's Garden Province.

Beaver Used In Stocking Trout Water

FREDERICTON, Aug. 9.—(CP)—Reports from Maine quote authorities to the effect that beaver are destroying fishing in Superior streams of the state, out in New Brunswick the paddle-tailed animals are being used in the work of re-stocking trout streams.

Arguing is attributed to Maine, officials are that water in beaver ponds is stagnant and kills trout, and that beaver dams prevent trout from running upstream.

This is denied by Col. H. H. Ritchie, New Brunswick's chief game warden. The water in beaver ponds is not stagnant, but is constantly renewed because there is always a certain amount of seepage through the dams, he says, adding that trout beaver dams have little difficulty in jumping the low-lying dams.

The dams act as reservoirs, collecting rain water and maintaining a more constant flow in streams, said Col. Ritchie. Without the dams small trout would be trapped in shallow pools during the dry season and become an easy prey for their enemies.

No complaint about beaver had been received by his department from fishermen, said the game warden. On the contrary, the New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association was giving whole-hearted co-operation to the department's program of re-stocking streams with beaver.

Deadwater Stream above Plaster Rock, Donald Fraser maintains under federal permit trout ponds which have been established on deadwaters of old beaver dams, he said. In recent years the Dominion department of fisheries had obtained from these ponds all its trout eggs for breeding.

"It shows no harm is done by the beaver," commented Col. Ritchie. "The game division of the department of lands and mines has been distributing beaver throughout the province for the last four or five years, moving them from places where they were becoming too numerous and flooding farmers' fields and woodlots, to points where no beaver had lived for half a century or more."

Already this year eight beaver have been released in Westmorland County streams. Previously they were distributed in John, Albert, York, Carleton and Gloucester counties to assist in re-stocking trout streams.

Cereal in Top Hat and Tails

by Mary Blake

I suppose evening dress is hardly the thing for a breakfast food. But I don't know any better way to describe cereal "creamed" with Irradiated Flavour Milk. There's a rich, creamy flavour to Carnation that just makes any cereal taste better.

The smooth richness you notice immediately when Carnation is used to cream cereals and coffee, is there, also, in cooked dishes—cream soups, cream sauces, puddings, frozen desserts. Carnation is just whole milk with part of the natural water taken out; sterilized so it keeps on the pantry shelf indefinitely; homogenized to give every drop equal creamy smoothness; irradiated for extra "sunshine" vitamin D.

The same processes which make Carnation Milk so good for cooking, make it a safer, more digestible milk for babies. It gives them an extra helping of "sunshine" vitamin D which all babies and children should have.

There are glorified recipes of all kinds in the beautifully illustrated Carnation Cook Book—15¢ (postpaid). Carnation Company Limited, Toronto.

Sweeping Peace Appeal To China By Former Leader

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A disaffected former Premier of China, Wang Ching-wei, broadcast a sweeping peace appeal to China in general and south China in particular tonight with the ostensible approval of the Japanese Army Command.

Speaking by radio from Japanese-occupied Canton, Wang said the Japanese were prepared to withdraw troops from China if Chinese leaders would accept terms and avow opposition to communism.

The appeal of the former Premier, who broke last winter with General Chiang Kai-shek and since has been in contact with Japanese leaders as the British consulate in Tientsin continued inquiries into the fate of two Canadians at Suchow, Kiangsu Province, who were reported by the Japanese arrested on espionage charges.

Domel, the Japanese News Agency, said the Canadians were arrested last Sunday. Chinese newspapers at Peking said the missionaries were Roman Catholic and four Chinese were arrested with them. Both Catholic and Protestant spokesmen here said they had no record of action against members of their staffs.

Edna Mackenzie, Treasurer of the United Church of Canada Mission in Tientsin said his organization has two missionaries in Suchow—Dr. H. S. Gilbert and Rev. George Andrew. Both went there from Kaijing recently after Anti-British feeling forced all missionaries to leave. He said latest reports indicated they were carrying on activities as usual.

Improvement In Maritime Crop Outlook

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(CP)—The condition of the spring wheat crop in Canada on July 31 was estimated in a crop report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The 89 per cent of the long-time average yield per acre. This represented a decline of 13 points from the conditional figure of 102 per cent reported on June 30. The July 31 condition however is seven points above last year's July 31.

Cooler weather and showers during the week-end brought relief and some benefit to late sown grain. Much of the crop, however, is too far advanced, and beyond stopping further deterioration the cooler weather and moisture will not repair the damage which has already occurred.

The best crop prospects on the Prairies are in north-central and northwestern Manitoba, South-eastern, central and west-central and north-western Saskatchewan and in the central and Peace River areas of Alberta.

All field crops in the Maritime Provinces were in better condition at the end of July than at the end of June this year. Warm July weather following a cold Spring was responsible for the improvement. Hay and clover meadows and pastures well recovering during July were reported below last year's July 31 condition.

BABOONS TROUBLESOME
(By The Canadian Press)
CAPE TOWN—Baboons have invaded the suburb of Simon's Town near here, to within 50 yards of the main road. Some climbed trees in the residential area, and their loud barking proved a great nuisance at night.

Fish Increase
Beaver re-established in a branch of Jardine near St. Quentin since a great forest fire of 1923 had built several dams. "Where a few years ago trout were unknown, the fish are getting trout weighing from a half to one pound, due entirely to the beaver's efforts," stated the chief game warden.

A census taken by provincial game wardens during the winter of 1937-38 revealed 612 colonies, comprising

3,180 beaver, in the province. Last year's census showed 1,031 colonies with 4,429 beaver.

"Beaver are the main conservationists in nature's scheme of things," said Col. Ritchie. "From the Atlantic to the Pacific, if we go back through the history of the country, we will find that all our best lands really started from the work of the beaver. The beaver is the keystone in the framework of the structure of all our natural resources of forest, game, fish and fur. Most of the deadwaters and storage reservoirs on our smaller streams and brooks are the result of old beaver dams."

"The forester and the lumberman should realize the advantage of such water storage in preventing quick run-offs and holding moisture in a deterrent of outbreaks of forest fires."

"Where we have beaver ponds we have natural breeding places for trout, retreats for moose and deer in which they may get rid of flies and ticks, feeding places for muskrat, other muskrat and other fur-bearing animals and layers of refuge for all kinds of waterfowl."

Will Confer With Nazi Leaders

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—(CP)—A High Italian Cabinet member, Premier Count Galeazzo Ciano, and Italian Foreign Minister, expected to come to Germany soon to confer with Nazi Leaders on the Danzig question, a source usually considered reliable revealed today.

Premier Mussolini, it is known, is in constant touch with Chancellor Hitler over Danzig and other international questions.

Italian official quarters have been advised the Fuehrer is working on a proposal for settlement of German-Polish issues, including the Danzig dispute. Before a final draft is made informed sources say Hitler will want his Italian colleague to have an opportunity to comment on it.
