A WORTHWHILE TRIP

Sir.—The United Church Lay Association had its annual meeting at Cornwall on July 10th. The writer, arriving there by train and taxi, found the 10.30 session underway. The sound of familiar hymns and the sight of familiar faces carried a sense of "the breeze of the spirit". Twenty-seven people met together with no selfish or political axe to grind, but each and all anxious to contribute something that might work towards greater efficiency.

We had our respected octogenarian friend, Thomas Moyse, presiding at the morning session and conducting the devotional part. At noon we found Rev. M. K. Charman, the Cornwall pastor, a wonderful host, as he divided us up, two and two among the homes of his parishioners. There we were treated to plenty roast beef and luscious strawberries with other "fixings".

It would make this letter too long to mention many names of those taking part in the p.m. session. But one young business man excelled himself to such a degree that one of the clerics remarked that the church suffered a loss by his going into business.

The matter of "witnessing" being under consideration, with reference to our Lord's command to witness for him to the ends of the earth—Rev. W. T. Mercer, chairman of P. E. I. Island Presbytery, spoke of a layman's duty to witness the benefit of a life of faith as producing love, joy, peace of mind, even under strain and difficulties.

At the close of this session a luscious supper was served in the nearby hall. At evening session, when the laymen concluded their business in the way of electing officers, appointing committees, and presenting notes of thanks, we listened with rapt attention to two very optimistic addresses by Rev. John Sheehan and Dr. A. D. MacKenzie.

One thing noticed was the rapid development in those who expressed themselves in regard to how faith works in private life, especially in the practice of prayer.

This movement had its birth in Sackville, some 16 years ago, then continued in this Province. It is not being a church organization, but rather a living organism or "cell" in the body of Christ. It not only allows for growth, but carries energy and life through the whole body. Those who give the deepest thought to world affairs, say that our only hope is in the multiplication of just such groups.

I am, Sir, etc.

91st Anniversary Of Zion Presbyterian Church

The ninety-first anniversary of the congregation of Zion Presbyterian Church of this city will be observed on Sunday, July 15th when appropriate services will be conducted.

The history of the congregation dates back to 1860, when by action of the Presbytery of Prince Edward Island, the congregation was officially organized by uniting two congregations together, namely, the Free Church on Prince Street dating from 1844, and the Queen's Square Church on Richmond Street which was formed in 1866. Before 1860 each of these congregations had one settled minister. During the intervening years there have been ten inducted ministers which means an average of nine years for each minister. These names are Rev. Alexander Falconer, Rev. John M. MacLeod, Rev. David Sutherland, Rev. D. B. MacLeod, Rev. W. H. Sedgewick, Rev. George Ross, D. D., Rev. R. G. Strathie, Rev. George Taylor, Rev. M. Scott Fulton, D.D., and Rev. G. Carlyle Webster.

The congregation has been fortunate in procuring as the anniversary preacher for the day, the Rev. Murdoch Maxwell MacOdrum, M.A., Ph.D., President of Carleton College, Ottawa, Ontario. Dr. MacOdrum is a son of the Manse, having been born at Marlon Bridge, N.S., when his father was minister there. Dr. MacOdrum's father, the Right Reverend Donald MacOdrum was Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the time of his death in 1938.

Dr. MacOdrum is a graduate of the Presbyterian College, Montreal. In 1936 he was called to the Presbyterian Church, Sydney, Nova Scotia, where he served for four years. For a season he was chaplain of the Cape Breton Highlanders. Later he was invited to join the Dominion Headquarters staff of the National War Finance Committee. In December, 1944, he was appointed Executive Assistant to Dr. Henry Marshall Tory who was then engaged in founding Carleton College, and upon his death in 1947, was named its president.

The minister, the Rev. G. Carlyle Webster, will conduct the services and the music for the day will be under the direction of Mr. Frank Johnson, A.T.C.L., organist and choir director. Suitable anthems and special music will be rendered at both services. The choir will be assisted by Mr. N. T. Allen, bass soloist at St. Giles Church, Ottawa, who with Mrs. Allen, is vacationing on the Island.

Charlottetown Scout Off To Big Jamboree

This morning King's Scout John Phillips begins his travels which will take him to the World Scout Jamboree in Austria. He will have three days in camp before sailing from Quebec July 18 in the S.S. Ascania for Liverpool. There will be a week in Britain both going and coming, the S.S. Scythia sailing on the return voyage from Southampton August 23.

John intends to keep a diary of his experiences and is sending on a copy which will appear in this paper. The first installment appears today.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips, 3 Hurd Street, Charlottetown, John is a student at Prince of Wales College and particularly interested in electronics.

JAMBOREE DIARY

As this is the beginning of my Jamboree Diary, I might say that I have been active in Scouting since the spring of 1944. I began as a member of the 8th Charlottetown (Trinity United Church) Scout troop with Mr. Roland Taylor as scoutmaster and Mr. Gordon Hutchinson as assistant scoutmaster. I became a patrol leader in my second year with the troop and when for some reason or other it failed to function in 1946, I continued on as a patrol leader of the 9th Charlottetown.

The 9th Charlottetown was a new troop formed by Mr. W. W. "Bill" Reid about the time that the 8th Charlottetown folded. In 1949 I attended the First Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree at Connaught ranges, a short distance from the city of Ottawa.

The P.E.I. contingent was composed of a troop of 32 boys and our three leaders, Mr. F. A. Driscoll was the contingent leader and Mr. Douglas Hardy and Mr. Gordon Kerr were assistants. Ten of the 32 boys in the P.E.I. contingent were members of the 9th Charlottetown troop. This year I have the honor of representing P.E.I. at the seventh World Jamboree to be held at Badach, Austria.

About January I learned that one scout from P.E.I. was to be sent to the World Jamboree. After hearing this news, I began working hard to obtain the qualifications necessary to become a candidate to represent P.E.I. at the Jamboree. To become a candidate one had to be a King's Scout and hold the Bushman's Thong. The Bushman's Thong is the top insignia of Scout woodcraft.

I was a King's Scout at the time but I did not have my Bushman's Thong so I began working toward it. Meanwhile three other boys, two of whom were fellow members of the 9th Charlottetown, were working towards the same goal and competition was getting very hot. We all obtained our Bushman's Thong, two of us obtained our Gold Cord and we all worked hard on our badge work. Our applications were sent to provincial headquarters and then we waited for our interview with the selection committee. This committee was made up of Mr. R. C. Parent, who acted as the chairman, Mr. A. F. Cerey of Borden and Mr. Stan MacInnis of Charlottetown. On Thursday, March 16, the committee interviewed us and told us that the name of the representative would be in the paper the next day. I went to college without seeing the Guardian.

There, one fellow told me that I was the representative and then another fellow told me that someone else was picked. I didn't know who to believe until noon when I read the paper in the college library. I felt so good that I ran all of the way home.

The selection must have been very difficult for the committee to make and I suppose that I was just lucky enough to come out on top. And while speaking about lucky I leave on Friday 13 for Austria.

Four Injured In Accident

Four men were taken to the Prince County Hospital last night following a traffic accident on the North Bedeque Road, between the school and the church. None was seriously injured, it was believed.

Robert Holland of Lower Bedeque, driving a '39 Chrysler, was in collision with Roger Kennedy of Kensington, driving a '50 Pontiac. Holland was alone, while Kennedy was accompanied by Eric Caldwell and Wallace Harding, also of Kensington. The three were returning from a dance at McMurdo's new barn in North Bedeque. Holland was proceeding in the opposite direction.

It was presumed a blowout on a front tire of the Pontiac caused the collision.

Of the four, Caldwell was believed to be the most seriously injured.

Trinity Church Afternoon Auxiliary

The Afternoon Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, met on Thursday afternoon, July 5th, at the home of the president, Mrs. G. M. Avar.

The meeting opened by repeating the 23rd Psalm in unison. Mrs. Avar then read a beautiful meditation on this Psalm, which has led souls to the secret place of the Most High and strengthened the religious life of many.

The guest speaker was Mrs. R. M. Getty of Trinidad, a former missionary, who is presently visiting her mother and sisters in Charlottetown. She gave a very vivid portrayal of life in Trinidad taking for example the village of Caroni, in which she resides. In Caroni is situated one of the largest sugar estates in Trinidad. Mrs. Getty told of the economic, social, political and religious life of its people and very graciously replied to the many questions from her listeners.

After the close of the meetings, tea was served by the hostesses. Mrs. D. Gillis assisted by Mrs. Walter H. E. D. Ashford poured and Mrs. A. B. Bagnall, Mrs. Laura Bustin and Mrs. A. D. McLennan assisted in serving.

The only regret was that due to the wet weather, the meeting could not be held in Mrs. Avar's beautiful garden, as was planned, yet within full view of the windows, there unfolded a picture of unforgotten beauty, a wealth of buds and blossoms. The great joy experienced in scenes like this comes

During the afternoon the graduates from Grade XI and the ones from the knowledge that this is our Father's World, and as His children we are related to it all.

Premier Returns From Visit To Massachusetts

A method of concentrating milk that may come into use in this Province was viewed by Premier J. Walter Jones in milk establishments at Boston during a nine days trip from which the Premier and Mrs. Jones returned last night.

Premier Jones thinks that the process will come into use here as well as in many other places. He stated that it is a useful method of distributing milk as it can reduce the bulk to one third its original size without destroying any of its properties. The processed milk can then be returned to its original state by the addition of water.

The Premier spoke of the processing method last winter in the Legislature and pointed out that it could be used in transporting milk to various centres in the developing Quebec and Labrador mining areas.

In Westboro, Mass., Premier Jones attended the funeral of a life-long friend, Mr. Thomas K. Burhoe, who was very well known in this Province. Mr. Burhoe died last week in his 90th year. He was born in Alexandria and had many relatives in this Province among them the Burkes, Brehaus and the Woods in Southport. Six of his nephews were pall bearers.

Premier Jones and Mrs. Jones drove 2600 miles in nine days. They went as far as New York, drove up to Ontario and Ottawa before returning home.

In addition to visiting milk plants the Premier also viewed cranberry bogs in Massachusetts and met with cattle men in different centres.

Will Affiliate With Canadian Music Festivals

A motion for affiliation with the Federation of Canadian Musical Festivals was unanimously passed at an open meeting of the P. E. I. Musical Festival Association, held last evening at P.W.C.

Dr. G. D. Steel, President of the P. E. I. M. F. A., presided at the meeting which heard reports from the three delegates who had attended the Convention of the Federation last month in St. John.

Mrs. Edwin Cook gave a general report on the entire convention. Mrs. Steel dealt chiefly with the manner in which the different festivals administer their scholarships. Mrs. Preston Beck then outlined the benefits to be derived from affiliation with the Canadian Federation.

It was stated that one of the aims of the Federation is for standard syllabus for all festivals. During the evening a committee was appointed to meet with the Department of Education to discuss the feasibility of supervision and promotional work for school music.

It was announced the next annual convention of the Federation will be held in Nelson, B. C., in July, 1952.

Evidence Concluded In Traffic Fatality Case

The defence presented its final witness in County Court Judge's Criminal Court yesterday afternoon as the case against Justice George J. Tweedy, charged with driving to the common danger, neared an end.

Court adjourned until 10:30 this morning when counsel will present their arguments. Hon. Walter E. Larby, Attorney General, is appearing for the Crown and Messrs. H. Frank McPhee, K.C., and David L. Mathieson, K. C., for the defence. The Crown ended its presentation the day previously. The case is being heard before Judge C. St. Clair Trainor.

Taking the stand in his own defence was Judge Tweedy who told the court of the events of the evening of April 14 when the accident which cost the life of Gerald Solomon occurred.

He said he had spent the afternoon at his old home in Vernon River and had stayed for supper before leaving for the city about 6 p. m. He picked up a couple of hitchhikers en route and then stopped at a town to see Rev. Mr. Weir on business. Arriving in the city he parked his car by the courthouse and went up to his chambers before going to the Post Office for his mail. Returning to the chambers he examined the mail and then read a statement from Mr. Weir.

There was no information contained in the statement, and he decided to return to Pownal immediately as Mr. Weir was leaving the Province on Monday. He started back about 7. 10 p. m. and on Church street met Mrs. Seller who went along for the drive.

He was driving a black Plymouth sedan, 1950 model, which was in perfect condition having just come from a complete overhaul and checkup at the garage. His lights were on leaving the city as they had been on his way in earlier. He was not travelling at a high rate of speed and met considerable traffic. Shortly after rounding the Keppoch Road corner he saw a sign on the post which said "Bumps Ahead"; he had been there for several days.

Between three and four hundred yards from the scene of the accident he decreased speed. The pavement was pretty well broken up—spongy and soft. There was clay in the worst bumps.

He had met considerable traffic as it was usually heavy on that road on a Saturday night from 6:30 to 8:30. After that it was generally outboard from the city. He had dimmed his lights when meeting cars.

When he came to the bad bump mentioned by other witnesses he had slowed down to about 8 miles per hour—or as slow as the car would go in high gear. He had not shifted gears. After passing the bump he noticed an object on his side of the road ahead. Did not know what it was at first and could not tell whether it was moving or stationary. He started to apply the brakes to reduce speed.

As he got closer he saw it was a truck stopped on the road. From then on everything happened so fast his recollection of events is not clear. He was not sure whether or not he noticed men at the back, but there was a stage when he realized they were there. "When I first realized it was a parked truck I applied the brakes as firmly as I could." At that time he could not see the road ahead of the truck but he had noticed headlights approaching on the road.

He said the truck had no lights on, no taillight, signals or any distinguishing features. It seemed the same color as the highway and it all looked the same. He had seen approaching lights and since he could not see the road ahead could not pull out to pass.

He applied the brakes and the car came to a stop. He jumped out and saw what happened. The witness saw Gerald Solomon lying in the road and ran into Smith's to phone. Was not used to operation of rural line so came out and was told Mr. Smith had already called the police. He returned to the scene of the shoulder of the road. Doubtful if he spoke but but shortly after thought he said both his legs were broken. He appeared dazed rather than suffering from shock.

Traffic was coming on after the accident and he tried to stop cars. First there was a truck then a car, another truck and then the car driven by Mr. Sheidow who had stopped. He had stayed there until everything was cleaned up and his car removed.

Witness said he felt no impact. He was in the driver's seat and nothing happened, he was not shoved forward. In the trunk he was carrying a hamper of potatoes with a bottle of cream sitting on
