about one-third of its 200,000 annual budget on training projects.

The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, as it was originally called, was founded in 1946 despite some opposition on the grounds that the UN would have enough trouble meeting the world's political problems without getting into child welfare on a big scale.

"Perhaps UNICEF's main accomplishment in 20 years has been to get children's little more into people's consciousness," Mrs. Sinclair said.

Canada's deputy welfare minister, Dr. Joseph W. Willard said in a speech to the assembly's social and humanitarian committee, UNICEF has been able to provide, among other things, for the vaccination of more than 200,000,000 children against tuberculosis, the treatment of 22,000,000 for trachoma, an eye disease, and more than 1,000,000 for leprosy.

Among other figures he cited, it was noted that UNICEF has helped to equip 33,000 health centres and in the field of education, which it entered in 1961, it has given assistance to 7,000 teacher-training institutions.

It is hoped that UNICEF's annual income, expected to be about $35,000,000 this year, will reach $50,000,000 by 1969.

Canada's $100,000 memorial gift was in addition to the 1,000,000 the Canadian government gives UNICEF each year. In addition, voluntary fund-raising programs in Canada on behalf of UNICEF have grown to such an extent that they have almost matched the government's contribution in recent years and may exceed it this year.

Despite UNICEF's past accomplishments, Willard said, "the magnitude of the challenge is enormous and very much remains to be done."

U.S. Judge Dismisses Slander Suit

WASHINGTON (CP)—A U.S. federal judge has dismissed the $110,000 slander suit filed by naturalized Canadian Erik Heine against a self-acknowledged agent of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Judge Roszel Thomsen, in a written opinion filed in Baltimore, said a "trial would not resolve the question of the truth or falsity of the charge because the court would still be required to recognize the privilege asserted by the U.S."

The defendant was Jurj Raus, a naturalized American, who, like Heine, was born in Estonia and active in Estonian emigre groups. He admitted in court having called Heine an active Soviet agent but claimed immunity from the slander action because of his CIA role. The CIA and the U.S. justice department backed him.

The judge's opinion granted their application for dismissing the suit.

Heine, 46, charged Raus, 39, with slander in November, 1964, a year after Raus—on his subsequent testimony—told some members of a New York emigre meeting that Heine was a dispatched Soviet agent.

Heine had become a Canadian citizen in 1964. He claims to be a hard-line opponent of communism from his Second World War days.

At the legal proceedings in Baltimore earlier this year, testimony by Raus was sharply limited on all aspects of his CIA career. The CIA is the global U.S. spy apparatus.

Judge Thomsen upheld repeated objections by U.S. and CIA counsel that more detailed answers would endanger U.S. security.

possible and he therefore went right into three nutrup.

Having now caught the fly in the trap, Sobel doubted, and YMB being the kind of sport game it was — North redoubled, whereupon everybody passed.

Of course, you may be wondering why, with this setup, Sobel would have any possible cause for complaint. But what happened next was that while he was licking his chops and before he had a chance to open his fourth best ear, East led a club out of turn!

The incident occurred back in the days when one of declarer's optional penalties for the irregularity was the privilege of calling an opening lead.

Accordingly, Cain very pleasantly asked East to put the club back in his hand and requested West to lead a diamond. Sobel obediently led a diamond, and the upshot was that declarer made five nutrup, thanks to the lead out of turn.

This turned out to be quite a disaster, since South undoubtedly would have gone down three — 1,500 points — against a heart lead, but instead scored 1,750 points for making three no-trump redoubled with two overtrumps.

Sobel was understandably unhappy about the matter at the time, but Joe Cain enjoyed his lunch that day very much.

Constitution May Strangle Federal Control Over Food

By DENNIS ORCHARD
OTTAWA (CP)—The constitution may strangle any federal attempt to eliminate abuses, confusion and deception in the packaging and sale of food, the parliamentary food — price inquiry was told.

Most areas of possible legislation lie within provincial jurisdiction, according to witness R. A. Chapman, head of the health department's food and drug directorate.

In setting standard sizes and weights, getting rid of cents-off labels and cracking down on deceptive packaging, the federal authority would be virtually powerless on its own.

Only hope may be agreement by the provinces to introduce legislation matching federal statutes, he said.

This would require separate agreement between Ottawa and each province's government; any differences in the laws at the provincial level would not be over- ridden by the federal legislation.

OUTLINES PROBLEMS
The Senate — Commons committee, anxious to bring down recommendations on food prices that will stick, appeared frustrated as Dr. Chapman set out the problems posed by the British North America Act.

He said the directorate can initiate criminal law proceedings over breaches of Food and Drug Act regulations concerning food, but only when an abuse endangers health or constitutes fraud.

The difficulty of proving fraud effectively prevents the government from taking action. Regulations can be set on goods involved in trade and commerce, but only to those that cross provincial boundaries.

The committee drew an admission from Dr. Chapman that the directorate's consumer division lacks an adequate staff to handle consumer complaints.

PARTY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAKE is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
