VALUE OF TOES IN WALKING

The idea that the lesser toes are necessary in walking is generally entertained, and it has been a surprise to European physicians to learn that amputation of all the lesser toes of both feet has been followed by complete recovery and the restoration to usefulness of both the feet after the operation. The feet healed slowly after the operation, but very steadily and without unpleasant complications. The operation was performed, and in a little more than a year and a half the patient danced all night and experienced no inconvenience whatever on account of having only one toe on each foot. She rides a wheel, plays tennis and enjoys every sport that girls of her age are fond of. The cause of the trouble was originally chilblains, which was neglected until it produced contraction of the muscles with the most intense pain, which was at times so severe that she could not enjoy the necessary amount of sleep. Surgeons are of the opinion that a great deal of needless suffering is endured which might be relieved by extremely simple operations on the feet.—New York Ledger.

Not Finding Any Fault.
Sufferer—Doctor, I paid you a dollar to put this porous plaster on my back, didn't I?
Physician—Yes, sir, though of course that included the prescription—
Sufferer—That's all right, doctor. I'm not finding any fault. I'll give you $2 to take it off.—Chicago Tribune.

Headed Off.
"Here," said the philanthropist, "is a dime. Now let me give you a little advice. Never—"
"Hold on!" interrupted Slouchy Simpkins. "Take back your money. My lowest price for listenin to sermons is 50 cents."—Chicago News.

Coughs and colds need not be endured; they can be cured, and that quickly.

Many mixtures are temporary in effect, but Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a permanent remedy.

The oil feeds the blood and warms the body; the hypophosphites tone up the nerves; the glycerine soothes the inflamed throat and lungs.

The combination cures. This may prevent serious lung troubles.

DODGING A SHOT

When Dewey was first lieutenant of one of the gunboats which Farragut used as a dispatch boat the admiral used often to come aboard and steam up near the levee to reconnoiter. The southerners had a way of rushing a field-piece to the top of the high bank, firing point blank at the gunboat and then backing down again. Upon one such occasion Farragut saw Dewey dodge a shot.

"Why don't you stand firm, lieutenant?" said he. "Don't you know you can't jump quick enough?"
A day or so after the admiral dodged a shot. The lieutenant smiled and held his tongue, but the admiral had a guilty conscience. He cleared his throat once or twice, shifted his attitude and finally declared:

"Why, sir, you can't help it, sir. It's human nature, and there's an end to it."

JUST ONE FOR MEMORY

Perhaps there have been moments
In the radiant summer time
When the painter filled his picture
And the poet thrilled his rhyme
With the fluffy summer maiden
In the mountains, by the shore,
That I thought I might be happy
If I never saw her more.

Perhaps there have been moments
In the rosebud month of June
And in other months thereafter
Mostly given up to spoon
That I thought the patient people
Might have framed a mild request
Asking if the papers wouldn't
Give the summer girl a rest.

Perhaps there have been moments
When I've seen her everywhere—
Walking, riding, driving, flirting,
Always drawing to a pair,
Flitting all the livelong summer
On an ever restless wing—
That I've wished the summer girl had
Caught a husband in the spring.

Perhaps there have been moments—
"Ah, peccavi!" hear me cry
As I stand today repentant
Underneath a cold, gray sky,
Standing in the freezing shadows,
Once perhaps, not now, a churl,
Praying for a winter vision
Of the fluffy summer girl.

A General Proposition.
Wickwire (looking at board with "Pity the Blind" on it)—You are no more blind than I am.

Dismal Dawson—Well, what's it to you?
Wickwire—What business have you wearing that card?
Dismal Dawson—Not as much fight as anybody. I don't say I'm blind. This here is just an abstract proposition. See?
—London Tit-Bits.

In a Wet Season.
"I see," the editor said, "that you have rhymed 'again' with 'rain.'"
"Yes, sir," the office poet assented.
"Well, it doesn't go. It may be all right in the weather report, but you are hired as a poet."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Smoke as They Wash.
Cigarette smoking is a common practice among the colored washerwomen of New Orleans. They lean over the tub and make a quaint picture as the smoke rolls from their lips.—Nebraska State Journal.

The Stooing Man.

—May be short or tall, but his curving back requires the loose-fitting Sack coat, full and wide at nape of neck, but rolling high and short over chest, which should thus be accented to offset back.

The special shape of "Fit reform" Sack suit, made for such men, is cut longer in front, and shorter in back, so as to seem of even length at bottom, when worn, concealing the stoop, and rendering the chest more prominent to the eye, thus producing the effect of more erect appearance.

Quiet colorings, and indefinite patterns, should be chosen, stripes or plaids of conspicuous design being carefully avoided.

Clouse-fitting coats as "Morning," "Shooting," or "Frock" are undesirable, as they reveal broadly the curving back, by following too closely the waist line.

Blue Flame Oil Stoves

SAFE AND DURABLE. 2 or 3 Burners.

Burns with a clear blue flame, without smoke, and a heat of the greatest intensity. Burners are brass, and so made that they can be replaced in a few minutes as in an ordinary lamp. Wicks are 10 inches in circumference and should last one year.
Patent Wick Adjustment keeps the wicks from being turned too high or too low.
Oil Tanks situated away from burners, connected thereto with small tubes; the oil is thus continually cool and prevents odor. Frames and Tops are made of steel and cannot be broken. No perforated plates or braces surround the burners to retain any char or oil sootage, thus preventing odor.
