HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jenkins of Charlottetown have been recent visitors to Toronto. They were registered at the Park Plaza.

Miss Carol Marie Coles, whose marriage to Captain Ronald Clifford Dicks of the Church Army is to take place Saturday, September 14, at 11 a.m. in St. Paul's Church, has recently been entertained by many friends.

For the past four years Miss Coles has been employed in Halifax at the Atlantic Regional Laboratory of the National Research Council. Prior to leaving Halifax, she was guest of honor at the home of Mrs. David Fraser, Westmount Street, when the ladies of the staff of N.R.C. entertained and presented her with a Kenwood blanket.

Miss Coles was also the recipient of a suitable presentation from the staff of the laboratory at the time of her leaving.

On Sunday last, Mrs. W. Chester S. MacLure and Miss Lena MacLure entertained at dinner at the Queen Hotel in honor of Miss Coles and Captain Dicks.

A shower in honor of the bride-elect was given on Monday evening by Mrs. Lloyd N. Gibson, at her home on York Lane. The gifts were arranged on a prettily decorated wagon, topped by a pink umbrella.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Charles H. Swan and Mrs. Blair Swan, Mt. Edward Road, were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Coles, who received gifts from a large number of friends who were present. The guest of honor, who occupied an artistically decorated chair, was presented with her gifts by Mrs. Keith Brehaut, and was also assisted in the pleasant duty of opening her gifts by Mrs. Lloyd Gibson, Mrs. Charles H. Coles, mother of the bride-to-be, presided at the table, which was centred with a bowl of sweet peas, flanked either side by lighted tapers in silver candelabra.

The Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their first meeting of the season at Mrs. William Thompson's Laphorn Avenue. Mrs. James Hornby, the president, presided and conducted the programme which was on "The History of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority." Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Frankie MacMillan and Mrs. Ralph Manning.

Couple Given Volkswagen As Father's Wedding Gift

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dickieson, New Glasgow, P.E.I., presented the keys, registration and insurance papers to their new son-in-law at the reception held at Shining Waters Lodge, Cavendish following the marriage of their daughter Sheila Margaret, to Angus Bruce MacLaren, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce MacLaren, Charlottetown. The wedding took place at two o'clock in the New Glasgow Christian Church.

It was a complete surprise to the bride couple, as was evident in their faces when Sheila's father presented the keys to Gus and pointed to the new car, fully decorated for their honeymoon. The presentation was made as the bride and groom stepped from the Lodge amid showers of confetti. I think they were going away in another car arranged for previously. Friends and guests were so happy for this popular young couple as they drove away. It was a most generous gift and made a fine ending to a very pretty wedding on such a lovely day.

It was also voted to buy candles to present to each child baptized.

It was voted to buy a share in the new house being built in New Glasgow for the doctor. Also it was decided to have the play Chalk Gardens presented in the hall in October. Christmas cards were ordered to be sold to members and anyone wishing same. Two members expressed their thanks personally for cards received during illness.

Meeting then adjourned and closed by president Mrs. Gaudin reciting the prayers.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS SUMNER BROWN AND ATTENDANTS

Impressive Ceremony Held At Trinity United Church

Trinity United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday, Sept. 2nd, at 2:30 o'clock when Evelyn May, daughter of Mrs. Henry and the late Stewart Henry of Keppoch, and Douglas Sumner Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benn Brown of Bogunda Prairie, North Queensland, Australia, were united in marriage by the Rev. Howard Christie.

Mr. Royston F. Mugford was in charge of the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mr. Lloyd Martin, of Orwell sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The church altar was beautifully decorated with blending shades of gladioli and mums with a background of ferns. The guest pews were marked with bows of white satin, sweet peas and ferns.

Given in marriage by her brother, Edwin Stewart Henry of Keppoch, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white Pea de Soie with a drop shoulder-cowl neck design, a long slim fitting torso with self folds across hips, coming to a point at back with fullness falling down from a large tailored bow. From her regency crown of pearls fell seven veils of tulle of finger tip length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli.

The maid of honor, Miss Diane Hales of Vancouver, and the bridesmaids, Miss Eleanor Henry, sister of the bride, and Miss Joyce MacKie, cousin of the bride, were dressed after the fashion of the brides gown in waltz length crystal charm gowns with matching headpieces. They carried short cascade bouquets of shasta mums in yellow, white and bronze shades.

The best man was Mr. Hector Mossman, brother-in-law of the bride. Ushers were, Mr. Harold MacKie, uncle of the bride, and Mr. Frank Connor, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue, two-piece crepe dress with matching hat. Her corsage was of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose a light blue dress in a soft grey blue shade with matching feathered hat. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Boyce MacKie, wore a two-piece dress of navy and white corded silk and wore a navy hat. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Percy Boys of Toowoomba, Queensland, Australia, wore a two piece wool dress of rose beige, and a matching hat. Her corsage was of deep pink carnations.

The reception was held at Oakwood Lodge. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. B. B. Jones, and fittingly responded to by the groom. A toast to the groom's mother, Mrs. Benn Brown and grandmother Mrs. Percy Boys of Australia, was proposed by the Rev. Howard Christie.

Many telegrams from Australia and Provinces of Canada were read by the best man, a cousin of the bride, Miss Bonnie MacKie was in charge of the guest book.

The beautifully decorated bride's cake and groom's cake were joined together to form a double wedding ring under a floral arch of maiden hair fern and was surrounded with rose buds. The cutting of the cake was done in traditional manner.

The bride's going away costume was a silk sheath dress of a brown-fawn and orange pattern, a brown linen duster jacket, a lining matching the dress and matching hat with brown accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses.

Following a tour to Halifax and other points of interest in Nova Scotia they returned to Keppoch before leaving for Australia via Banff and Vancouver.

ELLEN'S DIARY

These Lovely Days Are Too Good To Be Inside

"And what about the moon now?" one of the family said teasingly to another this morning. "Well, we had close to a week of damp weather, didn't we?" the other countered. "Only a day or two out, I was" he smiled. "Besides it doesn't look too settled yet. It just may cloud us again."

But the sun, so welcome in the light of the harvest-time, shone through the early gray of the morning to beam goldenly over the countryside. It smiled through kitchen-windows at Alderlea, and wove fetching designs light and dark on the lawn. And the wind came fresh and free, down again from "up the creek" to the west. Our world which had been damp and more and less listless of late was alive again, clean-washed and new.

Breakfast past, the armers, bless them for their industry! betook themselves to their hearts' desire of the moment: the harvesting. Not as it happened, on these farms, but to work with a neighbor, an arrangement which is this era that sees a dearth of farm-labor in this community stands to benefit all concerned. Pooled hands, pooled machinery tends to lend good speed to the harvest. . . and the threshold, which brings . . . snugly to a close.

"So long, Ellen!" James said at parting. You might . . . be needed toward the fields which from here come to an horizon back beside the maple grove above root, grain-land and pasture. White cloud framed the maples, where now the Autumn shades are being indicated. Behind the fields sentinel spruces were silhouetted darkly against the low silver there. We saw the young of the cattle-kind graze against the far slope, and the far-pasturing horses, and noticed the ferns and bracken in a piece of stumpsland were losing the freshness of Summer.

"Yes" we said, "we'll let you know if the animals stray."

A hen in the yard laughed with a catch of breath as she pursued a white moth. A flicker like a decorator painting beneath the eave of a piggyery close by, stopped his tapping to smile. A gamin, a sparrow looked down from a power-wire and grinning "from lug to ear" commented, "Ho, ho, Missis is yo' or ain't yo' got yo' sef a job dis day! Yo' on call I've heard say."

These days the crow-calls echoing from the uplands have sober undertones which somehow go with the yellowed leaves that drift soundlessly but with finality down from the golden willow on the lawn. Goes too. . . is in harmony with, bees in the golden-rod, apples ripening on boughs tasseled corn, pumpkins reaching up for their gold.

"What a night!" one said a little while ago, stopping a moment in the yard to bid the day farewell. Stars. . . moon smiled from a cloudless sky. Down the slope a dreamy fog of September.
