Richard Adds To 4 Records With Every Goal Or Assist

By W.R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice Ro(cket) Richard, who holds the record for most goals in a Stanley Cup game and has just tied the record for assists, adds to four more of his records every time he figures in a scoring play.

Two of these countinuing records for Montreal Canadiens brilliant right-winger are for playoff games alone; two are for regular-season National Hockey League games plus playoffs.

Richard's five goals in a single cup game have stood as a record since March 23, 1944, when he scored all Montreal goals in a 5-1 defeat of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Toe Blake, now Canadiens' coach assisted on each goal for a record five assists. Tuesday night, when Canadiens defeated New York Rangers 7-0 and took the semi final series 4-1, Richard equalled the assist mark.

The Rocket now has scored 60 goals in Stanley Cup competition. He added three in the series with New York to the record 57 he already held. He has played in 11 cup series in his 14 seasons of campaigning.

POINTS AT 92

With 10 points—on three goals and seven assists — against the Rangers, Richard has run his record string of total points to 92, made up of 60 goals and 32 assists.

Starting this season, Richard had amassed 479 goals—a record—in regular-season games and playoffs. He scored 38 goals in the NHL campaign and three against Rangers, ringing his grand total to 520.

In the same way, he has pushed his total points to 888 from his former record of 807. He had 71 points in the regular season, on 38 goals and 33 assists, and 10 more in the Ranger series.

Only one of the Rocket's present teammates is in the record class for Stanley Cup play. Captain Butch Bouchard, veteran defenceman who is about to retire after 15 seasons, has played in 112 playoff games in 13 series. He sat on the bench throughout the Ranger series and so failed to add to his record. Richard has played in 96 cup games.

Sir;— Possibly I am being a very poor sport by writing this better but I feel that an injustice has been done and I intend to say so.

Last night the Boston Bruins and the Saint John Beavers, sponsored by the Summerside Lions Club, played an exhibition game before a very large crowd. When a Club goes to the trouble of bringing in a big league team like the Boston Bruins, it is certainly good to see a capacity crowd. Prince Edward Islanders will drive quite a distance to see a game like this. It is a chance that doesn't come very often.

However, someone should tell the Lions Club and the managers of the Summerside Stadium what "reserve" means. I presume that a ticket, if marked "reserve", to quote from Webster's dictionary should mean "to set aside or apart to keep - to secure by stipulation as reserve seats".

Speaking for our party alone (I have no idea how many others were in the same position) seven of us took the words "reserve tickets" literally, paid $2.25 each for a total of $15.75, and drove to Summerside for the big game, thrilled by the idea of seeing the Boston Bruins in action.

It was quite a shock to discover, when we arrived at the Stadium, to find that a "reserve" ticket apparently did not mean very much. We were told when we entered "center ice, either side". That was fine — we proceeded from one usher to another along the side to be met with a slightly indifferent shrug and a rather cold look and a "sorry, as you can see there's no room".

After protesting in vain that we had "reserve" tickets we were told finally "well, its against the rules but I guess you can sit on the stairs. After all, you've got "reserve tickets." So we sat on the stairs and for $2.25 saw the game from well at one end of the rink with people walking and climbing all over us between every period. Reserve ticket, what a laugh.

The next time you sponsor an event like this, you will probably again send "reserve" tickets to Charlottetown to be sold but you might find you can make suckers of people once but they'll learn. After all, why should we buy "reserve" tickets. All we have to do is buy the cheaper ones, go early and sit in the "reserve" section and when those who did buy the "reserve" tickets come along, the ushers can tell them, "well, its against the rules but I guess you can sit on the stairs. After all, you've got "reserve" tickets.

I am, Sir, etc.,

Grand Falls Andcos Defeat Summerside Aces At Stadium

The Grand Falls Andcos defeated the Summerside Aces in an exhibition game at Civic Stadium last night by the score of 9-6. The Newfoundland boys had a considerable margin on the play but James, their own spare goaler who was in the Summerside nets did a spectacular job of keeping his mates from piling up the score.

The Aces played well, however, and most of their goals were the result of pretty passing plays. Grand Falls, all Newfoundland boys except three from Nova Scotia one from Ontario, and one veteran from Quebec, show the careful coaching of Charlottetown's Bucko Trainor, and their smooth two and three-man attacks were worth watching.

The game was 4-3 in their favor at the end of the first period, 7-4 when the middle session concluded, and the teams shot a brace each in the final canto.

AFTER 27 MINS. OVERTIME

Allie Carver's Goal Gives Parkdale Flyers 6-5 Win

After 27 minutes and 51 seconds of overtime hockey Parkdale's playing coach Allie Carver took brother skip'd pass and raced the length of the ice to blink the light behind S.D.U. goaltender Wilf Gillis to give his Flyers a 6-5 victory over St. Dunstan's University in the opening game of the Island Senior League best-of-seven finals at the Sports Arena last night.

The goal was Allie's second of the night and came after 17 minutes and 51 seconds of the sudden-death overtime period forced when Jean Veilleux tied the score at 5-5 at 16.44 of the third period and the two squads battled through a score less 10-minute overtime period.

Parkdale had to come from behind to register their win. The Saints got the only goal of the first period and picked up another late in the second before Parkdale began to roll. The Flyers shot two markers in the last three minutes of the second and took a 3-2 lead at the 39 second mark of the third. Saints tied it up and went one ahead but Parkdale scored two quick ones to take a 5-4 lead and set the stage for Veilleux' tying goal.

Skip Carver matched his coach with two goals and Kip Ready and Willie Dunn got the others.

Ray Gionet was one of the best men on the ice all night for S.D.U. and also, shot two goals. Jack MacDonald, Miner MacDonald and Veilleux got the others.

Ten minor penalties were called by referees Moe Goodwin and Art Perry, six going to the Saints. All penalties were called in the regulation time, none whatever were assessed in the overtime periods.

BIG CROWD

A big crowd of over 1,800 fans saw a long and fast game in which opposing goaltenders Frank Roper of Parkdale and Gillis of S.D.U. played major rolls in keeping the score down to 6-5. Gillis was spectacular in the first three periods but Roper saved his acrobatics for the second overtime frame when he saved the Flyers from a beating as he kicked away 15 drives. In all Roper stopped 40 shots while Gillis handled 38.

Ray Gionet gave Saints a 1-0 lead at 3.26 of the first period when he slapped in Roy's passout. But that was all the scoring for the next 34 minutes when Gionet connected again as Roy sent him right in on Roper with a dinky pass through the Parkdale defense.

Parkdale answered that one quickly and before the period ended had the score tied. At 17.46 Skip Carver whipped home a shot from just inside the blueline and with one second left in the period Bob Hu set up Allie Carver on a neat pass.

PARKDALE TAKE LEAD

Parkdale went in front 3-2 at 39 seconds of the third period when Kip Ready caught the twine on a low screen shot from the blueline that Gillis Didn't see until it was behind him.

The Saints tied it up again when Jack MacDonald batted in Buck Davey's nifty pass and at 12.02 the Saints went out in front 4-3 on Miner MacDonald's effort.

A little more than a minute and a half later Skip Carver notched things tight again when he batted in a puck from a scramble around the corner of the Saints net and it looked to be all but over at 15.03 when Willie Dunn raced down the right side, faked a shot to pull the defense out of position and picked the short side. But Jean Veilleux got his stick on a loose puck in front of the Saints cage and sent the game into overtime.

CHIT-CHAT — Barry Moore, Parkdale's playing manager, turned in a really solid game on the defense ..... He narrowly missed his first goal of the year in the first period when he bounced one off the post....Saints had a little tough luck of their own around the net....Davey smacked one of the iron upright himself in the first few seconds of the 10-minute overtime session and in the third period Rodney MacInnis whizzed a shot that looked like a goal but caught the top part of the handle on Roper's stick.....Junior MacLeod has seldom carried the puck any better than he did last night..... Three times he went right around the Saints defense but couldn't get the puck behind Gillis..... Both teams were dead tired but not for an instant did they stop giving everything they had to offer.....Buck Davey and team mate Jack MacDonald collided in the early minutes of the 10-minute overtime period and fell heavily to the ice....MacDonald got up after a couple of minutes but Davey had to be helped off the ice.....However it was found that he wasn't seriously hurt..... The Saints missed him in the remaining minutes of the game..... Next game is slated for Tuesday night and if there is not at least 2,000 people in the Arena it will be quite a surprise.

CARS ON OUR Line

by Earle MacLeod

Like many things, long-distance motor races had a pretty outlandish start. The car race some experts have called the toughest sports contest of all time began at New York City in 1908.

Six cars started out on a race over 13,000 miles of land and 8,000 miles of water (this part of it on ships). They were in a race westward from New York to Paris.

This was, don't forget, in 1908 and you can imagine the kind of roads they had to use. They drove across the U. S., Japan, Manchuria, Siberia, Russia, Poland, Germany and France, fighting blizzards, failures, fallen bridges, deserts and tundra.

The three French cars never did finish. More than five months after it set out, the German car reached Paris. Four days later, the American car arrived, and the Italians came in six weeks after that.

But the Germans had been given a 15-day penalty for breaking the rules, and the Americans a 15-day credit for observing them, so the Americans were declared the winners. The toughest of all races had taken them 168 days.

Such toughness was unusual in those days, but toughness is a byword of today's highly competitive car manufacturing. Durability is built into today's cars and you'll find the pick of them set out on our lot. That's the secret of buying a used car, to get the quality the maker first put into it, at a knock-down price. And that, you'll find, is what we have

See these cars on the lot today:—
