

Icebound in Hudson's Bay.

ROUGH EXPERIENCE OF A CREW AND RESCUE PARTY.

The fate of the Hudson Bay Company's trading ship is likely to establish the fact that the navigation of Hudson's Bay and Straits as an outlet for products of the North-West is to a certain extent impracticable. Hon. Donald Smith, one of the directors of the company, reports that after the ship returned to Charlton Island, 100 miles from Moose Factory, from which point she sailed on October 3, she became surrounded with ice and was carried by floating ice upon the island. A boat, manned by the second mate, and four of the crew, was at once despatched to Moose Factory for food and clothing, which point was reached on November 1, after enduring terrible hardships and suffering. One of the large boats belonging to the company was subsequently manned, and, with ample supplies to carry the shipwrecked crew through the winter, started on a voyage for the vessel. This boat, after making three miles, was frozen in, and was with great difficulty cut out, the crew then returning to Moose Factory, where they reported that it was an utter impossibility to proceed through the field of ice. Several Indians were then sent in search of the missing vessel, but after four days they returned, having found no trace of her.

SUFFERINGS OF A RESCUE PARTY.

On November 8, several light boats, fully equipped, started out, but after enduring a night's terrible hardships and having only made eight miles headway, they too returned. As a last chance, Indians, with sleighs and dogs, procured from Fort Albany, were sent to the rescue. Nothing was heard of them after they started until January 12, when they returned to Moose Factory, bringing with them Capt. Bishop, they having found his ship beached on Charlton Island, surrounded by miles of solid ice. Charlton Island is well wooded, and will supply all the fuel the unfortunate crew will require until assistance can be sent to them in the spring. They are amply supplied with provisions, and were all well when Capt. Bishop left them. Huts have been constructed upon the island, where they will have to spend several months. If they are compelled to await the arrival of the relief vessel they cannot leave the island till early in August. The cargo of furs, which is valued at a quarter of a million of dollars, will probably be landed and housed to await the opening of navigation, when an other vessel will be sent at once from England to take off the men and cargo. Capt. Bishop reports that when he left his unfortunate crew they were all well, and, being used to stand the hardships of Arctic navigation, he believes they will be found all right when relief arrives.

Russia and England.

The London Times concurs with the News in inferring from Earl Granville's remarks in the House of Lords a few evenings ago, that the Government takes the position that Penjdeh belongs to the Afghans. This position makes the Times think, a complete disposal of Russia's disingenuous plea that the occupation of Penjdeh by the Afghans justified Russia to advance upon debatable points. The "question of peace or war," the Times declares, "now rests more with Russia than it does with England. To desert the Ameer would mean to make Russia a present with an alliance with him. In that event, England therefore would be compelled to fight both the Ameer and Russia. We sincerely regret that Russia's movements daily increase the chances of a rupture. The immediate necessity of the moment is that Russia be made clearly to understand that England is thoroughly in earnest."

Lord Dufferin, viceroy of India, has shown himself willing and able to adopt Asiatic methods of intrigue, as well as warfare. It has just been learned that he has organized a corps of agitators, who are ready to start at a moment's notice to ferment a revolt against Russia in central Asia. The corps includes many Turcoman refugees, who were driven from their country by the indescribable horrors of the Russian advance into Turkestan, which were outlined by Mr. O'Donovan, the famous war correspondent, who was killed with Hicks Pasha. Many of these refugees have seen their fathers and brothers mutilated and tortured to death, and their wives and daughters dishonored. All of them have lost lands, flocks and herds, and all are thirsting for revenge. The Turcomans, who still live in their country, are reported to be ripe for revolt, and if the Russians advance upon Herat, they may find a wily and desperate foe in the rear.

Despatches from Gulraa and Penjdeh show that the situation of the Afghan frontier is unchanged. The commission under the command of Gen. Lumsden has completed the basis for the delimitation of the boundary, and is still awaiting the arrival of Gen. Zelinov, the Russian commissioner. The Russian subjects of the conquered countries of Central Asia are said to be ripe for revolt, and to be eagerly looking for an Anglo-Russian war, which would enable them to rise in rebellion and attack the Russian army in the rear.

MORRIS & IRELAND'S

NEW IMPROVED PATENT EIGHT-FLANGE FIRE-PROOF SAFE.

THE only Eight-Flange Safe in the world, and containing more improvements than ANY SAFE made, such as:

1st. THE PATENT INSIDE BOLT WORK, which is placing the bolt work with the whole of the filling (six inches) between it and the outside, that is, as far from the fire and thief as it can be.

2nd. THE PATENT HINGED CAP—the back plate of the door being on hinges, enabling the owner, by turning a thumbscrew, to have easy access to the lock and bolt-work. He can thus easily change the lock, clean, oil, and keep the bolt-work in good order.

3rd. IRON INSIDE LINING, stronger than wood, and which retains the moisture in the filling for an indefinite time. Wood is thicker and weaker, and after a few years absorbs the moisture and "requires filling over again."

4th. FOUR-WHEEL COMBINATION LOCKS, the simplest, strongest, most efficient and easiest to change of any in use.

5th. SOLID ANGLE IRON FRONTS, BACKS AND CORNERS, which prevents warping or injury to safe from falling, or falling walls or timbers.

6th. EIGHT FLANGES—the most important improvement ever made in fire-proof safes, providing eight laps, thus preventing the passage of heat, it having to pass over twelve inches, no injury arises from this source, as in other safes containing one, two or three flanges.

THESE SAFES have stood the test of years, and the greatest fires on this continent, and have the CHAMPION RECORD in the Boston, Chicago and Haverhill Fires.

We are selling these safes as low as any good safe, and are disposing of large numbers throughout the Dominion.
