Let's Talk It Over

It was good to hear the noise of the excavator scooping up the soil on the Brennan property in Summerside, shaping the nest, as it were, where the new high school is to be built.

Some of these construction machines does not exactly resemble a symphony concert, but on this occasion it really was music in the ears of High School teachers pursuing their duties in the building across the street, because it replaced a new era to be ushered in next year in Summerside. With ample space, and improved facilities for better instruction, education in Summerside seems to be on the threshold of a "Golden Age," with a proud record behind it of only two failures among over 50 pupils in the last four years of entrance examinations, the high school is entering its new phase of endeavour under auspicious circumstances.

Time out here to pay tribute to the memory of a very fine gentleman. The recent passing of the late Rev. W. A. Harper will leave his friends in Summerside with a sense of real loss. You had to know "Bill" to appreciate his capacity for radiating friendship to those around him. His gospel message from the pulpit as long as his precarious health permitted, but even when he was no longer able to carry on actively, the message of "Love your neighbor as yourself" was unmistakable in his eyes and voice as he talked with his flockmen. He bore his suffering with rare courage and patience. The most eloquent and convincing sermon Bill ever preached was the life he lived among his parishioners and other friends.

Mr. Elliott Gay and his mother, Mrs. Ernest Gay left by plane for their home in Virginia, U. S. A., after a ten days visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. Harrison MacFarlane, Fernwood. Mrs. Gay is an aunt of Mrs. MacFarlane.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. The financial report as read by the Treasurer Mrs. Clayton Green showed a balance of $34.24 on hand.

The lottery of the fruit cake donated by Mrs. Bennett Deighan and won by Miss Sadie Gorman was drawn on Aug. 28th with net proceeds amounting to $31.00.

The membership convener, Mrs. Leslie Trainor, reported eight membership fees received. Mrs. John Cash, magazine convener, reported forwarding 15 bundles of literature to foreign missions.

The meeting closed with "The Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin" after which gifts were presented to the girls entering The Order of the Sisters of St. Martha and an address was read.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hughes. completion of the cook book which will consist of recipes from the Housewives of Simons Park. Mrs. Quintan Gleeson gave detailed report of the Provincial Convention held in Charlottetown in August. The president announced that it was hoped a regional conference would be held in our parish in early autumn. Father J.A. Warren gave a talk on the importance of the spiritual work for members of the C.W.L. and announced that if possible, a mission would be held before Christmas. Reverend Director closed the meeting with the Act of Consecration. Refreshments were served by the associates.

A loyalty dinner launching the Trinity United Church building fund was held on Thursday evening at 8:00. Last June it was decided to launch a campaign having for its objective $125,000 and the present canvass management was contacted. He pointed out that the main purpose in the present financial drive will be to reach this objective and that no plans, as yet, have been formulated as to what to do when the goal is reached.

Mr. Bert Hunter, canvass committee chairman, gave detailed plans for the canvass. He felt that donations to the drive by the congregation should be activated by its knowledge of the physical needs of the church and the members own need to give.

Mr. Silas MacFarlane, general chairman, also gave details in connection with the canvass. He said "not many of you have had a chance to take part in the building of a place of worship and now this canvass gives you that opportunity, so that each family can say to God 'We have done our utmost'".

He read a list of the team captains showing what amounts have already been collected in the drive for funds. Rev. C. Daniel Matheson, the minister of the church, felt that the occasion was much more than a campaign to gather dollars and classed it as a spiritual campaign. He said "I feel that the rich fellowship so much in evidence here tonight will continue throughout the campaign."

Weekend Hurricane Alert For Southeastern States

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A special weekend hurricane alert was ordered by the weather bureau Friday for four southeastern states as the ninth tropical storm of the season, hurricane Ione, swung into a potentially dangerous position. Residents along the coasts of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida were told to keep themselves advised on the storm's movements so they won't be caught in exposed spots if Ione should strike the coast.

Cecil Gentry, storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau's hurricane centre, said a high pressure ridge shunting Ione toward the west-northwest appeared to be breaking down. If this happens, the hurricane will move more to the north where a strong easterly flow would take effect and again steer it toward the coast.

Meanwhile, another hurricane, Hilda, carried by hurricane force winds across the Yucatan peninsula and was expected to emerge during the night in the Gulf of Campeche where it was likely to regain much of the violence lost while crossing land.

The Gulf of Campeche is a part of the western Gulf of Mexico.

700 Chinese Flee Red Homeland In 140 Junks

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A fisherman Friday told how 700 Chinese fled a life of hardship in Communist China in a mass escape by 140 junks.

The story of one of the biggest mass defections from the Communist side since the cold war began was told by Ah Wong, 45, a fisherman from the Communist-held mainland's Changshan coastal district.

Along with hundreds of other fishermen and their families—a total of 700 persons—he arrived in Hong Kong earlier this week after dodging Communist coastal look-outs in a hazardous night trip.

Reasons for the flight, he said, were food shortages and low government-imposed fish prices that made it almost impossible for the fishermen to make a living.

Wong said the junks, under pretence of making a fishing expedition, set out to sea with full lights on from the Changshan coast. When they were well out to sea, they doused the lights and fled to this British crown colony, 50 miles eastward.

Each junk carried about five persons, including wives and children. British police launches rounded them up as soon as they reached Hong Kong and sent them to three nearby islands. So far, 46 junks have been granted Hong Kong fishing licences, and the others expect to get licences soon.

Wong said all fishermen were ordered by the Communist authorities to sell catches at official prices at designated depots. He said the prices for second and third-grade fish were the same there as Hong Kong, but first-grade fish brought a much bigger price in the colony.

The prices they received from the Reds hardly covered expenses for essentials such as rice and cooking oils, Wong complained. Rice has become rationed recently in China and other food has become unobtainable—even if one had the money to pay for it, he added.

New Classes

bringing in of new classes of workers under the Unemployment Insurance Act only touches the "fringe" of agricultural, livestock and horticultural workers. They would not predict whether this fringe would be extended to other classes in the near future.

POULTRY INDUSTRY

The same situation, officials say, holds good at chick hatcheries, which are often located in towns and cities as well as in the country, have continuous employment as have also those who slaughter and prepare poultry for the market.

A third group which will soon have unemployment insurance coverage are workers in horticulture who provide maintenance for parks, golf links, commercial areas such as fair grounds and private grounds. To a great extent these workers are urban and remain in the towns and cities where their principal work lies.

It is suggested here that some pressure of Labor to extend unemployment insurance coverage to the horse-raising industry. In Parliament, the Liberal member for Pontiac-Temisaminque, J. Hugh Proudfoot is past president of the Canadian Standard Breed Horse Society.

On the other side of the Commons chamber is Hon. Earl Rowe, Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe, a noted harness racing driver who has driven his own horses to victory repeatedly at both Canadian and American tracks. Both Mr. Proudfoot and Mr. Rowe are intensely interested in the harness-racing sport which in recent years has grown by leaps and bounds in Central Canada. Their arguments for giving insurance coverage to workers would be difficult to refute.

Many MP's from the Maritimes to British Columbia have constituents engaged in poultry-raising and have repeatedly urged the Government on the floor of the House to give all reasonable assistance to poultry-rasers. The claim is made that there is a greater measure of stability in employment in this class of agriculture than in most other forms of farming.

Officials here say that the
