Expect Halloween To Be Safer, Quieter This Year

By The Canadian Press
Community sponsored parties, and bans on fireworks in many places, are expected to make Halloween celebrations Monday night safer and quieter than they have been in former years.

In many communities the kids will cry "shell out for UNICEF," collecting funds for the Canadian committee of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. The funds will help provide food and medical treatment for destitute children overseas.

The celebrations are getting a closer check every year. Some communities now prohibit the sale of any fireworks at all to children under 16.

COMMUNITY BONFIRE
A cross-country survey by The Canadian Press shows these prospects for the evening:

Service clubs at Victoria are staging a community bonfire but the police will have radio-equipped motorcycle patrols to handle any trouble. Children will carry "Save the Children" donation tins along with containers for their own personal treats.

Vancouver, which bans sale of fireworks to all under 16, recalls the blast of home-made explosives in the past year. Sale of ingredients for these has voluntarily been banned by the B. C. Pharmaceutical Association. Outdoor community parties for youngsters will contrast with night club affairs where the cost may run to $25, including incidentals.

In his earlier years, Mr. Bell engaged in farming and went to sea occasionally in vessels built by his father, George Bell. One of his stirring memories is the founding of the famous Maro Polo off New London, a sea tragedy which he witnessed. The ship's figurehead, in the form of an elephant, came into their possession of the Bell family and decorated the mill house. There it remained until the property was sold years later to Mr. Herbert McEwen. Subsequently it was displayed at an exhibition in St. John and today the interesting relic may be seen at the summer home of Chief Justice Thane Campbell.

On moving to Summerside, Mr. Bell bought the Willows on the outskirts of the town, now known as Mulberry Lodge. The property then consisted of 150 acres and extended to the shore line. In recent years Mr. Bell has resided on Kirk Street in semi-retirement, retaining his post of Harbor Master. His wife, the former Sophie Bishop, passed away two years ago. He has two daughters, Gladys (Mrs. Beverley Owen) residing in New York City, and Inex (Mrs. Charles Bacon, in Cornwall, Ontario. A younger sister, Mrs. Lucy Kieley, is a resident of Charlottetown.

HALIFAX (CP)—An RCAF plane is rushing to the Arctic to bring back to hospital the seriously ill skipper of the navy's northern patrol vessel Labrador, the navy said last Friday.

The navy said Capt. Owen Robertson was "seriously ill" but did not give details of his illness. A doctor and nurse are aboard the RCAF rescue plane en route from Winnipeg and will decide in consultation with the ship's doctor whether the captain will be landed for hospital care at Churchill or Winnipeg.

Because of weather conditions and the distance involved, the plane will land overnight at Churchill and continue the flight to Southampton Island, at the northern end of Hudson Bay, Saturday. The Labrador is putting in time to land Capt. Robertson.

SAILED PASSAGE
Capt. Robertson, 48, of Montreal and Victoria, has been skipper of the Labrador since she was launched. He took her through the voyage to become the first naval ship to sail the Northwest Passage. The Labrador sailed from Halifax May 28 of this year to continue her northern explorations.

Cmdr. J. M. Leeming of Victoria, who attended the funeral in Charlottetown of the late Msgr. Butler.

Mack Not Told Griffith Dead

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Connie Mack hasn't been told of the death of his longtime friend, Clark Griffith.

Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators baseball club, died on Thursday night after a lengthy illness.

Dr. Allarion Gopadze said a telegram and flowers had been sent to the Griffith family in Mack's name but it was not considered advisable to break the news of Griffith's death to the new owners until he has completely recovered from the effects of a hip fracture he suffered Oct. 1.

Gopadze said the Mack family believes the 92-year-old veteran baseball figure, if told, would insist on attending Griffith's funeral and that he is not physically able to make the journey.

Predicts Better Lauzon Yard

LAUZON, Que., (CP)—President R. Lowery of David Shipbuilding Ltd., said Saturday "one of the finest laid-out and equipped shipyards in the world" will emerge from the ashes of the fire-swept section of the big St. Lawrence river south shore ship-construction plant.

In prepared statement, Mr. Lowery gave no estimate of the damage beyond saying it is "undoubtedly extensive and the company's loss will be considerable."

However, he said, a large section of the shipyard is "entirely undamaged."

The statement did not list the shops and stores which were destroyed in the fast-spreading blaze that broke out Thursday night and covered an area of one-quarter mile long by 500 feet deep.
