Political Notes.

The labor organizations of Hamilton have decided to run candidates for both the Legislature and the Commons.
Hon. David Mills has been renominated as the Liberal candidate in Bothwell, and will be opposed by Dr. Mitchell. The doctor says he will make it warm for his opponent. It is a consolation to know that Mr. Mills can take a defeat philosophically.
Attorney-General Taillon, who suffered defeat by a small majority in Montreal East in the recent elections, will be a candidate for the representation of Montreal, rendered vacant by the appointment of the late member, Mr. Richard, to a position in the public service.

In response to solicitations from men of all shades of political thought in Winnipeg it is probable that Sir Donald A. Smith will be an independent Conservative candidate for that constituency. Should Sir Donald consent it is thought that he may be elected by acclamation.
General Salamanca, a sort of Spanish Sir Richard Cartwright, declared in the Senate at Madrid on Friday that "the only way to bring about the fall of the Government was by resorting to military uprisings." This is evidently a plagiarism from Sir Richard's Seaforth oration. European nations, in the interests of peace, should place heavy import duties upon speeches by the gallant knight.

A correspondent informs the Montreal Gazette that in reading one of Daniel Webster's campaign speeches he came across the following: "What do we want with this vast, worthless area, this region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts, of shifting sands and whirlwinds of dust, of cactus and prairie dogs? To what use could we ever hope to put these great deserts, or those endless mountain ranges, immense and covered to their very base in eternal snow? What can we ever hope to do with the western coast of three thousand miles, rock-bound, cheerless, uninviting, and not a harbor on it. What use have we for this country?" The correspondent suggests that this bears a striking resemblance to some recent utterances by less famous statesmen; and it certainly does. Daniel Webster did not know the value of the resources of his country. The same trouble seems to have afflicted Mr. Blake. But Mr. Webster differed from Mr. Blake in that he was content to give the country a chance, and that he refrained from offering wily obstacles to its progress.

More Weather Predictions.

Mr. Walter H. Smith, the famous weather seer and president of the Austro-Meteological Association, makes the following predictions of the weather we are to have the coming winter:

"JANUARY—A severe Winter month, generally everywhere, with some intensely cold days. The mercury is likely to run down pretty low about the 4th and 5th; in the neighborhood of the 10th, and again during the week ending the 29th. The year may open fairly mild in the East, but very cold in the Northwest." FEBRUARY—A month of heavy snows and rains, its cold periods short and sharp, rather than long and steady. Some pretty general breaks-up and thaws probably product g floods in the South. The worst storm periods are likely during the weeks ending the 12th and 26th. I expect some very rough weather over Eastern Canada, the New England States, and along the Atlantic coast during this month.

MARCH—Some very heavy local precipitation during the month, causing floods, with a number of storm periods, especially along the Atlantic coast. Severe periods in the Southern States are likely, but the month will be generally unsteady there, with early warmth and spring-like days. In the South and South-West, winter will likely end about the 10th or 10th with a mild period. Cold weather at the equinox this year.

APRIL—The warm, day terms appear likely to be quite marked, especially from about the 24th to near the end. Vegetation is likely to be again rapidly advanced during April, '87, even as it was in April, '86. Districts will report a scarcity of rain. A cold term, with local frosts, seems probable around the 18th, and 20th. In the South and South-West the month will be warm and advanced."

A Liberal Education.

There are many people in Canada who think that a practical rather than a liberal education is what is wanted for young men who are to get their living in the industrial ranks of society. At the annual convocation of the Provincial University recently held at Toronto, President Wilson in his address combated the notion that too many young men are seeking a liberal education. The error, he said, arose from confounding the general training which gives breadth and keenness to the mental and moral faculties with merely professional education. He dwelt on the fact that in Scotland numbers of farmers' sons acquire at college intellectual power and technical knowledge which they afterwards apply to good effect in all their work as farmers.

Free Trade.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefitted the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Beecher's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size.
The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.
A SUGGESTION FROM W. P. COL-LIER, M.D., N. Y.

Count Beust.

The late Count Beust, who played an important role in European diplomacy and haute politique before the Austro-German alliance and Bismarck's consequent supremacy caused his eclipse, was sitting with his eldest son at his villa of Altenburg, where he had lately lived in retirement, when death overtook him. The closing years of his life were embittered by the reflection that he was no more of any account in his country or in the world. To the last, nevertheless, he enjoyed the intercourse of some personal friends whose admiration for him in the obscurity of his later years had not diminished. He was one of the most delightful conversationalists, most polished in his manners, chivalrous in his demeanor to the fair sex, something of a dandy, and fond of fashionable society. In his own house he was modest and hospitable, and his warmth of welcome set every guest and visitor at ease. It was mainly through this fact that the reconciliation of Austria and Hungary, consummated in 1867 by the crowning of Francis James as king of Hungary, was effected. In the previous year he had represented the old German confederation at the London conference on the Danish Duchies. He was the avowed enemy of Bismarck, whom, nevertheless, he admired for his strength of character and sway over men's minds, though he ascribed his great success, in part, at least, to a happy combination of circumstances.
Though he recognized its advantages, the union of the central empires was gall and wormwood to him, because it made the wily chancellor master at Vienna as well as Berlin. He called Baron Haymerle Bismarck's notary, lingering torture are no longer permitted. The vigilance of the local societies has, of course, to be depended on for both the work of detection and the arrest of cruel practices. Mere sentimentality is deprecated as well in the tracts circulated as in the operations of societies.
It is also borne in mind that much of the suffering to which animals are subjected is due to ignorance, tradition and thoughtless habit, and, therefore, mildness is recommended in dealing with offenders who err because they know no better. By that plan friends have been repelled. Great stress is laid on the duty of educating the public, and especially the young, in such a way as to develop their humane sympathies.
In that direction a constant advance, including some marked triumphs, is recorded. The press has done a great deal in assisting the work by the spread of knowledge and the inculcation of right principles and conduct. A humane society may be organized and affiliated with the association by communicating with the secretary, Mr.
Thos. E. Hill, Chicago. Two or more protective societies (as one for children, one for animals, one for birds) could also, no doubt, be amalgamated and obtain authorization for the resulting united society. The association is doing a noble work, and merits encouragement and support from all right-thinking people.

Davit in Danger.

A Lincoln, Neb., despatch says: Patrick Egan, ex-President of the Irish National League, has been seen regarding the rumored conspiracy to assassinate Michael Davitt. He said he believed there were good grounds for the rumor, and that if evidence were wanted on the subject it would be found by reading between the lines of a despatch from New York which appeared in the papers of Tuesday morning vilifying Mr. Davitt's character. That despatch, Mr. Egan said, was made up of a tissue of untruths. For example, it states that Davitt was badly received throughout the west, including Nebraska. Everyone here knows, said Mr.
Egan, that no public man ever received a more cordial welcome or left behind a better impression in Nebraska than Michael Davitt. Egan says that while O'Donovan Rossa may not be personally mixed up in the plot, the conspirators are not very far removed from him. The differences between Finerty and Davitt Egan regards as simply an honest diver-gency of opinion between good men as to the policy and methods, but the attack of O'Donovan Rossa must be characterized as mean and contemptible. He says that Rossa's only exploits for a considerable time have been to force off empty threats and fire off blank cartridges at England and to pelt wind at sensible, level-headed Irish Nationalists.

The Pacific Timber Trade.

The timber trade of Canada is growing apace; 102,000 bundles of shingles are being shipped from Paget Sound to Port Moody for shipment across the Canadian Pacific Railway to the east. This is only the beginning of a future great trade with the Pacific and the Atlantic coasts. Cedar grows there in abundance, and the shingles cut from the lumber are the most substantial in the world, tests having proved that placed on the tops of buildings, they can withstand the rain and tempests beating down on them for forty years. The shingles turned out on the Pacific coast are highly spoken of, and the first shipment of them over the Canadian Pacific Railway is the beginning of an immense trade. The forests of cedar in the Atlantic States are well nigh exhausted, but in British Columbia there are such immense supplies that a century will pass away before all the trees will have fallen under the unerring aim of the axeman.

Best goods are put in smallest parcels.— The old proverb is certainly true in the case of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which are little, sugar-wrapped parcels, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, containing as much cathartic power as is done up in the biggest, most repulsive-looking pill. Unlike the big pills, however, they are mild and pleasant in their operation—do not produce griping paine, nor render the bowels offensive when taking.
