Saturday night was the wrap-up to Fall Fest. (Some of us are still trying to remember where we were.) The Band Trazara kept everyone going all night.

Fall Fest 79 went over well; everyone that went out and took part in the events had fun. There was a lot of complaints that Fall Fest came around too soon, but for the amount of time there was, it was planned well.

I'd like to thank Steve Dowling and his C.P.'s who did a good job throughout the three days. Thanks go out to the bartenders who kept pouring us drinks. Also to the guys from Marian who stayed after each event to clean up. Thanks go out to Wendy Birch and Karen MacDonald who ran the pubs; to Grace and Pat who sat down at the S.U. Office and sold advance tickets; to Jackie who I dragged around to help me get things going; also to the people who worked doors the night of each event. And thanks go out to anyone I might have forgotten (which I didn't mean to). I hope Fall Fest was enjoyed by all, and maybe next year it can be bigger and better!
