FOR HALIFAX.—The steamer Princess Beatrice, Capt. Kelley, left on return to Halifax last evening, with the usual general cargo.

FOR RESTORING THE COLOR, thickening the growth, and beautifying the hair, and for preventing baldness, Hall's Hair Renewer is unsurpassed.

NEWFOUNDLAND POLITICS.—The general elections in Newfoundland will take place on the 6th inst. The general impression is that the government will be sustained by a good majority.

FOR TRAVELLERS.—The winter time table of the International Steamship Co. will go into effect on Monday, Nov. 11th, when the steamers will leave St. John on Mondays and Thursdays.

POOR FRED.—Fred Plaisted, the oarsman, is soon to apply for reinstatement into the ranks of the amateur oarsman. The ground for his application is that he has not won a race for seven years.

The first successful blood purifier ever offered to the public was Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Imitators have had their day, but some abandoned the field, while the demand for this incomparable medicine increases year by year, and was never so great as at present.

SHIPMENTS AT ALBERTON.—H. W. Turner, merchant, O'Leary, has just finished loading the vessel Grand Banker for the Newfoundland market with a general cargo valued at $1,100. This is the third cargo Mr. Turner has shipped this season.

BOLD ROBBERIES.—Several bold robberies have lately been committed in the vicinity of St. Martins. In one case a mail bag was stolen from the stage and the perpetrator, when called upon to give it up, refused at first to do so unless paid $10.

AT THE POOR HOUSE.—An old man, about 100 years of age, and his son, aged 70 were admitted to the Halifax poor house the other day. The son had worked hard up to that time to keep his father out of the institution, but finally had to seek shelter there for himself as well.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION.—At the prohibition convention in Amherst last week, 60 delegates in attendance, it was resolved to nominate a third party candidate for the Local Legislature. A delegation of twelve men was appointed to represent the convention at the Maritime Convention at Moncton, on Nov. 13th. The meeting was harmonious throughout and closed with the benediction.

THE NEW TABERNACLE.—The laying of the foundation of Dr. Talmage's new tabernacle in Brooklyn, N. Y., took place on Monday. Dr. Talmage presided, and also turned over the first sod with a gilt spade. The regular seating capacity would be more than 5,000, and by throwing open the Sunday school rooms, there would be accommodation for 2,000 more.

A SIMPLE REMEDY.—You never hear of a man dying in France while under the influence of chloroform. Several years ago a patient in a Paris hospital was undergoing an operation, when the chloroform seemed to be having too great an influence over his heart. An old nurse from the country who was present raised his feet and lowered his head. In a few seconds the pulsation became normal, and this simple remedy or precaution has been tried in hundreds of cases since, and always with success.—Interview in St. LouisGlobe-Democrat.

POLICE COURT.—The net amount of fines and penalties collected during the month of October was $355.96. TRULY A SAD CASE.—A very sad case occurred last week, at Whitneyville, N. B. Judson McKay, of Whitneyville, was engaged in ploughing on his farm. Early in the forenoon, he came from the field, and turned his horses loose to give them a rest, he said. He took his tea and shortly after went to bed. Some time after he woke up a raving maniac, and his wife went to the nearest neighbors for help, and it was only after a serious struggle that he was secured, not without inflicting serious injuries on those who were endeavoring to secure him. Dr. Fish was summoned, a certificate of lunacy made out, and on Monday he went to the provincial lunatic asylum.—Newcastle Advocate.

DR. HOWARD'S PORTRAIT.—Referring to the portrait of Dr. Howard, painted by Mr. R. Harris, R. C. A., the Montreal Herald says:—

The picture is about four feet by three; the late physician is represented dressed in ordinary every-day attire, standing by the bedside of a patient in the hospital with stethoscope in hand as if he was addressing a clinical lecture to the students, his face beaming with that intelligence which rendered him so well known and welcome a figure amongst the sick in Montreal. The effect of light and shade is depicted charmingly. Outside in the brilliant sunshine as shown striking on the blind, whilst inside one feels himself in the quiet respectful light of the sick room. The figure of the doctor is placed in the foreground of the painting, the light from an unseen window falling full upon his face. The bold rendering of his features reflects great credit on the skill of the artist. One of the greatest difficulties in a portrait painting is the management of a suitable background. The skill displayed in the present instance is remarkable. Without detracting in the least from the interest of the fine portrait itself, Mr. Harris has placed his subject in most appropriate surroundings. The picture illustrates the advance which has been made in late years in the art of the portrait painter, and the absence of the conventional curtain and pile of books is singularly welcome in this instance. Mr. Harris is to be congratulated on having produced, and the citizens of Montreal in having acquired, so valuable and artistic a portrait, which will in the future adorn the walls of the Montreal
