FOR THE CHILDREN.

THERE'S NO SUCH WORD AS FAIL.

The proudest motto for the young! Write it in words of gold Upon the heart, and in the mind The stirring truths unfold;

The weary student, bending o'er The tomes of other days, And dwelling on their magic lore, For inspiration prays;

The sailor on the stormy sea May sigh for distant land, And, free and fearless though he be, Wish he were near the strand;

The wily statesman bends his knee Before Fame's glittering shrine, And would an humble suppliant be To genius so divine;

The child of God, though oft beset By foes without, within, These precious words will ne'er forget, Amid their dreadful din;

TWO GOOD RULES.

There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart: "Never to believe any bad about anybody unless you positively know it to be true; never to tell even that unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary and that God is listening while you tell it."

God never places us in any position in which we cannot grow. We may fancy that He does. We may fear we are so impeded by fretting, petty cares that we are gaining nothing; but when that we are not sending any branches upward we may be sending roots downward.

OPPORTUNITIES.

A lesson we all need to learn is to grasp opportunities the instant they appear. A person was walking along the sea-shore, gathering the treasures which were left on the sands. He was searching in a dreamy way, listlessly looking here and there. Suddenly the waves left at his feet a shell more beautiful than any he had found.

SOME TELEPHONING.

Central: "Hello." "Empress Dowager, Pekin." "Well." "Is that the Empress?" "Yes! who's there?" "I am Paul Kruger." "And who's Paul Kruger?" "You don't know me!" "No, sir." "Well, I was going to advise you to get ready to talk,—the British are after you."

A Strong Swimmer.

Eastport, Me., July 27.—William Smith, of Calais, Friday swam from this city to Campobello, a distance of more than two miles. The waters of the bay are very cold, and this feat has long been considered impossible by expert swimmers.

When the Earth Gets Hungry

Nothing is too big or too small to escape the maw of our hungry globe. Quick sands are the traps she spreads for smaller fry. Probably the worst and most dangerous in the world are the "Shotts" of the Sahara. There are, perhaps, the dregs of some prehistoric sea. Now they are covered over with a thick crust of salt and sand.

Eczema in Its Worst Form.

Back Covered With Blisters—Terrible Itching—No Sleep Possible—Dr. Chase's Ointment Simply Marvellous in Its Curative Powers. Mr. John Kelly, 79 Trinity street, Toronto, in an interview, made the following verbal statement: "I have been troubled with eczema in almost its worst form for the past three years. At times my back and shoulder blades were literally covered with patches like water blisters, and these, accompanied with terrible itching on my legs, put sleep out of the question."
