She was attended by her sister, Miss Martha King of Amherst, N.S. in a floor length gown of apple green taffeta with white accessories, and wearing a corsage of sweet peas. Show her some of the handsome color pictures in the women's magazine, and perhaps you can arouse an interest in her own home. All you really need is a begin her to an interest in her own home. All you really need is a begin her to an interest in her own home. All you really need is a begin her to an interest in her own home.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young man 24 years of age (feel that my life is being ruined by my being prematurely bald). Formerly I was popular. Could date practically any girl I desired. But now I am left out of everything and the girls I formerly went with have something else to do when I ask them to go out. I have acquired the nickname of "Baldy". I have developed a terrible inferiority complex and am extremely sensitive about the loss of my hair. I feel I am destined to bachelorhood because the type of girl I would want as a wife will not even give me a second glance. How can I adjust myself?

ANSWER: By facing your misfortune with a little common sense instead of a lot of maudlin self-pity. What's the matter with you right now is that you have lost your perspective and that is a lot worse than losing your hair.

In the first place, try to realize that none of our friends love us for our hair. It is what's inside of our heads, not what's outside of them that they care for. If you have lost your friends and are no longer invited out and girls don't want to date you, it is not because your hair has fallen out, but because you have let yourself get morbid and sensitive and suspicious and are no longer agreeable or add anything to the party.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a girl almost 18 should go steady with a boy 19? I like this boy very much but not enough to devote all my time to him. He wants me to stop going out with anyone else.

ANSWER: You'd be very foolish to give up all your other friends for a boy you know you don't love. Teen-age time is the time for making friends and looking around for a future husband. Take advantage of it! Tell your friend firmly but politely that you are willing to continue to go out with him but must remain the freedom of choice to see other boys, too.

Purkess - A'Hearn Wedding

"A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at St. Anthony's Church, Montreal, when Rev. Michael O'Brien united in marriage Charlotte Edith, daughter of Mrs. Alfred A'Hearn and the late Alfred A'Hearn of Alberton, P.E.I., and James Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Purkess of Montreal.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William A'Hearn, was lovely in a floor-length gown of heavy brocaded taffeta fastened up the back with tiny covered buttons with stand-up collar and long lily pointed sleeves. The skirt was fashioned with a gathered hip line in bustle effect and extended into a short train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a silver and pearl beaded tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and bouvardia.

Attendants

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rita A'Hearn as maid of honor and Miss Sybil Purkess,

Mr. Robert Bannerman attended the groom and the ushers were Mrs. Edward Leroux and Mr. Augustine A'Hearn.

Following the ceremony a reception for about fifty guests was held at the home of the groom's parents. The bride's table was decorated with summer flowers, and centered by a three-tier wedding cake. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Robert Bannerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Purkess left for a wedding trip to Ontario. For traveling the bride wore a teal blue gabardine suit with white accessories. Her corsage was red roses. The young couple will reside in Montreal.

A X Y D L B A A X R
N L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example 'A' is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
