MARCH OF THE TEMPERANCE MEN.

AIR: "MARCHING ALONG."

The bugles are sounding the temperance call,
And the foe he is strong, but let not that appal
Thy courageous hearts; we grow stronger every day—
Then on with the blue ribbon, boys, and march to the fray.

CHORUS.

Marching along, we are marching along
McKenzie is our leader, we are marching along,
The Lord is our strength and temperance our song;
Then on with the blue ribbon and be marching along.

No armor of steel we require for the fight,
No sword or spear or cannon our enemies to fight;
But on true, faithful hearts, boys, we all must rely,
And a steady firm resolve to conquer or die.

Our wives and our children, they weep tears of joy,
And prayers for success, boys, are wafted on high;
Let the thoughts of those loved ones, then, nerve every heart;
From the true path of honor we'll never depart.

Long, long were we subject to Alcohol's power,
But now we are free and joy rules the hour;
We are joyous and happy, for the tyrant is slain,
And now, with God's help, we'll be men once again.

Now allegiance we've sworn to our temperance king;
Let us all keep our pledges, and happiness 'twill bring;
We'll be firm as the rock when the foe is at hand—
Let no traitors be found in the temperance band.

INTERRUPTED TABLE TALK.

The other evening Rev. Mr. Philcater sat down at the table with a very thoughtful air, and attended to the wants of his brood in a very abstracted manner. Presently he looked up at his wife and said—

"The Apostle Paul!"

"Got an awful lump on the head's afternoon," broke in the pastor's eldest son, "playing base ball." But flew out of the striker's hands when I was umpire, and cracked me right above the ear and dropped me. Hut, Golly!" and the lad shook his head in a dismal but expressive pantomime as he tenderly rubbed a lump that looked like a billiard ball with hair on it.

The pastor gravely paused for the interruption, and resumed:

"The Apostle Paul!"

"Saw Mrs. O'Ghemine down at Greenbaum's this afternoon," said his eldest daughter addressing her mother. "She had on the same old everlasting black silk, made over with the best of cilleen green silk, coat-tail basque pattern, overskirt made with diagonal folds in front, edged with deep fringe, yellow straw hat, with black velvet facing inside the brim, and pale blue flower. She's going to Chicago."

The good minister waited patiently, and then in tones just a shade louder than before, said:

"The Apostle Paul!"

"Went in swimmin' last night with Henry and Ben, pop, and stopped on a clam shell," exclaimed his youngest son; "cut my foot so I can't wear my shoes; and please can't I stay home to-morrow?"

The pastor informed his son that he might stay away from the river, and then resumed his topics. He said:

"The Apostle Paul says—"

"My teacher is an awful liar," shouted the second son; "He says the world is as round as an orange, and it turns round all the time faster than a circus man can ride. I guess he hasn't got much sense."

The mother lifted a warning finger toward the boy and said, "Oh!" and the father resumed.

"The Apostle Paul says—"

"Don't bite off twice as much as you can chew," broke out the eldest son, reproving the assault of his little brother on a piece of cake. The pastor's face showed just a trifle of annoyance as he said in a very firm decided tone:

"The Apostle Paul says—"

"There's a fly in the butter!" shrieked the youngest hopeful of the family, and a general laugh followed. When silence was restored, the eldest daughter, with an air of curiosity, said—

"Well, but pa, I really would like to know what the Apostle Paul said."

"Pass me the mustard," said the pastor absently.

Then the committee rose and the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjourned.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Facts and Scraps.

Dr. Holmes well says: "Science is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor."

An attractive young lady says the reason she doesn't marry is because she has too much respect for her mother to wish her to figure as a mother-in-law.

He who learns and makes no use of his learning is a beast of burden with a load of books. Comprehendeth the ass whether he carries on his back a library or a bundle of faggot?

Every man is happy, no matter what his circumstances, who is contented. Happiness does not depend so much upon the art of getting much as the art of being contented with what we have.

They were at a country fair. In one of the booths was a small stand for the sale of watch-chains. "Oh, George," she said, "why me a charm!" "Sarah," answered he, "you have too many already."
