Performance By High School Band

After rehearsing since last fall, the newly formed Queen Charlotte High School Band will make its first public appearance tomorrow night at 8:30 under the leadership of Mr. Ivo Cudmore. The 16 piece band is reported to be a classy musical organization. When the School opened last fall there were a number of boys who had formerly played in the Prince Street Band but the instruments that they were using were borrowed and it was not certain how long they would have the use of them.

IN MEMORIAM

McCABE—In loving memory of my father, Ivan McCabe, who passed away April 4, 1954.

Memories are treasures no one can steal. Death is a heartache no one can heal. Some may forget you now you are gone. But I will remember you no matter how long.

Always remembered by son Eugene.

In loving memory of Mrs. John Hammond MacLellan, Montague, who passed away March 26, 1952.

The restless stream of life goes on. But still the empty chair. Reminds us of the face. Of one who once sat there.

God saw the road was getting rough. And the hills were hard to climb. So he closed her weary eyelids. And whispered, "peace be thine."

Lovingly remembered by husband, Bertha, and Laura, and sons Melville, Jimmy and Charlie.

In loving memory of John Ambros MacLellan, killed at Vimy Ridge, April 9, 1915.

Down a road that's calm and peaceful. Guided by God's knowing hand. He has gone upon a journey. To a distant brighter land.

And although our hearts are heavy. With the sorrow we must bear. But it helps to bring us comfort. Knowing he is happy there.

Do not ask us if we miss him. Oh! There's such a vacant place. Ofttimes we think we hear his footsteps. And see his smiling face.

Always remembered by his father, MacLellan, Bertha, and Laura, and brothers Melville, Jimmy and Charlie.

Heads Dept. in Montreal Store

Steinberg's "Parade", a monthly newspaper published by and for the employees of Steinberg's Limited — a large and very up-to-date grocery concern — makes the following mention in an article entitled "Team Work at Work" which describes the work of the different departments in the March, 1955, issue: "The people in the Contract Department are busy purchasing the necessary materials for construction, checking these to see that the plans are accurate, from an engineering point of view, and also checking to see that enough space has been allotted for the necessary mechanical features — including refrigeration — required by the stores. This department is headed by Cyril Arsenault and, although Cyril is a comparative newcomer to the organization, he has a wealth of experience behind him."

Cyril Arsenault was formerly in the employ of County Construction Company of this city and has now been connected with Steinberg's in Montreal for the past two years. He has lately been promoted to head of the Contract Department of Steinberg's Limited.

There are between 1,200 and 1,300 ratepayers in the Unit which was first formed in 1949; but for Saturday's plebiscite, there were only 690 of these eligible to vote. The vote was small in the rural areas chiefly because of bad travelling conditions. Returning officer Gilbert Gaudet had the returns all in, less than two hours after the polls closed at 9.00 p.m. They opened at 1.00 o'clock.

Speaking in the Draft Address in the Legislature February 16, Hon. Keir Clark stated that if it was the decision of the voters to break up the Unit, he would propose that a Commission be appointed to advise him as Minister of Education on what steps to take on the new divisions or districts to be formed and on the allocation of the liabilities of the Unit.

county elections. The Labor party has conceded it lost the majority—55 seats to 36—that it gained in the last elections in 1952. Unofficial figures said Labor lost 15 of its 59 seats. A Conservative spokesman, claiming 17 gains, called it "an extraordinary result."

West riding and Essex, which also polled Saturday, were the first county councils to change control in the elections, in which 46 counties of England and Wales had already been polled. The remaining 16 will vote before next Thursday.

The Conservatives previously had registered strong gains in London and neighboring Middlesex and main inroads on Labor holdings elsewhere.

Churchill's resignation, if it comes as expected, will be placed in the hands of Queen Elizabeth in a formal audience at Buckingham Palace. This will be followed by the announcement of his retirement.

Official quarters still decline to confirm the much-discussed event but are known to be standing by for an announcement which also will include Eden's acceptance of the Queen's invitation to head the Conservative government.

She will receive the two states-and other articles and he expressed the hope that the tradition of good craftsmanship would be maintained by enlightened leadership.

Mr. Roulston showed his audience some samples of work done by his students all possessing the qualities making for exquisite individual beauty.

A number of guests interested in handicrafts joined the members of the association for the lecture. Miss Mary Robin offered the thanks of the audience to Mr. Roulston.

All present were then treated to lunch skillfully prepared by the home economics class of the Vocational School.

Still Seeking

possesses many of the reservations that weakened the former document. Canada and other countries voted against the right of U. S. imposing farm import curbs, but lost on a division. The right to retaliate, however, is reserved in case they are seriously injured by such restrictions. Existing tariff arrangements under GATT are now renewed until December, 1957. A new body, Organization for Trade Cooperation to administer tariff bargains and trade regulations has been suggested. This was agreed to in principle by Canada but will not be approved, due to the experience with the old International Trade Organization, until after the U. S. Congress takes definite action.

"While the results of the Geneva talks are somewhat disappointing," Mr. Shaw stated, "negotiations are still going on with respect to certain aspects of trade of great importance to this Province. The Horticultural Council, representing a powerful section of the Canadian economy is doing everything possible to bring about firm negotiations to bring about a reasonably satisfactory conclusion to some of our outstanding problems. While provisions of GATT may yet be found to be a few disturbing aspects, they nevertheless provide for reasonable discussion and negotiation, which is a far better basis to work from than that of an out-and-out tariff war."

"I am convinced," he concluded, "that some neighboring solution may yet be found to alleviate a situation that undoubtedly is considered, by many, to be both irritating and unfair."

SPOT NEW COMET

WASHINGTON (AP) The National Geographic Society announced Tuesday a new comet has been discovered in the direction of constellation Leo. Discovered on a photographic plate exposed March 22 at Palomar Observatory in California, it is too faint to be seen by the naked eye. It is of the 17th magnitude.

men separately, but in quick succession—Churchill first, then Eden. The news of Eden's succession is expected to be followed shortly by an announcement on the calling of general elections, now confidently predicted for May 26.

Churchill's last evening before he puts down his official burden will be spent Monday with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, whom he is entertaining at dinner at the prime minister's official residence, 10 Downing street.

TO CONTINUE AS MP

After an Easter vacation in Sicily, he probably will continue in Parliament as an ordinary member, looking after the interests of his constituency.

Reports from Sicily say Churchill and his wife are expected to begin their vacation there April 12—two days after Parliament adjourns for Easter. Previously he had been expected there April 9.

The retirement of one of the world's best publicly-known statesmen will come at a moment when all the big London newspapers are out of action because of a strike which began March 24 and appears likely to continue until Easter.

The general public here will have to rely on BBC radio news bulletins and out-of-town newspapers for first details of the event. Many people overseas will be reading about the climax of Churchill's career before his own countrymen.

SEE FAVORABLE TREND

Churchill will leave office heartened by the results of the current local council elections throughout Britain.

In these contests, which often give a pointer to national political trends, the Conservatives have made substantial gains in London and improved their position in other areas at the expense of the Labor party.

The elections are the first chance the government has had of judging how it is likely to fare with the voters if it decides to hold general elections in May.

25th Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Seaman, Breadalbane was the scene of a happy gathering of neighbors and relatives on Wednesday, March 30, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Seaman's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. In a humorous speech, Rev. W. B. MacInnall congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Seaman and then called upon Mrs. Seaman who read a complimentary address. Mr. Lawrence Newton then presented a purse of money, and Mrs. John J. MacLeod a prettily-decorated anniversary cake, which she had made herself. When both Mr. and Mrs. Seaman had thanked the donors, the guests sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows". An evening of games and music was enjoyed during which dainty refreshments were served.

Following is the address: Dear Mr. and Mrs. Seaman: It is with much pleasure that we, your neighbors and friends have assembled here to extend to you our warmest congratulations and best wishes on this, the twenty-fifth anniversary of your marriage; and to express our fervent wish for many more years of mutual felicity and happiness in our midst.

During these twenty-five years you have made a worthy contribution to the community in which you reside, by your interest and support of all worthy activities and noble causes. You have steadfastly given your wholehearted cooperation to any movement for the physical, moral and spiritual welfare and well-being of our country and province.

You have had a deep concern for the intangible, spiritual qualities of life which do not pass away with time but which endure forever. By your loyalty and devotion to these higher values and principles you have enriched and blessed the lives of many. It can be truly said that you have gone about doing good.

Your home has always been a place of hospitality where friends frequently meet to spend a pleasant evening. In both your home and public life you have so well exemplified the Christian virtues of kindness, generosity, sympathy and understanding friendliness and goodwill.

It is our sincere and heartfelt wish that the years ahead may bring many blessings.

May good health, good friends, joy and happiness be yours as you journey along the pathway of life as a remembrance of this happy occasion and may the great Master in whose footsteps you have followed, bless you and keep you in the years that lie ahead.

On behalf of your neighbours and friends.

Home Economics Ass'n Meeting

The Prince Edward Island Home Economics Association met at the Vocational School, Charlottetown, on April 1st. The president, Mrs. D. L. George, occupied the chair. Progress in matter of affiliation with Canadian Home Economics Association was reported by Miss Anderson.

When routine business was finished Mrs. R. Manning introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Ellis Roulston, head of the Fine Arts Department, Mount Allison University.

Mr. Roulston pointed out that in pioneer days in America utilitarianism was the motivation of creations in pottery, weaving, leather work, etc. But man's instinctive love of beauty soon led to efforts at ornamentation. Mass production and standardization of "machine era" eclipsed North American art before traditions were established. This set-back is being combated by encouragement of handicrafts. In them, said Mr. Roulston, men and women find satisfying pleasure, relaxation and sometimes supplementary income. In these days when the average person has greater leisure hobbies are of inestimable worth in values mentioned as well as in developing appreciation of good design and workmanship. Governments are being urged to support fine arts departments for welfare of the people.

Prince Edward Island was noted in the past, said the speaker, for its artistic hooked rugs, coverlets
