DOROTHY DIX'S COLUMN

Advertising For Companion

Widow Should Screen All Applicants Carefully

DEAR MISS DIX: Five years ago I lost my dear husband, and have lived a very lonely life since. I live alone, and now my funds are growing smaller so I shall be forced to sell my small cottage. I am desperately lonely, having no near relatives. I'd like to find a middle-aged woman who has the means to share the expenses of a project with fine results.

ANSWER: There are so many lonely people in your age group that every community should sponsor some movement to get them together. All they ask is companionship; surely churches, civic organizations or allied groups could work on such a project with fine results.

YOU SHOULD SUCCEED: Opening your home to a stranger is a project requiring the utmost in careful selection, but since there are so many women seeking just such an arrangement, you should have no difficulty in finding the right person.

DEAR MISS DIX: Mine is the same old story. We had to get married and now have two girls, aged 2 years and 6 months. I am 27, my husband is 38. He says he wants a divorce to marry someone he knew before our marriage.

Consult a representative of the Family Service Association of America, who can be located through your telephone directory. If you are forced into a divorce, make sure your legal rights are protected.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a very nice home, and I am a very nice person. I am a widow, and I am looking for a companion. I am 45 years old, and I have two children. I am a very nice person, and I am looking for a companion.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a very nice home, and I am a very nice person. I am a widow, and I am looking for a companion. I am 45 years old, and I have two children. I am a very nice person, and I am looking for a companion.

ELLEN'S DIARY

By an Island Farmer's Wife

It comes to mind that this year granddaughters will have good cause to be proud of her anniversary of birth in that it has been the date chosen by Queen Elizabeth II for the celebration of hers.

Four men, four children and two cooks staffed the holdings of the Family this week. The men to make fine progress at the cropping, the children to lend us willing hands and the invaluable support of their smiles and innocent ways, the cooks to fold no idle hands along its days.

Would you see him? A gray-haired man of the farm, slight but deceivably broad, brown-eyed, alert... with the team—Rob's two and one of the mares from "out home," hitched in the old seeder, and they off to sow the very front field of the other farm.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

CORRECTING SPEECH DEFECTS: Some mothers begin to worry when their child is about one year old and hasn't begun to talk. They think of the children of other parents, and perhaps one of their own, who began to talk at 10 or 11 months.

Q. My grandchildren, who range in ages from two to ten, call me by my first name. Is this correct? A. The practice of little children calling grown people by first names is always shocking to good taste. Some "pet name", of course, is quite all right.

Q. Is it proper to write an anonymous letter of protest or criticism to a newspaper or to a columnist? A. This is not only considered ill-bred, but it is a cowardly thing to do. One should always have enough courage in one's convictions to sign the letter.

Q. Should the golf player or his caddy smooth over holes or foot-marks in a bunker? A. The player. The caddy should not enter the bunker.

limit but it would be better if child is studied at 12 months, as the most common cause of speech retardation or delay is mental retardation. Every child who is being studied because of slow speech development should be referred for complete mental development to a psychiatrist or psychologist.

Q. Next most common cause of hearing speech defect is lack of hearing ability. Many parents, while aware of the child's slowness in learning to talk, are not aware that the child also lacks hearing ability. Where there is lack of hearing ability it often happens that this is the cause of an apparent lack of mental ability.

Q. The third speech defect is stuttering and the suggestion is that parents should not try to correct the defect until they have consulted a speech specialist. Stuttering is not caused by a defect in the organs of speech but by "tension" in the child. By teaching him to relax, stuttering may be overcome or corrected.
