

RHEUMATISM

As experience stands, the most promising way to treat an old settled rheumatism is: to set up the general health.

Whatever makes health, in other respects, is good for rheumatism.

We don't say it will cure it. Sometimes it does; sometimes it don't.

Your chance is better with Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil than with anything else now known.

By and by there will be a sure cure; it will make a big noise in the world when it comes.

We'll send you a little to try if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.

THE MAGIC OF SELF-CONFIDENCE.

A man's success in life is usually in proportion to his confidence in himself and the energy and persistence with which he pursues his aim. In this competing age, there is little hope for the man who does not thoroughly believe in himself.

FRESH BLOOD IS NEEDED.

THE TIMES DISCUSSES ORGANIZATION OF THE NEW CABINET.

The Times, in an editorial dealing with the organization of the new Cabinet, speaks strongly in favor of reconstruction. "Some changes are imperative," it says, "owing to the retirement of Mr. Goschen and the coming retirement of Earl Cadogan; but the public will not be satisfied with a mere transportation of two or three officials."

WAS HE PERMITTED TO GO.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier says he never sent his agent to Mr. Cook offering

Sir Louis Davies and the Secrecy of the Ballot.

This section of the Dominion Election Act was in the bill as it was introduced by the Government of which Sir Louis is a member; and the Patriot declares that it "practically destroys the secrecy of the ballot."

"In the Province of Prince Edward Island, if any person desires to vote, whose right to vote is objected to on the ground of want of qualification, and if a candidate or any agent of a candidate or (in the absence of such agent) any elector acting in the interest of a candidate, so objects in the presence of the elector, the deputy returning officer in addition to placing his initials on the back of the ballot paper, as provided by section 70, shall also place on the back thereof a number corresponding to that placed opposite the voter's name on the poll book.

Here are sub-sections 5 and 8 of section 96, safeguarding the secrecy of the ballot, with Sir Louis Davies' attempted amendment in italics:—

Sub section 5. No candidate, officer, clerk, agent or any other person shall communicate at any time to any person any information as to the number on the back of the ballot paper given to any voter at a polling station, except to a court or judge lawfully requiring him so to do or attempt to ascertain at the counting of votes the number on the back of any ballot paper; but this provision shall not apply to ballots marked in accordance with sections 67 and 74 of this Act."

Sub sec. 8. Everyone who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of an indictable offence, and liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, with or without hard labor, in default of payment of such penalty.

EMERGENCY RATIONS.

FAIL IN THE EMERGENCY.

In a letter to a friend in Ottawa Lieut. E. W. B. Morrison writes of the emergency food as follows:—"It was very sad about young Borden; he was a gallant officer, and would have been mentioned in despatches if he had lived. As you say, the event will soften the feeling against the Minister on the emergency ration scandal, but it was a disgraceful thing for all that. To give a soldier a useless emergency ration is like throwing a useless life-preserver to a sinking man. The ration is never opened, except in cases of great extremity, such as the 25th of July, when he made a forced march of 21 miles to Balmoral in bitter cold. We had started before daylight with hardly any breakfast, and got in at dusk in a pouring cold rain.

"The transport convoy got mired in a spruit some miles out, and the whole army had nothing to eat except its emergency ration. We had none, as we had found the Canadian lot was completely useless, and left the boxes unpacked at De Aar. An officer and five men in our division died from exposure that night, and I don't know how many more throughout the army. None of our battery died, but seven are in the hospital at Pretoria from the effects of that night. The whole ration, even to the box and label, was so cheap and nasty that we thought it had been given to the contingent by some firm as a cheap ad. We never imagined it was a Government affair until we saw the row in the papers."

to sell him a seat in the Senate for ten thousand dollars. Mr. Cook insists that he was offered the seat at the price mentioned, and declares that he is in a position to prove his statement.

At first sight, it looks a little difficult to reconcile the statements of the two gentlemen. But Sir Wilfrid's admirers can reconcile them as easily as falling off a log. It will be remembered that Sir Wilfrid also says that he never sent the Canadian Contingent to South Africa. The Premier may explain a little later on that he did not send the agent to Mr. Cook, he only "permitted him to go."—The Star.

General Laurier, well known to Canadians as Inspecting Field Officer of Militia here for several years, saved his seat in the recent election by a close vote. He had 2,679 votes against his opponent's 2,667. General Laurier sat in the Canadian House of Commons from 1887 to 1890 for Sherburne, N. S. He was second in command to General Middleton during the half breed rebellion of 1885 and previous to that he had seen service in the Crimea, in India during the mutiny, and he took part in the Transvaal expedition of 1881. In the Canadian Parliament General Laurier was a Liberal, without knowing it. At least his sentiments were often strongly Liberal, although his vote was usually Conservative. His wife was Miss Collins, of Halifax, the daughter of a rich merchant of that city. This is his third election to a seat in the English House of Commons.

A Canadian soldier whose letter is printed in the Montreal Gazette reports that the Government's defence of its precious emergency rations excited uncontrollable laughter in camp. The rations consisted of a dry, yellow, unpalatable protein powder and bore a notice to the effect that they were to be eaten with three or four biscuits, or on four or five slices of bread! If a beefsteak had been also recommended, the comedy would have been complete. The only virtue the Canadian powder had was that it was so nasty that it lasted longer than the others. As an emergency ration it could not be treated seriously; the boys regarded it as a huge joke. It is well that they were able to take the humorous point of view; but the Canadian elector will probably not be so easily satisfied.

Women are vastly more patient than men. It is scarcely believable that a woman, suffering past all telling, can attend to business, and bend and stoop with a back whose ache is agony. And beyond all this she smiles as she bends and stoops about her customer. A man might swallow down an oath or keep back a groan, but his face would be like a thundercloud, and his voice scarcely disguise his irritation.

For women who suffer from backache, bearing-down pains, or other pains due to womanly diseases, there is no other medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the womanly functions, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. A vegetable preparation, it cannot disagree with the weakest condition.

Illustration of a woman sitting in a chair, with text: "I wish to thank you for the good cures you have done me, Mac Brown, of Canton, Ills. I was troubled with female weakness, and with several different tumors. They did not help me; indeed, I got all the time. I had ulceration and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains, and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad discharge, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."
