FUNERAL YESTERDAY.—The funeral of the late Lewis Dyan was held yesterday afternoon with service at Trinity United Church, Summerside, at 2:30 p. m. The service was conducted by the Rev. C. Daniel Matheson. Pallbearers were Messrs. E. P. Foley, F. E. Ellis, James Hunter, Ralph Dods, A. England and Frank Platts. Interment was in the People's Cemetery, Summerside.

RETURNED FROM CORONATION.—Mr. Reginald Ramsay of Conway returned on Saturday morning from London, England. Mr. Ramsay had the great privilege of viewing at first hand the solemn spectacles of the present century—the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth. It is said the only affair of its kind comparable was the "Field of the Cloth of Gold," in mediaeval times staged by the reigning French king, Francis I, to entertain King Henry VIII of England in 1520.

Official Announcement Re Change At S'side Station

OTTAWA, (CP)—The RCAF announced Wednesday that No. 1 Air Navigation School is being shifted from Summerside, P. E. I., to Winnipeg next October. There it will amalgamate with No. 2 ANS so that navigation training can be centralized at one base. An advanced school at Summerside, called the Central Navigation School, will also move to Winnipeg later. The Summerside base will be taken over by the Maritime Operational Training Unit and No. 103 R C A F rescue unit, both now at Greenwood, N. S. The OTU trains crews in anti-submarine and coastal patrols. Greenwood will continue to be used by two Maritime squadrons. Summerside's over-all manpower strength won't be lowered by the moves, the RCAF said, but there will be fewer planes using the base. Group Capt. A. G. Kenyon of Toronto will continue as Summerside station commander.

Address and Presentation

On June 12, many friends and neighbors of Freetown and surrounding districts, also a large representation of the Canadian Legion from Kensington assembled in the Freetown hall to honor and welcome back Gnr. George R. Hill, off duty from Korea and to say farewell to Gnr. Hill, his wife and family who will be leaving shortly for Winnipeg where the former will be stationed. Allison Proffitt acted as chairman. Delightful music and entertainment was carried out, at the close of which Gnr. and Mrs. Hill were called to the platform. Walter Stewart read an address from the community and Allan Clow presented them with a set of twin luggage. An address was read by Rev. Mr. Campbell of Long River on behalf of the branch of the Canadian Legion, Kensington, who presented George with a billfold. Presentation was made by Mr. MacKinnon, president of the Legion at Kensington.

Following are the addresses: To Comrade George Hill: The members of Kensington Branch No. 9 of the Canadian Legion, have great pleasure in welcoming you home after your tour of duty in Korea. Your father, a veteran of the last World War and one of the first members of our branch of the Legion, has always set a good example to his fellow members and we are glad that you, his son, are taking his place in faithful service to Queen and country. In Korea you have known many hardships and dangers and could tell of many experiences in the war that the United Nations fight for man's freedom and true brotherhood. We believe that the cause is a just one, and that men and women everywhere owe a great deal to the soldiers, sailors and airmen who have served their term in Korea. Our very best wishes are for yourself and Mrs. Hill and family. We ask you to accept this small gift as a remembrance from the Legion. Signed, Sec. W. L. Millar, Pres. M. J. MacKinnon.

Gnr. George Hill, Freetown, P. E. I. Dear George: We, your friends and neighbors of Freetown and vicinity are gathered here tonight to welcome you home after your four years of service in the Canadian army, including one year of that time in Korea. We are proud of our boys, who are willing to volunteer to fight for their country, and we do realize what a sacrifice you are making in leaving your loved ones to go to strange lands to fight and protect us here at home. We know that you have spent many hours in suffering and loneliness, also doing without the comforts of life which we enjoy here at home. We are happy that you have been spared to return to your loved ones and we can understand how truly grateful they must be to have you return safely. We regret that you will be stationed so far from your home province, but nevertheless we are happy for you, that you will have the consolation of having your family near you. In conclusion, please accept this gift in appreciation of your service to your country from your friends and neighbors of Freetown and vicinity. May God bless and protect you wherever you may be. Your friends and neighbors of Freetown and vicinity. June 12, 1953.

To Attend Continued from page 1 and Chief Superintendent of Education Herman New Brunswick who noted that Mr. Elliott is particularly qualified, having had extensive experience in administrative duties and in work with young people. Mr. Ambrose Gilmet, of the staff of St. Francis Xavier University and also an official of the Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety Department in Nova Scotia, will be the recreation leader and swimming instructor, while Mr. J. L. Embree, an industrial arts teacher in Halifax schools, is to be the Centre's Director of Industrial Arts.

The assistant national director of the Junior Red Cross, Miss Kathleen Herman, Toronto, will be on the staff to represent the national office of the Society, and it is expected that the national director of Junior Red Cross, Dr. Muriel Richardson, will be present for a few days. Miss Marie Bowness, director of Junior Red Cross in Prince Edward Island, will be among the discussion group leaders.

After Russian troops cleared the centre of East Berlin, Prime Minister Crotowohl issued a statement blaming the revolt on "provocateurs and Fascist agents of foreign powers and their helpers from German capitalistic monopolies. The French, British and United States commandants replied in a communique that "neither the Allied authorities nor the West Berlin authorities have in any manner whatsoever, either directly or indirectly, incited or fostered such demonstrations."

Thousands of West Berliners assembled Wednesday night at Oranienplatz, near the Russian sector border, in a rally of sympathy for embattled eastern workers. The fight against Red dictatorship erupted at 8 a.m. as the first long columns of demonstrators from Sovietized plants and factories reached the government quarter. The Russians gained control at 1 p.m. For hours in the morning, Communist police broke up phalanxes of workers with club charges and ramming trucks. But more thousands pressed forward. Soviet armor, followed by truck-borne infantry, stabbed into the heart of the riots as the police faltered.

Russian Gunfire Near Potsdamer Platz. Russian tommy-guns fired sporadically for more than 60 minutes. At least 20 civilians were wounded in this show of force, although the Soviet troops were reported ordered to fire over the head of an angry crowd jamming Leipzigerstrasse. The approaches to the government headquarters cracked with Russian gunfire at noon. At Potsdamer Platz, anti-Communists jammed wooden sticks into the muzzle of a Soviet tank and hurled stones at the tracks of others. The Soviet armoured crews sprayed the big square with machine-gun fire.

Let's Talk It Over by "A" During the course of a year, we have a number of "weeks," such as "Fire Prevention Week," "Education Week," "Fish Week," etc. The week now coming up would seem to be an ideal one to call "Water-Safety Week." There are usually a few days at the end of the school year when examinations are pretty well over, and with June's greenery on display outside the windows, it becomes a bit difficult to keep students interested in the final duties of the dying school year.

A considerable portion of this time could be profitably filled up with instruction and exercises having to do with a "Water-Safety Week." Many of the children who depart with understandable alacrity from their school desks will spend a considerable part of their time during the following seven or eight weeks at the shore. They could be instructed in the discretions that are the better part of valor at the bathing beaches. Drills in artificial respiration could be a part of the program, and also some interesting things to look for on outdoor excursions. This might add a fillip to the other subjects up for discussion.

Lives might be saved this way. A great deal of credit must be given to those who have initiated the "Swimming and Water-Safety" program in Prince Edward Island, and those who take such a course can hardly help but benefit from it. The champagne to launch this safety ship each summer might well be a "Water-Safety Week" in the last days of the school year.

Sudden Death Of Mrs. John McAlduff The death of Mrs. John McAlduff of Alberton occurred suddenly Wednesday morning in the Western Hospital. She was only twenty-four years of age. The former Stella Gerard of St. Louis, she was married eight years ago to John McAlduff of Alberton. Besides her husband she is survived by three little daughters, Marlene, aged five; Delores, aged three and Aldona, aged one and a half years. Also surviving are her mother, Mrs. Levi Arsenault of St. Louis, two sisters, Mrs. Dugald Wedge of Summerside and Mrs. Frank Richard of Tignish, and two brothers, Edgar Gerard in Toronto and Francis Gerard of St. Louis. The funeral will be held Friday morning from the Sacred Heart Church, Alberton.

Obesity Most Common Form Of Malnutrition OTTAWA, (CP)—Two nutrition experts told the Canadian Dietetic Association convention Wednesday that obesity is the most common form of malnutrition in North America. Dr. E. Gordon Young, director of the Maritime Regional Laboratory, National Research Council, Halifax, estimated that a fifth of the Canadian population over the age of 30 is too heavy. That would be about 1,250,000 people of whom 420,000 would be classified as obese. Dr. Rachel Beaudoin, director of the Institute of Dietetics and Nutrition, University of Montreal, said that obesity is endangering a quarter of the American population. She said she had difficulty obtaining research information about fat people because they tend to be secretive about eating habits. In a survey on 150 obese women and 150 of normal weight she discovered the popular idea that fat people crave carbohydrates, that is, starches, sugar, candies and sweet desserts. It is merely that they eat more than normal people. The difficulty is to convince them that overeating is the cause of excessive weight. She found that the blood sugar of these people was very unstable and suggested that fast return to pre-meal level might account for their compulsion to overeat. Dr. Beaudoin stressed the importance of a balanced protein diet, well distributed into three meals, which would curb the

Marital Law

Continued from page 1 of Germany. Stunt Backfires The demonstrations broke out after a Communist peace offensive stunt backfired. A Communist-run parade of 5,000 workers on Tuesday, gently demanding lighter work schedules already promised by the government, set the stage for the unorganized outburst Wednesday. Twenty Soviet T-34 heavy tanks, a field artillery battery, armored cars and nearly 3,000 armored and motorized infantry finally broke up the day's big rioting after 10,000 Communist East German police, including militarized units, had failed to halt the uprising. Orders by Maj.-Gen. P. T. DiBrova of the Soviet command turned East Berlin into an armed camp Wednesday night. All citizens were ordered off the streets between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m. Assemblies of more than three persons were banned. Russian military courts were empowered to try offenders.

Talk Tough, But Frightened The East German government was talking tough, but it is bound to be frightened stiff. Fifty thousand workers don't riot every day, tear down Red flags, spit on Communist ways and demand freedom. Only Russian troops and tanks could stop the riot and that meant the puppet regime has lost the confidence of Soviet authorities. The government was reported on the verge of a drastic shakeup. Its ministers covered behind steel barricades Wednesday as column after column of marching workers tried to storm the government headquarters at the intersection of Wilhelmstrasse and Leipzigerstrasse, once Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe centre. Otto Nuschke, deputy prime minister and leading Christian Democratic collaborator with the Reds, was seized by eastern rioters and shoved into West Berlin in his government car. He said the rioters punched and kicked him before West Berlin police were able to come to his rescue. He asked to be returned to East Berlin.

Results of Golf Matches At S'side

The result of the mixed two ball foursome competitions which marked the official opening of the Summerside Golf and Country Club yesterday was: Low net, won by Bob Wolaver and Blanche Hogg. Low gross honors were taken by Robert Holman and Nettie MacLeod. Special prize for high score was won by Beth Hogg and Jim Harris. The sealed hole competition was won by Irene Silliphant and Norman MacLeod. More competitions are planned for Wednesday of next week for the local club. After the close of the contests yesterday a bean supper was put on by the ladies of the club.—S.

Growers Advised Re Spray Operations

Early in the season the sprayer should be checked and put into proper working condition and the spray program should be studied in order that disease and insect pests can be combated successfully as they appear through the summer. states the Weekly Potato Bulletin issued by the Science Service Laboratory. Early maturing varieties like the Cobbler usually require from four to six sprays; late maturing varieties like Green Mountain need six to 10 applications, the actual number depending on the season. For sprays use 2 pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder, or 1 quart of 25 per cent DDT emulsion to 100 gallons of a copper type spray such as 10-5-100 Bordeaux or a commercial neutral copper fungicide. A carbamate at manufacturers' directions can be substituted for the copper spray, but it must be applied every 5 or 6 days when late blight is rampant. From 100 to 125 gallons of spray need to be applied per acre using up to 400 pounds pressure. As a dust use a material containing 5 per cent DDT and 7 per cent copper at the rate of 30 to 40 pounds per acre. It is usually advisable to make more treatments when dusts rather than sprays are used to control insects and the blights. Dusts are applied preferably when the plants are moist and when there is no wind.

BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED

A shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Noonan O'Leary, June 11, in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Evelyn Gay of Knutsford. The rooms were tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers. The bride-to-be was escorted to a decorated seat of honor by her friend, Miss Bessie Dennis, while the Lohengrins Bridal chorus was played by Mrs. Melvina Ellis. A heavily laden and daintily trimmed basket was filled with gifts carried in by Miss Olive Jelly and Mrs. Albert Noonan, while the bride-to-be in her cheerful manner opened the many and beautiful gifts the accompanying good wishes were read by Olive Jelly and placed by Hester Boates. In a few well chosen words Evelyn thanked all for their gifts. All joined in singing "For she's a jolly good fellow." A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.
