Drowning Accident.

As already reported by THE EXAMINER, a very sad drowning accident occurred at Tracadie harbor on Friday, the 12th inst., when two men, Joseph Campbell and Stephen McDonald, lost their lives. It appears that about noon on that day, as the fishermen were returning to the harbor from visiting their nets, they found that a very violent sea was breaking over the bar at the entrance to the harbor, rendering the passage extremely hazardous. One by one the boats succeeded in passing over, and all went well until a boat manned by Stephen McDonald, Joseph Campbell and Hugh McEwen approached the dangerous reef. They had almost succeeded in crossing the point of danger, when a huge wave reared its angry crest behind, then rushing forward it broke over the boat and threw her on her side. All the occupants clung to the boat for a time, but as the boat was tossed and turned by the fierce waves the men were repeatedly cast into the sea, till finally Campbell and McDonald sank beneath the waves and were drowned. McEwen clung to the boat and made a gallant fight for his life. That he escaped death seems a miracle. The accident was witnessed by men on the shore, and a dory was speedily manned and started to the rescue, but such was the violence of the sea on the bar that to approach the wrecked boat meant certain destruction, so the attempt was abandoned, and not until the boat drifted into less dangerous water was the dory able to approach and rescue McEwen from his perilous situation. Campbell was a young man 22 years of age, son of Donald Campbell of Grand Tracadie. He was a splendid specimen of manhood, standing over six feet in height, of unspotted character, generous and amiable disposition, dutiful son and a fervent Christian. His sudden and tragic death is a cause of universal sorrow. McDonald was a man about 55 years of age. His genial disposition and exemplary christian life made him a general favorite with both old and young. He leaves a wife and two daughters to mourn his loss. This sad and fatal accident has cast a gloom over the whole country. The friends of the victims have our deepest sympathy in their great affliction.

A Lesson in Matrimony.

For nearly 700 years, with more or less regularity, the festival of the Dunmow fitch of bacon has been celebrated at Dunmow, Eng. land. About 600 years ago Chaucer made his Wife of Bath say in her famous prologue: "The bacon was set for him, I trow. That some men have in Essex, at Dunmow. In olden times the conditions permitted only couples that had been married a year and a day to compete for the bacon, and the proof required to obtain the prize was thus summed up in verse: You never made any nuptial transgression Since you were married man and wife, Or since the parish clerk said "Amen!" Wished yourselves unmarried again, Or in a twelvemonth and a day. Repeated not in thought any way. The applicants were required to kneel upon sharp flints, at the Priory of Little Dunmow, and swear that these things were true. This was the old way; but in modern times the ceremony has been turned into a show and a burlesque, and there is no limit as to the period of matrimony. At the festival on the first of this month the awards were made after a pretended trial in court, a lawyer's clerk acting as judge, and a jury of six maidens and as many bachelors passing upon the evidence. A corn merchant acted as counsellor for the claimants, and an auctioneer appeared in behalf of the donors. Several thousand persons were present. Those who went to jest witnessed a whole example of marital happiness and devotion in the appearance on the platform of Mr. and Mrs. Heard, a venerable couple, whose ages aggregated 150 years. They were the oldest couple that has ever been known to apply for the Dunmow fitch, and their story turned rivalry into sympathy and jest into admiration. The couple had been married about fifty years, and the husband was an old soldier, having served in the army twenty-two years. The old soldier declared, with an earnestness that carried conviction to every one, that he had loved his wife from the first day he set eyes on her, and loved her better now than ever. The wife had been sick several times and recently had an accident, and the old man had nursed her devotedly. The more he could do for her, he said, the more he loved her. The old dame looked as smiling and happy as the old soldier's talk as she might have looked when he said the same sort of thing fifty years before. They got the fitch of bacon, and the audience that had gone to scoff went away with a lesson from a humble source as eloquent and effective as was ever preached from the pulpit.

General Telegraphic News.

ST PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—The cholera situation has improved, and it is hoped by the stringent sanitary regulations enforced by the authorities have effectually checked the disease. There were only twelve deaths yesterday. Official reports show that throughout the stricken districts in Russia the daily average is 8,601 new cases and 4,288 deaths.

TEHERAN, Aug. 15.—The cholera epidemic is raging with great violence. The governor and wealthiest inhabitants have fled. The town is almost deserted. Mortality in Teheran is about one hundred and fifty daily. There have been 3,000 deaths at Tabriz.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—According to reliable deplomatic information received here, China has addressed strong representations to Russia protesting against the occupation of the Pamir country by Russians as a breach of the treaty of Livadia, which fixes the frontier 100 miles north of the Akiah, where Russians are encamped.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—It is now believed that James E. Gilman, the missing member of the bankrupt firm of Gilman, Cheney & Co., has misappropriated $300,000 of other people's money and has fled to Europe. Appearance of cash and negotiable securities. Appearance indicate that Gilman led a double life, although standing high in business and social circles. The woman in the case is said to be in the city.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—The agents in Paris of ex Queen Natalie of Serbia, are trying to bring about the total downfall of ex-King Milan. Natalie has been moved to Geneva. She is on Milan by the spectacle of this abandoned old woman passing weeks with her unsophisticated young son, the King of Serbia, while she has been excluded from her boy's presence. The agents of the ex Queen have followed Milan day and night until they have a record of all his disgraceful doings and his extravagant expenditures. They have proof that he is living far beyond his means and that his numerous creditors are likely to be left in the lurch. By letting out this proof dribble to the Paris press Natalie has alarmed Milan's creditors so that now they are pressing him hard, and probably will have him in the courts before the winter. Among the most interesting excerpts from Milan's accounts, as published at the instance of the ex-Queen, are the following: "For gambling and betting on the races, 50,000 to 70,000 francs a month; for five mistresses, 250,000 francs a year; for his ballet dancer, 100,000 to 150,000 francs annually for jewels, 3,000 francs monthly for his horses. His debts to money lenders are said to amount to nearly 2,000,000 francs."

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The appointment to a judgeship of Gainsford Bruce, the Conservative who was elected to represent the Holborn division in the House of Commons, rendered a new election necessary. This was held to-day and resulted in the return of Sir Charles Hall, Conservative, without opposition. This is the first by-election for the new parliament, and it is certainly early to have one. The vacancy on the Holborn division of Westminster was caused by the appointment of Mr. (now Sir) Gainsford Bruce, a Conservative member, to a judgeship in the Queen's bench division, that position having been opened for him through the recent elevation of Lord Justice Smith to the court of appeal. When Mr. Bruce was first elected for Holborn at a by-election in November, 1888, he carried the seat by a majority of 960. This showed so large a falling off from the conservative majority in the constituency at the general election of 1886, when the late Col. Duncan had a lead of 1,701 over his Gladstonian opponent, that the liberal felt confident of capturing the seat at the general election last month. But the pendulum of political opinion in the district had swung back to the conservative side, and Mr. Bruce was re-elected on July 6th by the unprecedented local majority of 2472. This overwhelming defeat appears to have knocked all the fight out of the Holborn liberats, as they have now permitted the conservatives to win a walkover. Sir Charles Hall, the new member, is the recorder of London.

The Man in a Hurry. (St. John Sun.) The latest charge against the Federal Government is that Premier Dibbs of New South Wales was not civilly treated by the Ministers. Now, it appears that Sir George Dibbs arrived in Ottawa one afternoon and so missed seeing the first minister. With the brief time at his disposal he could hardly have accomplished much if he had met. Sir George Dibbs is said to have informed a reporter that he came to Canada "with the special object of seeing your premier and ascertaining the views of the Canadian government on the question of closer trade relations between your country and mine." He also proposed to discuss steamship communication, cables and other matters. If the premier of New South Wales came all the way to Canada for the purpose of discussing these subjects during a part of the afternoon he made a great mistake in neglecting to inform the Canadian government of the hour of his prospective arrival and the hour of his departure. However, Sir George saw two ministers, had a pleasant talk with them, stated his views to the reporters, and cheerfully announced that on his return home he hoped to communicate with Mr. Abbott on these matters. And after all he went home from England by the shortest way.

A TERRIBLE CASE OF Blood Poisoning!
SKODA VICTORIOUS!

THE FOLLOWING CASE WILL BE VOUCHERED FOR BY MANY OF THE BEST CITIZENS OF BELFAST, AND THE CURE THAT FOLLOWED IS TRUTHFULLY RECORDED.
"For months I had been a great sufferer from supposed Blood Poisoning, swell to twice their ordinary size, and from my feet to my hips both legs were one solid mass of great purple streaks. My arms and body also became affected in like manner. Cessless itching and burning tormented me day and night. I lost my appetite. My bowels became constipated. I was much reduced in flesh. People said I would die, and I believed there was no help for me. This was my condition when I began taking SKODA'S DISCOVERY and SKODA'S LITTLE TABLETS. I was cured in less than a week. I gained fifteen pounds in flesh, and improved in every way. Less than one course of the DISCOVERY, with SKODA'S LITTLE TABLETS and SKODA'S OINTMENT, has completely cured me. My appetite is excellent. Swelling all gone. Food digests well. Bowels in good condition, and my skin is free from sores and blotches, and only the ugly scars upon my legs tell of my previous trouble. Belfast, Mo. CLIFTON WEST. SKODA DISCOVERY, N.S.
