

ONCE-SCENIC SPOT NOW NEGLECTED

MORE KHRUSHCHEV QUOTES

Calls Stalin Sex Maniac

PARIS (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party secretary, was quoted Monday by a French newspaper as labelling Joseph Stalin a sex maniac whose police recruited for him a harem of underage girls. The newspaper France Soir, reporting this in a dispatch from Vienna, said Khrushchev also confirmed a suspicion widely held in the West that Stalin killed his second wife. Khrushchev was quoted as suggesting Stalin's crimes were so heinous he should be tried posthumously. Stalin died three years ago. France Soir was the first newspaper to obtain the text of Khrushchev's speech to the 20th Soviet Communist party congress in February denouncing Stalin as the murderer of hundreds of faithful Communists. BERIA CONNECTED The newspaper did not quote directly from this latest report of Stalin's past, it said, however, there could be no doubt about the report's authenticity. Khrushchev, said France Soir, reported Stalin assigned secret police chief Lavrenty P. Beria to recruit a harem of teenage girls, some of whom disappeared later under mysterious circumstances. Khrushchev is reported to have explained that in his later years Stalin was subject to a sort of erotomania-sex madness and to have related some "particularly odious details" of sexual cruelty to the girls. This is not the first time sex charges have been made against Stalin. Alexander Orlov, a former commissar of Soviet secret police who has lived in exile in the United States 20 years, told a press conference last April that Stalin was a homosexual. Khrushchev now is pictured as revealing to Soviet leaders that Beria confessed Stalin's sex crimes before the police boss was executed late in 1953. There have been a number of reports on the fate of Stalin's second wife, Nadazhda Sergeevna Alliluyeva, daughter of an old Communist friend of Stalin's from his native Georgia. Stalin married three times. His first wife is said to have died after a long illness. Alliluyeva was 17 or 18 when Stalin married her shortly after the Bolshevik revolution, when he still was under 40. The date of Alliluyeva's death is recorded at Nov. 8, 1932. One report was that she died of poison while serving as her husband's food-taster. Khrushchev, the France Soir account said, reported Stalin shot Alliluyeva in "an excess of blind fury" in the quarrel over farm collectivization, and then strangled her. Later Stalin is said to have married Rosa Kaganovich, sister of Lazar M. Kaganovich, still the top industrial figure in the Soviet hierarchy.

Forsee Further Benefits From Salk Polio Vaccine

CHICAGO (AP)—Going full speed ahead with Salk polio shots might even protect some unvaccinated persons, including parents of young children, two polio experts said today. Vaccinated children may become far less able to pass natural polio infections to other family members. There would be fewer "silent carriers" who could spread dangerous virus during epidemics on to others. The chances that Salk vaccine shots could bring this extra dividend were described by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine, and Dr. David Bodian of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. They spoke at a polio symposium at the opening of the 105th annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

City Police Dept. Monthly Report

In his report of the City Police Department for the month of May, Chief of Police C. W. MacArthur recorded a total of ninety-two arrests, resulting in eighty-five convictions, five dismissals and two placed in Falconwood Hospital. Drunk and incapable accounted for sixty of the arrests and fifty-eight of the convictions; this was followed by ten for drunk and disorderly, with all being convicted. Nine were charged with vagrancy of which six were found guilty and the remaining three were dismissed. Disorderly conduct and theft of goods (money) accounted for two in each case. One arrest was made in each of the following: drunken driving, driving whilst impaired and failing to stop after an accident. Fourteen others appeared before the court by way of summons and convictions were obtained in each case. Eleven were for traffic violations, one for disorderly conduct, one for assault and one for failing to send child to school. Among the other duties performed by the department, twenty-nine were escorted from the Police Court to jail and fifteen from the jail to the court. Eighteen transients were given overnight accommodation. Of the fifteen bicycles reported stolen, eleven were recovered, and in the theft of two vehicles both were recovered. A total of thirty-three traffic accidents were reported and investigated and thirty-two burial permits issued. Of the thirteen dogs that were impounded, four were reclaimed, one destroyed and eight are still on hand. During the month a total of $270 was collected for meter and other traffic violations and the issuing of meter permits accounted for a further $125. Bicycle and dog licenses realized a total of $165. The month generally, said the Chief, was good throughout the City and there was an absence of any major crime.

CALLS FOR BIG DRIVE

Simultaneously, Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon-general of the U.S. public health service called for use of "every drop" of Salk vaccine as soon as possible, even during polio epidemics. The shots could hit at the strongest link in polio's chain of infection, the passage of natural infection from human to human, Drs. Salk and Bodian said. Vaccination produces antibodies standing guard in the blood to intercept polio virus before it strikes at nerves. But it might also reduce the length of time or degree to which a child harbors or reproduces virus which invades him later on. Dr. Salk said it appears some persons infected naturally by polio virus become "silent reservoirs." Although not sickened themselves, they can become sources of infection, passing virus on to others. Vaccination could conceivably make them so sensitive to unavoidable natural exposure that they quickly turn out great amounts of antibodies. Their own infection could be controlled sooner, reducing their carrier state. Vaccination does this in other diseases, he said.

ELLERSLIE AND BIDEFORD

The lobster supper, and flower show in aid of the Stewart Memorial Health Centre, held in the Ellerslie hall on Wednesday evening, June 6th, was well attended and a substantial sum was realized. It seems unusual to have deer popping out of the woods on this Island, but the men on the C.N.R. section at Ellerslie, report seeing a deer and a baby fawn, on their section nearly every day last week, the deer is quite tame and almost ignores their presence. Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. George Noye (nee Eunice Hutchinson), on the occasion of their wedding at the Bideford United Church on Wednesday, June 6th. Rev. Mr. F.W. Sawdon, officiated.

Senator Godbout Backs Into Quebec's Hot Political Fight

MONTREAL (CP)—Senator Adair Godbout, wartime Quebec premier whom Premier Duplessis has described as "a traitor to Quebec" because of his close cooperation with the federal government, is back in the rough-and-tumble of Quebec politics. The Freilighsburg, Que., apple grower, appointed to the Senate in 1949 following defeat at the hands of Mr. Duplessis' Union Nationale party, has so far appeared at eight Liberal rallies to answer criticisms of his regime. Absent from the Quebec political scene for almost eight years and little known by the province's younger voters, Mr. Godbout has said his co-operation with the federal government during the Second World War was essential to Canada's war effort. RIGHTS NOT "SOLD" He has described as a "mistepresentation" Mr. Duplessis' accusation that the wartime Quebec administration "sold" Quebec's tax rights to Ottawa. The argument is over federal-provincial taxation agreements signed by all provincial governments in 1942 for five years. Terms of the agreement provided that the province would suspend certain direct taxes for five years in return for federal subsidies. Mr. Godbout said recently: "The federal government needed all the resources of the country. . . My government only suspended our right to collect (taxes)." The wartime tax-deal was one of the main decisions of Mr. Godbout's 1939-1944 administration. Bitterly opposed by Mr. Duplessis' Union Nationale party, it wound up as the top issue of the 1944 provincial election in which Mr. Godbout's Liberals went down under a wave of resentment against federal wartime taxes and controls.

Educational Survey Proceeding In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—Are the best candidates for higher education now being selected? Are there large numbers of students unable to enter university who would profit more from higher education than some now being admitted? At least partial answers to these and many similar questions are hoped for from a two-year study by the Alberta education department and the University of Alberta into matriculation problems. Launched last fall, the study entered the working stage this spring when 6,500 Grade 12 students participated in two special tests. EXTENSIVE CHECK Education Minister A. O. Aalborg says it is "one of the most complete and extensive studies in Canada. Its primary purpose is to find answers to such questions as these: 1. Are the present methods used for selection of university candidates the best to meet the present needs? 2. Are high school standards changing? 3. Could selective factors other than the achievement on Grade 12 examinations be used to advantage? These would include aptitude, school record, principal's recommendations and so on. To this end, the 6,500 students were tested and after complete data is obtained on each candidate, at least two more years. SPECIAL TESTS The study resulted from an investigation by a committee set up by the education department. The matriculation study committee proposed that Grade 12 students or most of them—write two aptitude tests and two achievement tests. The aptitude tests developed in English language and mathematics. Former studies have shown that these school-learned skills have a direct relationship to a student's success or failure in higher learning. Mr. Aalborg said: "The achievement tests are published by the college entrance examination board and compare favorably with Alberta Grade 12 exams, Mr. Aalborg said. The chief difference is that they have been prepared on broad subject fields with no relationship to particular course outlines or textbooks. GROWING PROBLEM "It is hoped," Mr. Aalborg said, "that by 1958 or 1959 this study will throw light on many perplexing problems. This will not be too soon as the problems of our expanding economy are already upon us and in need of early solution." He said: "Not only must we think of institutions and the programs they might offer but more than ever we must try to improve our methods of selection and placement of students." Mr. Aalborg said it is likely the provision of facilities for higher education won't keep pace with rising flood of candidates and needs for trained personnel. "If this is true, we should make certain that the best possible university candidates are selected so that our already inadequate university facilities are not wasted."

OLD ISLAND LANDMARK

THE STAIRS HOUSE This old home is beautifully situated just after one crosses the Clyde River Bridge on the right side of the highway coming from Charlottetown on the Bowshaw road. It has a picturesque eye-brow gable a short distance from the road. The arched gable on the front and back makes it quite different in appearance from the other stone houses. There are conflicting stories as to who built this house and when; most likely being Purdie Scott in 1840. It is done inside with very well made pine finish and shutters to cover the windows. According to one story this inside finish was brought out from England along with the doors and sashes and taken up the river by schooner. An interesting feature is the plaster rosette finished in color in the parlor ceiling and there is also a good cornice around the room. There is a fine deep fireplace, in the kitchen which is now used as a woodbox. (P.E.I. Historical Society).
