United Appeal Fund Decided At Meeting

A Prince Edward Island United Appeal Fund will be formed on a province-wide basis, it was decided at the final organizational meeting for the United Appeal held at City Hall last night.

"If we never try it, we are never going to know," said Mayor A. Walthen Gaudet, commenting on the often heard question "How do you know if it's going to work?" he emphasized that this was a complete and utter experiment, but it had worked in other places, and people here were weary of a "multitude of campaigns".

Archibald Jackson, executive director of the Halifax-Dartmouth United Appeal, present to answer questions as to the working of the organization, said that in any community not organized for welfare purposes there are many discrepancies in fund raising. This is caused by the different abilities of organizations to procure funds, he said, and is eliminated under the budgeting processes of United Appeal.

Russell Selzer, chairman of the local organizing group, outlined the history of the development of United Appeal thus far. He was appointed as executive director for the organization for the interim between the dissolving of the "steering committee" and the assumption of duties by the board of directors.

The constitution, read by Mayor Gaudet, was adopted with two amendments.

The nominating committee presented names of 21 persons to serve on the board of directors as representatives of the general public. This includes seven representatives from Prince County, 10 from Queens, and four from Kings.

The nine representatives from member organizations will be chosen after these bodies meet to decide whether or not they will join the United Fund. A copy of the agreement to be signed and of the constitution will go out to all these organizations within a week.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Selzer for his efforts in organizing the United Fund.

Between 50 and 60 people, including representatives from 15 welfare organizations attended the meeting.

Names presented by the nominating committee were: Prince County - Mrs. Lloyd Wilkie, Alberton; Urie Poirier, Wellington; Charles Linkletter, Summerside; Mrs. George Olscamp, Kensington; Ralph McCarville, Carleton; and a senior RCAF officer representing Stemon Park, and to be appointed by the commanding officer.

Queens County - A.D. Cameron, F.W. Curtis, T.D. DeBlouis, Dr. L.P. Duffy, R.W. Manning, Dr. J.A. MacMillan, A.G. MacMillan and J.M. MacAuliffe, all of Charlottetown.

Kings County - Mrs. C.H. Horton, Murray River; John Hughes and A.W. Jones, Montague; and James Jay, Morell.

IT HAS been confirmed by the MP for Prince County that plans are completed for expansion of fisheries facilities at Queen's Wharf, including the amalgamation of three Prince County firms. The plan to show part of the area that will be filled in between the shore and breakwater that will run eastward from the factory of Arsenault and Desjardins, in background, to Holman's Wharf by the federal department of public works.

Amalgamation Discussed For Prince Co. Fish Plants

By ROY TURNER
Summerside Bureau Staff Writer

Amalgamation of three fisheries firms in Prince County which will result in enlarged and much improved facilities at Queen's Wharf, Summerside is in the discussion stage, Dr. O.H. Phillips, MP, for Prince, confirmed yesterday. He declined to name the firms involved.

It was also learned the department of public works has agreed to fill in the sea front between Queen's Wharf and Holman's Wharf into the shore line and construct a retaining wall.

Dr. Phillips said plans for the project have been completed and the work approved in principle. However the federal estimates must be tabled before the work is commenced sometime this year.

The federal member pointed out the expanded firm will be able to construct larger and better facilities for the fish processing plant, consequently improving the standard required for the "Canada inspected" label to be affixed to their products.

The larger plant would also enable the fishery firm to operate for a longer period each year, utilizing the catch from both lobster seasons and by trucking lobsters and canning them under proper conditions.

The firm of Arsenault and Desjardins is located near the outer end of Queen's Wharf and will naturally be one of the three firms involved and whose present facilities will be enlarged.

When the sea front is filled in it will greatly enlarge the present wharf facilities, which are inadequate, providing plenty of space for the movement of trucks and transports.

It's understood that one of the many new features of the enlarged plant will be a ice-making machine of large capacity, which will automatically deliver ice to a refrigerated storage room for fresh fish.

The Prince MP said that he is going to the Island on Sunday for a few days before returning to Ottawa. On Monday night he will be the main speaker at the annual meeting of the Summerside Board of Trade.

Malpeque Man Loses Tractor, Sled

SUMMERSIDE — A sudden plunge into 15 feet of icy water could have ended in tragedy for Charles Taylor, of Malpeque, but for the quick action of his son Earle and Kenneth Owen, who dragged him to safety.

The trio were crossing Malpeque Bay Wednesday morning on a tractor with bob-sled attached behind, on their way to Curlew Island where Mr. Taylor has a lease on a wood lot when the tractor and sled went through a section of thin ice, bringing Mr. Taylor who was driving, down with it.

Seeing the impending danger, Earle and Mr. Owen were able to leap from the sled to safety and then assist the elder Taylor from the numbing water.

P.E.I. Limestone Quality Studied

Further surveys are needed to determine the quality and extent of the limestone deposits at Spring Valley, it was learned from Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae.

It has been found, he explained, that in some parts of the deposits the limestone is of poor quality although the color of the material is much the same, and this necessitates further probing.

The federal department of mines and technical surveys will do the work, and they are expected to put necessary equipment on the spot next spring or in early summer, it was learned.

More Entries From Rural Areas Is Hope Of Festival

Mrs. W. J. Rodd, chairman of the Prince Edward Island Music Festival's scholarship committee, said recently that the appointment of Christopher Glehill as director of music for the province should result in an increased number of rural entries in the Musical Festival this year.

Mr. Glehill was appointed to the post by the provincial government last fall after the need for such a person was brought to its attention. The matter was brought to the attention of the Musical Festival Association by Royston Mugford, AROO, who pointed out that the appointment of a director of music was necessary if the P.E.I. Musical Festival was to offer the same benefits as festivals in the other provinces of Canada.

Mrs. Rodd also urged all those participating in this year's festival to study carefully the rules and regulations of the festival as well as the requirements for scholarships, so that participants will have a clear knowledge of what is required to be an award winner.

She said "the aim of the scholarship committee is to inspire interest in music and we are looking forward to as many, if not more, entries than last year. We hope that all will listen to the helpful and constructive criticism of our adjudicators."

S'ide Man Fined For Cutting Ice

SUMMERSIDE — The misdemeanor of cutting holes in the ice at the public landing located at Summerside East cost Ray Sauve of Summerside a nominal fine of $100 after he changed his plea in police court yesterday to one of guilty.

Sauve said he was changing his plea as "I found I was in the wrong."

Chief of Police Peter White stated a town's employee reported the ice-cutting project which Sauve said was to keep cars off the harbour ice as they were interfering with smelt fishing. The chief stated the employee asked Sauve to stop cutting the holes and he refused.

The employee, Robert Phillips, reported the incident to the chief who went to the scene and found Sauve to be uncooperative, he stated. The chief said he had to threaten him with arrest if he didn't stop his actions before accused relented and gave up.

Accused stated in court Tuesday that he was within his rights and that the landing was not within the jurisdiction of the town police. However he has since learned differently. He was given a reprimand as well as the nominal fine.

Sauve is a native of Ontario and stated he had been in Summerside for three years. He said his livelihood depends on smelt fishing as he does not draw unemployment insurance.
