

Murray River Fire Loss Estimated At $20,000

MONTAGUE — The Pentecostal Church, Murray River, was gutted by fire on Saturday morning with an estimated loss of $20,000.

The efforts of three fire brigades, Murray River, Murray Harbor, and Montague prevented what could have been one of the worst fires in Kings for a number of years.

The fire, which broke out about 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, is thought to have been caused by an overheated oil stove.

The alarm was sent out to the surrounding neighborhood for assistance as for a time it seemed it would be impossible to prevent it spreading to nearby buildings. These buildings included a large warehouse and the former Horton's General Store which includes one or more apartments.

It was said by on lookers that the arrival of the Montague Brigade with their tank of water turged the tables and with this extra assistance the hard working Murray River Fire Brigade of 12 men was able to confine the blaze to the church building.

The residence of the minister, Rev. Frederick Dy, was cleared of its contents as a precautionary measure, although it was not considered to be in the same danger as the Horton buildings which were in the direct path of the fire. The fire was being fanned by considerable wind at the time which added to the spreading hazard.

The burned building was insured for part of the loss and it is not known if the congregation will rebuild. No one was hurt or burned as a result of the fire.

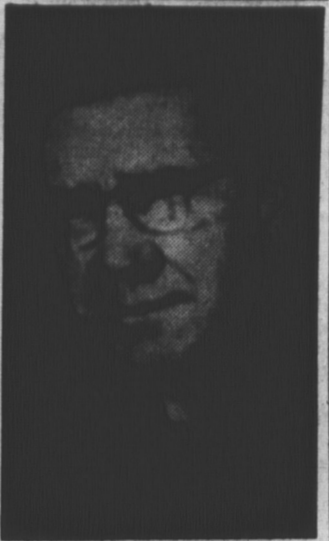

Trawler Area To Be Dredged

GEORGETOWN — Dominion government department of public works dredge Pownal 11 arrived in Georgetown from Souris on Friday and is berthed at the Queen's wharf.

Pownal 11 is under command of Capt. Bernard Batchelder of Georgetown and was towed from Souris by the tug Glenelivitt which returned there to tow scows to Georgetown.

It was said by an onlooker here on the east side of the railway wharf where the fishing trawlers dock and discharge their cargoes for Gulf Garden Foods Ltd. plant.

This area was partly dredged this past summer by a smaller dredge to facilitate berthing of trawlers and the larger Pownal 11 which has facilities for much deeper digging.

MR. MACDONALD
SDU President Leaves Today

Rev. G.A. Macdonald, president of St. Dunstan's University, leaves today for Vancouver, B.C., to attend the annual meeting of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

The six-day session of the AUCC gets underway today and will conclude on Saturday. Delegates from all Canadian Universities will be in attendance.

The AUCC was constituted last year from the former National Conference of Canadian Universities and Colleges and the Canadian Universities Foundation. It is interested in all matters pertaining to higher education in Canada.

Expected to headline the sessions is the presentation on Thursday of the report on the financing of higher education in Canada which will be made by the chairman and members of the Bladen Commission. A discussion of the Bladen Commission's recommendations will be held on Friday.

During their stay in Vancouver the delegates will also take part in the installation of the chancellor and president of the new Simon Fraser University.

Other topics expected to be discussed include staff recruitment, student aid and the constitution of the AUCC.

Minister Of Youth Promised By Progressive Conservatives

"The Progressive Conservative party has an impressive policy for the youth of our nation" Heath Macquarrie, Progressive Conservative candidate in Queens said Saturday night.

Mr. Macquarrie and his Queens teammate J. Angus MacLean were addressing a meeting in York.

Mr. Macquarrie, who was chairman of the Conservative party parliamentary caucus on youth affairs outlined plans for federal aid to universities, increased university per capita grants and aid to other schools.

"Our nation faces a monumental challenge in education, Mr. Macquarrie stated: "Every province in Canada and especially Prince Edward Island will in the immediate future be faced with colossal costs in providing educational facilities for the training of our young people for life in the highly technical world of today," the candidate said.

"We must not miss any advantage in providing our young people with the knowledge and technical skills they will require to find their place in industry and business both in this province and in other parts of the nation," he stated.

"A Conservative government in Ottawa will provide 7 per cent of the capital cost of university building programs, he said. "We are also pledged to raise the university per capita grant from two dollars to five dollars and we will also assist in the development of agricultural schools in all provinces, Mr. Macquarrie told his audience.

Rounding out the youth policy, Mr. Macquarrie said that a minister of youth is needed in the federal cabinet and would be appointed to the next Conservative cabinet.

Clinics Needed, Ellinwood Says

MONTAGUE — Eighty members of the Montague Allied Youth Post unanimously agreed that the address given by Keith Ellinwood, noted lecturer and youth worker, was a highlight of the year's program.

Mr. Ellinwood, who has spent the past 25 years of his life lecturing on the alcohol problem, stressed the need for clinics to deal with the alcoholic. He said there was no better place than P.E.I. to try such a program because statistics could be easily compiled and recorded.

"Prison is not the answer," he said, "even one trip to a prison leaves a lasting effect on the person. The finding of a drunk on the street, who is not necessarily an alcoholic and putting him in prison tends to build resentment whereas a clinic will rehabilitate him and he can once again contribute to society that he would otherwise burden."

Following his address a question period was held. Mr. Ellinwood stated, following this period, that he had never received more intelligent questions than he had from this group.

David Boswell, director of alcohol studies for the province, briefly addressed the group and thanked the group for their attention and Mr. Ellinwood for his address.

Following the meeting, lunch was served to the guests and sponsors in the teachers lounge of the elementary school.
