Gov't Must Launch Scheme To Develop Human Resources

The federal government should, and must launch a large scale program to develop human resources, Heath Macquarrie, Queens MP, told Island teachers yesterday.

Mr. Macquarrie spoke at the three-day annual P.E.I. Teachers' Federation at Birchwood High School.

In spite of expanding educational facilities, Canada still lags behind at the university level, he said, and demands for skilled and educated Canadians are rapidly increasing.

Mr. Macquarrie said the problem required urgent attention and "we don't want any ideas of constitutional propriety to stand in the way."

He said the country had arrived at the stage where the federal government could carry out a development program "with complete preservation of provincial autonomy."

GOOD OPPORTUNITY

The new opting out formula, he said, provides an excellent opportunity for federal assistance in education. Funds provided should be large as an indication of the high priority given education.

Mr. Macquarrie called for increased university grants and a special program of assistance for universities of the Atlantic region.

Turning to the national scene, Mr. Macquarrie said the outlook was bright for settling differences between the two major ethnic groups.

He said he was hopeful present differences were "much less acute than they were several months ago."

NOT UNIQUE

He noted that rebellions and movements to break away from Confederation were not new or unique, but had been taking place since the dawn of Confederation.

On the international level, Mr. Macquarrie said the United States had borne immense burdens in taking responsibility in international affairs.

He said he was hopeful the United States would not "abandon the South Vietnamese to the enemy."

Mr. Macquarrie was introduced by Charles Campbell, president of the teachers' federation and thanked by J. Weeks Murphy, first vice-president.

It was noted that the speaker, a former teacher, had been a member of the federation for seven years.

As for declaring himself a leadership candidate—a contest which he is confident he can win—Mr. Hees is said to be adamantly opposed to any public "oust-Diefenbaker" movement.

Sources added, however, that in Mr. Hees' personal view, Mr. Diefenbaker cannot hope to continue much beyond six months.

Religion Should Be Integral Part Of School Curriculum Says Parker

Religion should become an integral part of the school curriculum, Dr. K. A. Parker, superintendent of city schools, said last evening.

Dr. Parker was addressing members of the P.E.I. Teachers' Federation at their annual convention banquet in the Charlottetown Hotel.

Separating the secular and the sacred contradicts the whole purpose of Christian witness, he stated, adding that the whole pattern of daily living in Canada, and in this province in particular, had its origin in the Christian tradition.

He said it was the responsibility of teachers and parents to instruct children in the basic tenets and historical development of the Christian faith.

EMPLOYMENT
Many of the retarded can be made employable and all can enjoy the feeling of filling a useful place in society. "We have made a start," he said, "but there is much to be done — the future holds great possibilities and it is our responsibility to meet the great challenge presented."

At the conclusion of the meeting Premier Shaw commended the association on its work which he said was "nothing short of amazing."

Reg. MacNutt expressed the thanks of the meeting for the work of the retiring officers.

President Paul Hoy urged all to give their enthusiastic support to the "Flowers of Hope" campaign for it is on this association must depend if it is to continue and expand its work. science is aware of only 20 per cent of the causes of retardation.
