

Attractive Girls.

METHODS RESORTED TO BY YOUNG LADIES TO ADD TO THEIR BEAUTY.

Every girl knows the value of beauty and seeks to make herself as attractive as possible, and strives hard to preserve these attractive qualities, but artificial devices only can conceal the ravages of time and dissipation. Still, without due regard to the laws of health, even the powder-box, rouge pallet, and pencil prove a shallow resource. In aiming to please, it is not always without a purpose beyond being considered charming in social circles. Most young ladies are given to understand from headquarters that husbands and homes are to be won, with but themselves to offer and no paternal purse for bait.

While in many it is proper, even a duty, to avail themselves of art, which has been a salvation to those not absolutely defamed, others show

LACK OF GOOD SENSE, in interfering with nature when she has showered extra favors. The maid with a spiritual cast of features and complexion clogs the pores of her fair skin with paint, while the vigorous, plump, rosy beauty tortures her digestive apparatus with acids and chalk; each persists in possessing attributes foreign to their constitution. Oh, the modus operandi is varied, interesting and edifying. A ruddy blonde of the Washington boulevard, says the Chicago Mail, fastens her fat little hands to the head-board on retiring, so as to reduce the supply of blood and produce the delicate complexion of an invalid friend. To allow the mouth to be open in sleep is simply outrageous, so to assure an avoidance many a dainty miss wows Morpheus with her lower jaw and head closely bound with a skate-strap or garter. A narrow pillow placed VERTICALLY UNDER THE NECK and between the shoulders encourages an erect stature, the good old bolster is consigned to the comfort of retired belles and beaux. Disregarding the fair, fresh skin, classical mould, and every law of proportion, and in deference to an arbitrary fashion which cannot but prove fatal to beauty and health, our wasp-waisted belles claim the necessity of slumber corsets to retain their acme of shapeliness. A mask of moist rye flour or coating of cold cream is as regularly assumed as the night-robe, and the feminine head drooped pillow-ward minus curl papers or leads is exceptional. Hot foot-baths are a regular feature of the toilet, as they tend to draw the blood from hands and face.

Attentive dainties impress the necessity of suppressing the animal nature and allow

LITTLE IF ANY MEAT. The skin is like a piece of satin and has a grain, and the faintest feature of the toilet is the preparation of the same. Each side, beginning with the middle of the forehead, is treated separately with a soft handkerchief dipped in rose glycerine and then powdered. Every lady desirous of social recognition knows the value of an agreeable ensemble largely dependent on harmonious drapery becoming coiffure, and stylish carriage. Dame Nature may have made the ordinary endowment of passably regular features, intelligent or expressive eyes, a complexion not impervious to exposure, dissipation, or indigestion. These qualities may pass muster, but then the aim to please is so much more readily gratified by toning the unctuous condition of countenance with a delicate powder-puff and shading with the harmless burnt match the outline of eye-brow and lash. The AMENITIES OF SOCIAL INTERCOURSE demand close attention and practice from those who would please, and the detail at present engrossing close inspection is the handling of the eyes and goblet.

One who knows or ought to know, thus advises: Grasp the hands of the cup with the thumb and index forefinger, the latter thrust just through against the thumb and the other fingers open and held out any way from the cup, save the second, which should press against the side to steady it. This gives a graceful appearance to the hand. In holding a goblet it should be grasped by the thumb and the two first fingers around the smallest portion of the standard, between the bowl and the bottom, throwing the last two fingers out well. Get through this ordeal successfully—no trifling matter—and your reputation is assured.
