NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—The Spaniards are supplying more of the sinews of war, and are evidently going to try to "hang out."

—Joseph Leiter, the famous wheat speculator, is in financial difficulties. An attachment has been issued against his property for $793,925, for money advanced.

—According to the Chicago Tribune "there will be less Merrimacking in Spain over the sinking of that collier when the exact facts reach there." Fortunately for the Spaniards exact facts concerning the progress of the war never reach them.

—Of the eight heroes who manned the Merrimack when she was sunk in the entrance of Santiago harbor, three were Canadians, viz, Philips, of New Brunswick, and Charette and Daigneau, of Quebec. Thus, not by words only, Canada shows her friendship for the United States.

—The Mail and Empire of Toronto, comments upon Mr. Sifton's extensive purchase of Toronto Globes for distribution abroad, and says: "There is every reason to believe that the investment of the public money in Globes is having fine results. We are getting a batch of immigrants from Austria-Hungary, and they all bring out their luggage tied up in old Globes. But, apart altogether from that, Mr. Sifton's labours are producing a great influx. According to his report of last year, 2,456 persons took up homesteads in the West. Of these 1,099 were Canadians from the old provinces, or old settlers. There were thus 1,307 new-comers, with their families. It cost $268,000 to get these people in, or at the rate of $200 for each.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES.

Chatham Planet: "It is a good thing Parliament has prorogued, for who knows what that $48,000,000 might have grown to in a few weeks more.

Mail and Empire: A Government that is "leprous with dissimulation" cannot fail to spread disease in the body politic.

Island Farmer: Our schools should teach intelligently what labor is and what is its relation to all that constitutes the wealth and prosperity of the country; for the more manual labor is dignified the greater will be the progressiveness and general comfort of the community. We want more in our schools relative to such fables as the "Hare and the Tortoise," the "Ant and the Cricket." A thorough education along these lines would do much to correct the crude but growing notion about the injustice and inequality of this world as exemplified in the contrast of the poor and the rich. This is the kind of knowledge and the sort of education which would tend towards contentment and a higher ethical conception of truth's legitimate sovereignty.

METHODIST BRICK CHURCH.

Grand Sacred Concert For the Re-opening.

It was a happy idea to have all the churches of the city represented in a grand concert of sacred music, expressive of praise and thanksgiving, upon the re-opening of the Methodist Brick Church; and the idea has been happily carried out under the management of the church committee and the direction of Mr. Earle. Not on the programme, but felicitously appropriate was the opening chorus, sung by the choir and people "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." Speaking generally, the concert of last evening was characterized, as all Mr. Earle's concerts are, by punctual beginning, order, continuous progression and harmony of parts. The censorious critic will, of course, have found much in it to criticize. But we may say, with absolute truth, that it was, upon the whole highly creditable to Mr. Earle and the musical talent of Charlottetown. Twenty-five singers took part in the choruses, all of which were exceedingly well sung. The semi-choruses and solos, too, were excellent. Sammie's talented soprano, Miss Edna Sinclair, rendered "Eternal Rest" and "The Light from Heaven," and Miss Minnie Moore, of this city, fresh from Sackville Academy, produced from Haydn's Creation, the beautiful solo "With Verdure Clad." Both of these young ladies exhibited in their singing the results of careful musical study and vocal culture, added to great natural ability; but we think that each might, even yet, improve in the direction of clear enunciation. Miss Hettie Collings sang beautifully as the soloist in the semi-chorus "The King of Love my Shepherd Is," and in the quartette "Come unto me," and Miss Amy Earle gave "De Profundis," in her powerful and pure contralto, with distinct effect, adding perceptibly to the reputation that she has already gained. But here again we must emphasize the necessity of continued culture, and particularly in the direction of enunciation. In Miss Jean Bruce, we recognize a violinist of power as well as sweetness; and Dr. Maloney's cornet solo was a highly pleasing contribution to a cluster of musical gems. As to Mr. Earle's organ-playing, it led everything. If permitted to criticize at all, we might perhaps say that, in our opinion, the concert, lacked, somewhat the devotional and reverential spirit which pervades the sacred music of the masters, and is fittingly expressed in a place dedicated to the worship of Almighty God.

The victory rests with America's Greatest Medicine; Hood's Sarsaparilla, when it enters the battle against impure blood.

POSITION IN REPOSE.

In the London Illustrated News a discussion has been going on as to the position of one's arms when in bed and as to the most healthy mode of lying when at rest. Dr. Andrew Wilson says that one correspondent advocates crossing the arms over the chest as an easy and natural posture; but such a position implies lying on one's back and this is precisely the mode of repose which in the case of many persons is impossible, associated as it is with the discomforts of droning. The more one thinks of it, the greater appears the probability that the arms have yet to be adjusted to the ordinary conditions of human repose—that is, if questions of comfort and adaptation have to be considered. Another person raises the question of "the proper side to sleep on." Dr. Wilson remarks: "I am afraid this latter point is strictly relative to the individual but I fancy the majority of us incline to repose on the right side, possibly by reason of the general right-sided tendency which a human body illustrates in its ordinary working life. Our right-sidedness means the greater activity of the left brain hemisphere; in other words, we are left brained and right-handed. It may be well if there does exist a tendency toward repose on the left side in preference to the right; the left brain half may exercise its functions here as in other matters determining the superiority of the right hand. One point mooted by a correspondent has reference to the effect which lying on the right side may be supposed to exert on the liver and digestive system at large. I am not aware that in sleep we have to take into account the affairs and interests that apparatus, save perhaps when we indulge in late and heavy suppers and thereby produce disturbance of our hours of repose. But as the liver lies on the right side of the stomach, and as the intestine also proceeds from the stomach on the right, it is just possible such digestive action as may be carried on in sleep might be assisted by repose on that side.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS AGAIN.

Conductor Hogg tells The Story of His Rescue from Diabetes.

TORONTO, June 13.—(Special) Mr. H. Hogg, the well known and popular street railway conductor (No. 107) who has been cured of a very severe case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, has written as follows to Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited.

"My sufferings extended over a period of three years, and grew worse every day. I could get nothing to cure Diabetes, nor to purify my blood. Finally, the dizziness so overpowered me, and I grew so emaciated and weak, that I had to quit work.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I laughed at him, for I had tried so many remedies, only to be disappointed that I had lost hope. However I did try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Thank God, six boxes cured me entirely."
