Little Theatre Players Score In Performance

Little Theatre players scored high last night in an outstanding performance of a two-act play, "Summer Day's Dream", the second in the series of plays by the Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild. A near-capacity audience at the Empire Theatre delighted in the portrayals given by an excellent all-round cast in J. B. Priestley's futuristic play, produced by Mrs. Charles Willett and directed by Miss Hazel Hunter.

"Real team work such as I have never seen before in Little Theatre," was the appraisal given by Mrs. A. H. Roper, speaking for the adjudicators. She recommended the play be repeated before the public or at the Drama Festival this spring.

The cast, all of whom warmed spiritedly into their roles, was composed of Ivan Dowling as the philosophic farmer Stephen Dawlish; Derrill MacGuigan as Chris, his music and poetry-loving grandson; Marjorie Coffin who played Rosalie the young granddaughter; Mary Moran, as the oracular, wise daughter-in-law; Peter Shama, as Fred the pleasant farm bailiff, Elizabeth Willett, as Irina, the stiff, but beautiful Russian official; William Rogers who portrayed the aggressive American industrialist; and Arthur MacLean as Dr. Bahru, Indian Research Chemist.

Specially composed for the play was a tender, wistful violin solo, Pastorale Nocturne" by William Murchison of Charlottetown. Kathleen Hornby performed the composition.

Dipping into the future (1975), the story of "Summer Day's Dream" takes place in an old country house in England, which has been kept untouched by TV coms, atomicars, etc. It has cut itself off completely from the progress of time.

Into the peaceful household which contains five romantic souls, comes the materialistic "cutside", represented by the Indian and Russian scientists and the aggressive industrialist. They arrive as a threat to the peaceful farm home, as if to crumble this protected, simple, love-filled life by applying, without spirit, their scientific training to extract a raw material for industry, from the farm. Head versus heart in the beginning and the philosophies of life clash head on. However, the conflict unfolds in each, the need for love and understanding. The play ends with the materialists agreeing not to invade the haven of peace.

Stephen, seated on the step of his home, gazing into the wide sky after the materialists have gone, speaks on his theme—"And I have lived long enough to understand at last that what is neither clay nor flame, neither Earth or Spirit, can only leave us famished and frustrated."

Amongst other backstage workers called before the audience by Mrs. Roper for applause of appreciation were Alma Lea (prompter) Charles Willett, Peter Shama, Bert Patterson and Sutherland MacLean (stage); Joe Robinson (lighting), Elmer Power and William Rogers (sound and music effects), Beverley Place, Sally Robinson, Eleanor Hughes, Vera Miller (decor), Ruth MacLean, George Kays, (Properties), Anne Matheson (costumes), and Betty Holl and Barry Bugden (make-up).

was concluded.

This is the second consecutive year in which the Pope has been confined to his apartment on his birthday.

A year ago he was recovering from bronchial pneumonia, the first major ailment he suffered since his election to the pontificate 15 years ago.

The Pope must again forgo, as he did a year ago, attendance at the solemn Mass to celebrate the anniversary of his coronation. It will be held in the Sistine Chapel on March 12.

Some Vatican sources said the Pope very likely must remain in his apartment for all of the 40 days of the Lenten season, which begins today.

In past years, the Pontiff has always appeared on Easter Day on the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica to bless Romans and thousands of pilgrims.

IN MEMORIAM

JAMES AUSTIN DAVEY

In the morning of January 13, the residents of Gaspereaux and surrounding districts were shocked and saddened to hear that Austin Davey had been suddenly called to his eternal Home.

The late Mr. Davey was born in Albion, a son of Mrs. Margaret (Davey) Griffin, and the late Cephas Davey. He was in his 65th year.

When a young man he moved to Gaspereaux where he made many lasting friends. He was a man of cheerful and pleasing personality, highly esteemed by all who knew him. He will be greatly missed in the community but most of all in his home where he left to mourn his wife (formerly Miss Ethel Llewellyn) and one son, Cephas, at home; his mother, now Mrs. Ernest Griffin, Albion; a brother, Wm. Brenton Davey, Los Angeles, Calif.; and six sisters namely: (Catherine) Mrs. Leigh Wight, Sturgeon; (Helen) Mrs. Nicholas Reck, Long Beach, Wash.; Mrs. Bexey Graham, Gaspereaux; (Grace) Mrs. Ellsworth Llewellyn, Montague; Mrs. Harriet Lake, Ottawa; (Cephenia) Mrs. Lawrence McHerron, Gaspereaux. A half-brother Mr. Albert Griffin lives in Montague. A sister Emma predeceased him a number of years ago.

The funeral, largely attended, was held Saturday from the Murray Harbour North Presbyterian Church. The service was conducted by the pastor the Rev. M. C. Currie, assisted by Rev. R. G. Hill of the Baptist Church, Montague.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Wm Dunn, Howard Jamieson, Howard Steele, Milton Reynolds, Raymond Reilly and Elliott Kemp.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late J. Austin Davey wish to thank the clergymen and all our neighbours and friends for their many acts of kindness in our recent sad bereavement.

We wish also to sincerely thank all those who sent flowers and messages of sympathy.

Trinity Evening Auxiliary Meets

There was a good attendance at the March meeting of the Mary Millar Auxiliary held on Monday evening. Several new members were welcomed into the group. A very interesting and informative program was presented, beginning with devotion led by Mrs. Norman MacLeod.

Miss Isabel Rogerson gave a resume of radio mission work being done by the United Church of Canada. Special mention was made of the radio and preaching mission inaugurated in 1943 by the Rev. A. D. MacKenzie at Prince Albert in north Saskatchewan, and operating through Station CKBI. Also included were radio station CFGP, at Grand Prairie in the Peace River district, opened in 1945; CJBC at Dawson Creek, opened about the same time; and a station in Newfoundland broadcasting to the outposts. Through each of these stations, one minister is able to serve large areas that have no resident minister or mission worker.

"Our Own Back Yard" — the chapter from the study book — was presented by Mrs. E. B. Ellis and Mrs. Keith Kennedy as a conversation between "Mrs. Canada" and "Mrs. United States." This was a startling revelation of the absence of Christian education that is to be found even in these so-called Christian countries.

Following the business meeting, the members proceeded to the social hall for lunch and a social half-hour .
