Rescue Ship's Captain Tells Of Dramatic Moves

Editor's Note: The Associated Press radioed Capt. Raoul de Beaudan, master of the Ile de France, for an account of the rescue operation after the collision of the liners Andrea Doria and the Stockholm. This is his story.

By Capt. Raoul de Beaudan, Master of the Ile de France ABORD SS ILE DE FRANCE, Via Radio (AP)—Received 808 from Andrea Doria at 10:30 p.m. as we were passing six miles south of Nantucket in a dense fog that had set in a half hour earlier. Could not see the bow from the bridge.

Immediately began trying to contact the ship for more details. Message simply said she needed assistance. We messaged we would be able to reach her in two hours.

We asked if she was sinking but received no answer. From this time on she was using her emergency apparatus. It was too far to hear anything direct, but listening to other ships, I knew she was sinking in 1,500 aboard.

Despite fog, we rushed at 23 knots speed to the spot.

PRAISES CREWS

The SS Cape Ann and another ship had already arrived. One had two lifeboats and the other eight, which would not be enough. The Stockholm messaged that she was sending some, although badly damaged herself, and might need lifeboats herself.

I gave an intense mental prayer for a clearing of the fog.

In truth the fog did start lifting and there was the Doria, quickly identifiable by her stern list.

Ten of our lifeboats were lowered in five minutes and headed for the ship, 500 yards away. The crew of the boats showed magnificent discipline and courage.

LIKE WAR YEARS

Orders were given from our ship by loudspeaker.

We picked up about 760 persons many half naked, some injured, some mourning their dead.

All our doctors, nurses and aides were splendid in providing hospital facilities.

An American vessel was towing a French motorboat which had a fouled propeller. Altogether it was like being back in the war years. I am now rushing back to New York.

How shall I regain my schedule? but what's that compared to 760 lives.

land planning to be home about the end of July.

Mrs. Margaret Mooney after a long absence was here for a short weekend visit with her brother on the old homestead. Mrs. Mooney, the former Margaret Dunphy, saw a few of her old class who remained around here now. Mrs. Mooney left on Sunday evening. After a short stay with friends along the route home she will arrive in Boston early in the week.

Mr. Joe Kelly, Bangor district, has returned from his seventeenth visit to the St. Ann Shrine, seventeen years regular with out a break. Another regular visitor making the trip was Mr. Peter MacDonald who has visited the shrine for twenty seven years with out a break. It is his sole vacation.

BRISTOL

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clifford and two children of Watertown, Mass., arrived Thursday evening for a brief visit with Mrs. Clifford's uncle, Mr. Peter Dunphy, and their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Walter O'Brien. They motored through Saint Anne de Beauspre where they met Mrs. O'Brien and decided to visit the island for a few days. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clifford were born in Boston. They were here once before and liked it so much they decided to come again. They left Sunday afternoon for the main-

119th Anniversary Services At Georgetown

St. David's United Church, Georgetown, held its 119th Anniversary services on Sunday, July 22nd.

The weather was perfect; members, friends, and many out-of-town visitors flocked to both morning and evening services. Beautiful roses decked the communion table and the fragrant flowers filled the air. The guest preacher at both services was the Reverend E.V. Forbes, MA, D.D. of Antigonish, Nova Scotia, a past president of the Maritime Conference. Rev. Forbes spoke most convincingly of the necessity for unceasing labour as fellow-workers with God. He urged his hearers never to believe that evil was dead; nor on the other hand, to lose faith in the efficacy of good works and the need for constant striving toward the spiritual life. The Rev. W.A. Paterson assisted Rev. Forbes at both services.

During the morning offertory special presentations were made to the Church by the W.A., the W.M.S., and Y.P.U.

Mrs. Mutch and Mrs. McRae of Cherry Valley rendered two lovely choruses, 'The Love of God' and 'The Beautiful City'. At the evening service, Mr. Stanley Lancaster of Trinity Church, Charlottetown sang two selections: 'The Blind Ploughman' and 'The Church Bells of England'. The congregational singing was led by St. David's choir; the organist for the day was Mrs. Edward Easton. CK
