Anatomy of the Horse,
with a Fine Engraving, displaying at a glance the exact locality of prominent diseases which afflict the horse. The reading matter will describe 28 of the most common cases.
The Great Canadian Weekly from now to the end of 1882 for ONE DOLLAR.

NEW FEATURES FOR 1882:
LEGAL QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.—Questions involving points of law, and of interest to the agricultural community, will be replied to and explained by a duly qualified practitioner, and the replies published from time to time in THE WEEKLY MAIL.
THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT of THE WEEKLY MAIL will be in charge of a thoroughly practical editor, who, by special attention to it, proposes to make that department alone worth more than the whole subscription price of the paper. He will be aided by the following authorities:
L. B. ARNOLD, Esq., President of the American Dairyman's Association, will contribute a series of articles on CHEESE-MAKING and DAIRYING generally, and will reply to questions from subscribers upon these subjects.
Hon. X. A. WILLARD, of Little Falls, N. Y., one of the best authorities in the world on Cheese-making and Creameries, will contribute a series of articles on these subjects.
One of the leading Veterinary Surgeons of Canada will write on VETERINARY matters regularly, and will also answer all questions sent by subscribers to THE MAIL.
THE WEEKLY MAIL is the best weekly newspaper published in Canada. It contains more Cable and other Telegraphic News than any other weekly in the Dominion. It contains during the year 300 columns of New and Interesting Stories. It contains over 200 columns of Agricultural Matter, by the best writers on Dairying, Cheese-making, Forestry, the care of Horses and Cattle, Fruit Raising, General Agriculture, &c. It is noted for its Reliable Market Reports, Home and Foreign. It is the cheapest and best Family Paper published. THE WEEKLY MAIL—One Dollar per Annum. THE DAILY MAIL—Seven Dollars per Annum. Fashion Notes.

White evening toilets of the richest description are destined to greater popularity than ever the coming winter season.
The popularity of shirring remains unchanged, and every part of a dress that can be gathered is drawn up into innumerable gaugings and fine puffs.
White stockings are totally out of fashion, and ladies who dislike high-coloured or bright striped hose wear those of pale silver grey, mastic, pale lilac, or black.
Short princess dresses are worn upon the street, but are so covered with innumerable shirrings, sashes, and other drapings as to quite disguise the original shape of this simple dress.
New shoes of silk velvet for evening wear are laced up the front with slender cords of gold or silver, and the toes are covered with embroidery worked in silver or gold threads.
The last extravagance in French hose is a new stocking of cream white lace in open work designs to be worn over another one of spun silk tinted a fresh color. The lace stockings cost $25 a pair.

It is the young girl growing into womanhood whom fashion most injures, says a writer in the Sanitary Record. By the heavy dragging draperies, the organs of the body are forced out of their natural positions, and they and the muscles are never properly developed. Circulation is impeded, healthy exercise rendered almost impossible, and injuries done and malformations produced which are felt throughout the whole of the woman's after life—and not during her own life only, but entailed upon her children after her.

Wise Words.
An effort for the happiness of others lifts us above ourselves.—Mrs. L. M. Child.
It is not only arrogant, but it is profligate, for a man to disregard the world's opinion of himself.—Cicero.
Do what thou canst unknown; and be not vain of what ought rather to be felt than seen.—William Penn.
Opinion is the main thing which does good or harm in the world. It is our false opinions of things which ruin us.—Antonius.
True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists of treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.—Chesterfield.
The greater part of men have no opinion, still fewer an opinion of their own, well reflected and founded upon reason.—Seume.
An ostentatious man will rather relate a blunder or an absurdity he has committed, than be debarred from talking of his own dear person.—Addison.

Let the ground of all religious actions be obedience; examine not why it is commanded, but observe it because it is commanded. True obedience neither procrastinates nor questions.—Quarles.
Politeness is to goodness what words are to thought. It tells not only on the manners, but on the mind and heart; it renders the feelings, the opinions, the words moderate and gentle.—Joubert.
A modern writer has well said: "There is a dignity in every attempt to provide for the future. It indicates self-denial, and imparts strength to the character. It produces a well-regulated mind. It fosters temperance. It is based on forethought. It makes prudence the dominating characteristic. It gives the mastery over self-indulgence. Above all, it secures comfort, drives away care, and dispels vexations and anxieties which otherwise might prey with severity upon us.—Ins. Age.

Mr. Goldwin Smith writes to the Times as follows on the subject of the Land League:—"Your correspondent in the United States reports, no doubt with perfect truth, that the native Americans are holding aloof from the Land League and dynamite movements. Depend upon it, the feeling of the native American towards the Old Country is now universally and entirely kind. Even at the time when it was less kind it seemed to be not so much ordinary enmity as wounded affection. You have nothing to fear from that quarter. As to dynamite, it is utterly repugnant to a high moral civilization. The Americans wish to see justice done to Ireland, but they must know that the British Parliament is trying to do it.

This is what a correspondent of Winnipeg says: "We want female immigration. It is to bad that a fellow should have to toil in the fields all day, then come home at night and do his washing cooking and mending, when there are so many excellent girls all over the Eastern Province who could do this work nicely.
The sinking of Lake Ontario threatens Toronto and other harbors. The cause is not well understood.

NEWS NOTES.
Sheep cheese is very popular in Austria, and an enterprising Austrian has started a sheep dairy near Chattanooga with 1,000 head.
The New York Sun thinks Secretary Blaine is something of a humorist, because he refers to the modest dimensions of the U. S. Navy as having been determined on so as not to alarm other nations.
Belgium promises to become the great industrial teacher of Europe. Many foreigners are now attending her schools. She has fifty technical schools, thirty-two industrial schools, and a higher commercial school—all receiving funds annually from the State.
It is intimated by a member of Parliament that at the approaching session of the Dominion Parliament a move will be made in the direction of Canadian independence, on the ground that it is desirable that we should elect our own Chief Magistrate or President. The proposition is that his salary shall not exceed $20,000 a year.
A Madrid despatch states that 300 Democrats, who lately rallied to the dynasty, dined together on Sunday. They drank toasts to the alliance of democracy with monarchy under the regis of Liberty, Moret and General Pendergast T. Gordon, the newly appointed Governor of Cuba, the latter being chairman, eulogized the King, and was loudly applauded.
The London Economist says that while the advantages of New Zealand are, in point of climate and soil, incontestably superior to those of Canada, yet, as the former owes to England a debt involving an annual payment of $18.50 per head, while Canada has to pay but $12.70 per head annually to England, the verdict of the London Stock Exchange in putting Canada four per cents ten per cent higher than New Zealand fours is sound. The Economist considers Canada's power of borrowing far from exhausted.
SAYS THE MONTREAL "WITNESS": "We have to thank the Government for undertaking the costs of the appeal of the test case by which the validity of the Scott Act is to be finally settled before the Privy Council. In acting thus the Government must have the approval of all the people, whether favorable or unfavorable to the Act, as it is greatly to the public interest that so important a matter should be finally settled; and it would have been, as we had occasion to point out, a little strange if a question not only involving an important law but seriously affecting the very constitution of the country had been decided on a case between a tavern-keeper and a policeman."

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or statements of our correspondents.
A Clear, Straightforward Statement.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I lately observed a communication in the Patriot accusing the Commissioner of Public Works and the Supervisor of Roads of partiality and carelessness respecting Brudenell wharf and three bridges in this end of the district, namely Montague Bridge, Victoria Cross Bridge, and Keith's Bridge. Until then I thought the public was satisfied with them, as I never heard any complaint against either. Neither did I expect they were without fault, any more than other men. But one thing, I believe they will compare favorably with their predecessors. From the little I know of Mr. Campbell I think he would be the last man to be partial, and as for Mr. Munn, I don't know, if he resigned to-morrow, where we could get a more suitable person. But it is impossible to please everybody and it seems "Mechanic" is not everbody. It seems his machinery has got rusty for want of employment—no loss to the public—and when he tried to operate it, it went wild and out of gear. At any rate he lost control over his tongue; otherwise he would not make the statement he has done. If "Mechanic" had taken a little time to find out the truth respecting the bridges, he might have a different story to tell, and the parties he accused he would leave alone when he knew they were doing the best they could. The writer has not the smallest interest in this matter, any more than putting it in its true light before the public about Montague Bridge. A few weeks ago I accidentally happened to be there the day of sale to cover the bridge with new plank. The Supervisor stated that the plank should be good and sound, square edged, well spiked with such spikes; but to be broken all through. He thought the railing might do until next spring. The covering must be on the bridge one month after the party taking it were notified. The sale was accepted by the Commissioner of Public Works. Bridge looked after until the covering was on.
About the bridge at McLean's at Victoria: a few weeks ago a plank broke in the covering. The Supervisor was notified and the bridge repaired immediately; and before and since the bridge is in as good order as it was since it was built.
About Keith's bridge: it is under contract to cover it with new plank a considerable time ago. If not covered it soon will be.
About the horse getting hurt: I made enquiry; nobody heard of such horse, nor none can find him.
About the wharf; I know nothing about it, but it like the bridges, it need not trouble anybody.
In the face of the above statement, and I defy any man to contradict it, what could these men do more than they have done! What could be in "Mechanic's" heart when he penned his communication! It could not be the fear of God, nor good will to his fellow men.
Yours, etc.,
