Labor Dept. Power Fight May Curdle LBJ Relations

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high-level power struggle in the U.S. Labor department threatened Wednesday to curdle President Johnson's cozy pre-election relationship with organized labor.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz is known to be seeking to lift the scalp of the department's No. 2 man, Undersecretary John F. Henning, regarded by union leaders as labor's best friend in the U.S. government.

Wirtz' demand for Henning's resignation has set off furious reaction among organized labor leaders and may provide the first major challenge to Wirtz since he took the cabinet post in 1962.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, was reported to have served notice on Wirtz that he will go over his head directly to John to protect Henning.

Henning, 49, is a former California AFL-CIO official who was appointed by the late president John F. Kennedy.

Wirtz declined comment on the dispute, which was reported also to involve other top labor department aides.

"It's a presidential appointment and anything I say would be inappropriate," Wirtz said of Henning's job.

But Wirtz was reported to have told Johnson he wants to get rid of Henning to end a row over high-level policy-making.

Some labor sources reported that assistant secretaries Esther Peterson and Daniel P. Moynihan are also involved in the fight. These sources said Mrs. Peterson may resign to devote full time to her post as Johnson's special assistant for consumer affairs and that Moynihan may be caught in the crossfire between Wirtz and Henning.

An aide to Mrs. Peterson denied any knowledge that she is involved. Moynihan was not reached immediately for comment.

Henning, bolstered by the strong support of Meany and other powerful trade union officials, is refusing to accede to Wirtz' demand for his resignation.

"I don't plan to leave," Henning said without elaboration.

If Wirtz prevails, there would be a drastic change in the AFL-CIO's friendly relationship with the Johnson administration, the Meany spokesman said.

Henning for a time directed the department's manpower development program, dealing with new approaches to job training to combat unemployment. But he was eased out of that responsibility when Wirtz moved his executive assistant, John C. Donovan, into the job. It was announced Tuesday that Donovan is resigning Jan. 15, but his departure apparently has no connection with the Henning-Wirtz dispute

Christmas The Season Of Tenderness, Drama

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's our life, and I'm used to it. I think a lot of people try to fight against the kind of life they have, and they end up making themselves miserable. It's much easier to accept the life you have, and enjoy it."

This was the philosophy of Dolores Hope as she faced another Christmas without her husband Bob. While he is entertaining American soldiers in South Viet Nam, she will be spending Christmas at their home in north Hollywood.

"Our holiday has pretty much fallen into a routine," Mrs. Hope said. "It's not like other people's, but it has its compensations."

The routine is this: Before his departure overseas, Bob spends a half-day selecting gifts of fruit to send to friends all over the United States. About 10 days before Christmas, he leaves with his troupe. Mrs. Hope completes the shopping, has Christmas Eve dinner with the children. In recent years, eldest son Tony has accompanied Bob.

The stay-at-home Hopes attend midnight mass and in the morning open a few of their gifts. Then they have Christmas dinner with close friends.

VISITED CROSBYS

"Last year it was the Crosbys," Mrs. Hope said. "They wanted us to come up to their home at Burlingame this year, but it was too far for us."

Bob often calls home during his trips, but seldom on Christmas Day. "That's his busiest day; he does three or four shows in widely separated places," his wife said. "And the time difference also makes it difficult."

Hope returns a few days after Christmas and then the celebration really begins. Assorted Hopes come out from Cleveland to join the festivities. Last year the crowd for dinner numbered 32, only two of them non-Hopes. The family celebration continues until the Epiphany, Jan. 6.

Forecast Grim On Traffic Toll

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Highway Safty Council has forecast 4,800 Canadians will lose their lives on the country's highways next year—300 more than in 1964—with 140,000 injured and an economic loss of $500,000,000.

Although figures for 1964 are still incomplete, the council estimates 4,800 Canadians will have been killed and more than 130,000 injured on the roads by the end of the year.

There now are more than 7,000,000 licensed drivers in Canada, W. Arch Bryce, the council's executive director, reported and more than 300,000 new teen-age drivers will appear in 1965.

The council plans a nation-wide program of education of citizens, enforcement of regulations and engineering of safer vehicles, roads, signs and signals in order to reduce the death toll by 500 next year.

Opening lead — two of diamonds.

The squeeze is one of the best plays in bridge, and in its simplest form is easy to execute. Declarer simply cashes his tricks and the squeeze takes place automatically.

However, the squeeze does not always come about by itself, and declarer must sometimes deliberately lose a trick in order to establish an effective squeeze position. Here is a case where the declarer elected to do this.

South was in six clubs. He should have bid three spades over two notrump, using the cuebid to try to get North to bid a red suit. But South jumped directly to six clubs instead.

West led a diamond to the ten, king and ace. After drawing three rounds of trumps, declarer played a diamond to the jack, West showing out.

South now realized that he might lose a heart as well as a diamond if the hearts were not divided 3-3. Accordingly, to cover this possibility, he led the jack of spades and discarded a diamond on it. This play was in line with the general requirement applying to squeezes — that declarer should be one trick away from having the rest of the tricks, not two.

West took the spade with the queen and returned a low heart to the ten and queen. Declarer now cashed the queen of diamonds and ten of clubs to produce this position:

	North
	♠ K
	♥ K8
	♦ 8
West		East
♠ A		♠ 9 5
♥ J 9 7		♥ 2
		♦ 9
	South
	♠ A 6 4
	♥ 5

When South then led the eight of clubs, West had to relinquish a spade or a heart, either play giving declarer the rest of the tricks. If East had been the player with the heart length, he would likewise have been squeezed
