MR. AND MRS. A. B. BERNARD

Pretty Wedding Held At The Saint Stephen Church

St. Stephen Anglican Church, Burlington, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday, July 7, at 2 o'clock, when Kathleen Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Profitt, Burlington, became the bride of Allison Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bernard, Long River. Rev. Eric Ingraham performed the double ring ceremony.

The church was attractively decorated with summer flowers and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows. Mrs. Gerald Miller was in charge of the wedding music and accompanied Miss Astrid Miller as she sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white nylon net over taffeta, floor length, with white lace bolero, long tapering sleeves and tiny Peter Pan collar with sequin and pearl trim. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a flower trimmed tiara, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Doris Bernard, as maid of honor, wore an aqua embroidered eyelet taffeta with net underskirt and matching short sleeved bolero. Her headdress was a matching headband of net over summer flowers and matching mitts. She carried a bouquet of light pink carnations.

Mrs. Clair Profitt, as bridesmaid, wore a ballerina length dress of pale blue nylon net over taffeta, with matching bolero. her headdress was a matching head band and veil. She carried a bouquet of dark pink carnations.

Mr. Gerald Johnstone was groomsman and Messrs. Clair Profitt and Andrew Campbell ushered the guests to their pews.

Mrs. Profitt chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua printed silk dress with white and pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother was attired in an orange ice linen dress with lace inserts and white accessories. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for thirty guests was held at Birch Hill Lodge, where the bride's table, with its attractive arrangement of summer flowers and lighted tapers was centred with a two tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

For a honeymoon trip to Saint John and Fredericton, N.B., the bride changed to a blue nylon flowered dress with white accessories and a corsage of red carnations. Mr. and Mrs.Bernard will reside in Long River.—Heckbert Studio

ELLEN'S DIARY

Parents Taught Children Work Is Honorable And Fun

There are no lush haylands in our neighborhood now. Nor those fetchingly beflowered with the daisies that not so long ago in winsome comapnies basked in the sunshine or hung dewy heads coyly in the light of the moon. Ours are shorn bare. On the opposite slope above the treetops along the stream that runs away from the open spillways tonight most of Mr. C's lies in rich swath.

Now we must gather up the memories of this week which has brought us up to haying's close at Alderlea.

We remember, first of all, how kindly the week has been. Should skies fail, should never another haying with all its sweet and sad delights come for us, this one we have had.

We remember too the perfect companionship which prevaled throughout—the smiles and chuckles, the good-natured teasing among the sun-tanned men and lads of the crew. If we do not have a Persian carpet to our name, or eat off rare plate, or drink from choice crystal we have this nicety in much finer compensation for which we are ever grateful.

"We have always taught our children that work is not something to be looked down upon, or escaped from, but that it's honorable and fun" one of this week's visitors to Alderlea from abroad said.

Fun then, the work appeared to be for our farmers this week as hay was mowed and made and raked, windrows moved to wagons, loads fashioned and drawn to barns and in fragrant largess of fields—and a first harvest-lifted to the no longer almost-empty mows and lofts about.

We remember the sweat-stains on young bodies that supposedly weary nevertheless like so many puppies or kit-cats could play on the lawn laughingly in the noon-hour and the healthy appetites which at meals and between them ate food with much relish. Never a cry from them...not one, except the odd wail for Alex when work called the rest away and he in his play-pen was bereft of any young company about.

We think of the skies so far, the dawns when every burden and care had been lost to an earned sleep, and the day was again inlaid rosily with promise; the sunsets—and shadows after love's toils of the day, and the starry or moonlit dim which brought its Balm-in-Gilead of peace.

At the moment on Island farms we enjoy the peace of the weekend. It is not something to be regarded lightly. Statesment tonight—they who guard and guide the destinies of great nations do not have it. They confer anxiously and lay plans for summit conferences in this period, by some held to be "the darkest time in world history since Sue" But the Island countryside is serene as it comes now to its rest. May we, grateful, gather strength from its quite so to be strong for whatever may disturb our paths in the pilgrimage ahead.

"Give me tranquillity of mind
A heart content with all at peace,
Lead me O Lord, down quiet ways
My strength sustain, my faith increase.
Give me a calm and steadfast will
To meet whatever is to be,
Facing the future unafraid,
With courage and serenity."

Until Monday —— — Diary — Good-night.

Old Fashioned Shortcake An American Tradition

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

One sunny afternoon, the Chef and I were walking up Broadway to Times Square.

"Look, Madame." exclaimed the Chef, "there's a crowd of people standing at the restaurant window. The display must be extraordinary."

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

We investigated and saw an old-fashioned strawberry shortcake in the making. A pretty young blonde was doing the honors.

"No cold clammy biscuits without any butter, no skimpy spoonfuls of strawberries," exulted the Chef. "The young lady is using a ladle."

"This will be very different, Chef," I said, "from the usual sorry subterfuge of spongecake put together with just a few strawberries.

"Old-fashioned strawberry biscuit shortcake is an American tradition. And judging by the line-up of people waiting to be served, modern New Yorkers accept it for what it is—a real gourmet food."

Olf - fashioned Strawberry Shortcake: Wash, hull and slice 1 qt. strawberries. Add 1 c. sugar Cover. Keep at room temperature while the shortcake is baked.

Biscuit Shortcake: Into a mixing bowl, sift 2 c. flour, 4 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. sugar and ½ tsp. salt. Add 1-3 c. equal parts butter and shortening. Chop in with a pastry blender until the mixture looks flaky. Stir in 3-4 c. milk.

Turn onto a floured surface. Pat to ½ in. thickness. Cut into rounds with a good-sized biscuit cutter.

Bake about 20 min. in hot oven, 400 degrees F., until brown and crisp.

To assemble: split the biscuits; spread with softened butter. Arrange in deep dessert dishes. Put the shortcakes together with plenty of sugared strawberries and juice. Place the top biscuit half upside down, so the berries will not slide off.

The shortcakes should be warm when served.

Pass heavy or whipped cream.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Chilled grapefruit sections, savory ham slices, baked halved potatoes, leaf spinach with baby carrots, old-fashioned strawberry, shortcakes, hot or iced coffee or tea, milk.

Recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6.

Savory Ham Slices: In a large skillet, saute 1 chopped sliced onion in 1 tbsp. butter. Add ½ tsp. prepared mustard, ¼ tsp. ground allspice and 1½ c. milk. Bring to boiling point.

Fit in 6 rounds of tenderized smoked ham, cut ¼ in. thick and dusted with flour.

Cover. Bake 30 min. in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F.

Uncover to brown and evaporate almost all the milk. Garnish with minced parsley.

Trick of the Chef:

Season spinach and carrots with a soupcon nutmeg.

MONTAGUE W. M. S.

The July meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church, Montague, was held in MacKenzie Hall on July 15th., with 13 members answering roll call. Mrs. Ethan Stewart assisted the president by conducting the business session and the worship service was led by Mrs. Lorne Wigginton, with Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Arnold Wightman also taking part

The programme from the Missionary Monthly was followed - the theme being "The Bible and Prayer," with meditations on the importance of Bible study and prayer in the upbuilding of the Christian character.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and correspondence was read, including a letter from John P. Stewart, principal of the Atlantic Christian Training Centre regarding the course to be given there this winter. It was decided that the information contained in this letter should be passed out to any person who be interested.

Plans were made for the missionary rally to be held in this church on July 18th., and a group of members were appointed to give a report of the programme at the next meeting.

A report of the sick and shut-ins calls was made, and it was decided that gifts of clothing which have been received should be packed in a missionary box this fall, which is to be sent where it was most needed.

Miss Ethel McQuarrie gave a most interesting summary of a chapter in the study book, prior to complete the review of the entire book at the August meeting. Mrs. Arthur Brown is to be in charge of this worship service and the meeting is to be held in Mackenzie hall.

Every Cleaners NOTEBOOK

HERE'S ME ON TV

"I guess there's a little bit of me in all of us.

Me? I often wish there'd be me play the man's part in one of those dramatized "important announcements" that pop up on TV every three minutes. For once, there'd be some realism in the dialogue. But, let me show you what I mean. Suppose it was a commercial for our own laundry:

SCENE: Man arriving home from work.

HE: What's for dinner?

SHE: Darling, you'll never guess what wonderful news I've got for you tonight.

HE: (GLANCING ABOUT) You mean your mother finally moved out?

SHE: Shh! She'll hear you. No, darling, it's your shirts. They came back from Sterns Limited today, and you'll never believe what beautiful laundering Sterns Limited will do until you see it for yourself. And having shirts laundered by Sterns' Limited is so inexpensive too! Why, having a shirt done at Sterns Limited probably costs no more than——

HE: (INTERRUPTING) What's for dinner?

SHE: Darling, let me finish telling you about the wonderful laundry service provided by Sterns Limited!

HE: Mulligan stew?

SHE: But I haven't mentioned that Sterns Limited has such courteous driver! (COY) And so HANDSOME, too! If you knew what he did while he was here, you'd be jealous!

HE: Why, did he eat up all the stew?

SHE: All right, then, no Wisenheimer! From now on I just won't send your shirts to Sterns Limited anymore!

HE: What's for dinner?

(END OF COMMERCIAL)

But aside from the realism in the dialogue, I hope you noticed the admirable restraint I showed when I mentioned the name of the laundry seven times! That in itself ought to make TV history!
