THE JUVENILE CITY Hockey league, featuring Saint Dunstan's, Prince of Wales and Abbies is providing some pretty fair competition and promises loads of excitement before a winner is declared to advance against the survivor of the Kensington-Summerside feud.

Father Frank Ledwell's boys from the college out the road are tops so far in the league standing but there's no guarantee that the Red and Whitties will stay there. Before the league got underway, the boys engaged in a single round robin exhibition series and Saints took care of both their opponents. So far as the league is concerned Saints have played two and won both. They blanked Abbies 6-0, then eked out a 3-2 decision over the Welshmen on Saturday night at the Sports Arena. The other contest on Tuesday last found Abbies and P.W.C. battling to a 3-3 tie.

SAINTS' 6-0 ROMP over the Abbies made them top favourites to grab the city crown but when Welshmen gave them such a battle on Saturday the Saints' stock was not selling nearly so high. The close 3-2 game gave the Abbies new hope after the way they had battled P.W.C. earlier in the week.

Saints and their supporters insist that the Red and Whitties were away below par when they eked out that win over Welshmen. They trailed the city scholars 2-0 after one period of play, still were behind 2-1 after two sessions and just managed to get those two necessary goals in that final frame. Saint Dunstan's followers will tell you that their favourites were at their very worst Saturday and if they could win playing that kind of hockey then the other two squads won't stand a chance with them.

THIS MAY BE true but we still feel that there is going to be some great excitement before a city team goes against the western team for the provincial championship. Juveniles always have little regard for what the experts say. They never worry about the odds against them and won't concede anything until the final nine goes.

Yes, Saint Dunstan's may emerge city champions in this competition but they are likely to have their hands full in each and every game from here on.

An abundance of action seems assured. CONGRATULATIONS to Jiggs MacDonald, Art Burke, George Dillon and Dougie Cameron on winning the provincial curling championship after a courageous display last Friday in Summerside.

The new champions needed three big wins in that final-day of play. They had to beat Dr. Win MacDonald's rink before engaging the undefeated Myron Bell quartet. After disposing of the MacDonald rink, they then needed two straight victories over the Bell foursome. It was a very large order but an order that the new champs were able to fill.

This manner of gaining a berth in the Brier competition at Quebec stamps these curlers as really the kind of competitors that will give it all they've got when the big play in Quebec gets underway.

Sport fans everywhere throughout the Island will be pulling for the boys to give a real fine account of themselves. And we feel sure they will do just that.

RIGHT HERE, we want to pass along a bouquet to Myron Bell and his boys for their great display. Nobody had counted on this rink to cause the trouble it did but the Bell foursome went right through the first four days of competition without a setback. They just couldn't manage that extra win over Jiggs and his boys but they did give them a real battle all the way.

Congratulations boys and better luck next year. CURLING INTEREST is centred on Calgary this week where the Canadian Schoolboy Championships are being staged. Folks here will be watching with keenest interest to see how this province's representatives, Prince of Wales College rink, will make out. Last year when the championships were staged in Charlottetown, Welshmen all but ran off with top honors. This year's foursome are not considered as strong as the 1958 edition but you can bet they'll give a first class account of themselves.

Bob LeClair who has coached the Collegians so successfully in these past number of years, was unable to make the trip. In his place went Gordon Bennett, of the college staff and president of the Charlottetown Curling Club.

Successful Heart Surgery Raises Hopes Of Boxer

By GENE PLOWDEN
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Scottish-born lad who came to Miami by way of Hamilton, Ont., hopes to become a boxing champion now that a young surgeon has repaired a hole in his heart.

Eddie Beattie, who celebrated his 23rd birthday a week ago, now has a "perfectly functioning cardiac system," says the heart specialist who performed the operation.

Beattie's father, now 72 and living in Hamilton, was welterweight champion of Great Britain and inspired his son to take up the sport. Eddie represented Canada in the Olympics and had 97 amateur fights.

Following correspondence with Maj. W. H. Peoples, veteran fight promoter, and Paul Antonacci, businessman and fight manager, young Beattie showed up in Miami. Peoples and Antonacci were so impressed by his appearance and sincerity that they virtually adopted him.

Beattie had five fights at Peoples' club—four and six-rounders—and won all of them. LARGE HOLE

The young fighter knew he had a heart murmur, but surgeons were amazed to find a hole the size of a silver dollar.

Doctors told Beattie the operation would be a success, but he probably would never fight again. After consulting with his family, which includes 12 brothers and sisters, Beattie said he wanted the operation.

His story was put before civic clubs and relief organizations. Three heart surgeons donated their services.

"We decided to repair by direct suture," said the doctor who performed the operation but declined use of his name. "We used the technique of hypothermia, because it lowers the body temperature and amount of oxygen the patient uses. We clamp off the blood flow to and from the heart, thus the brain tissues are not impaired."

QUICK RESPONSE
"During the four minutes required for the operation the heart was nourished by warm blood, and when the clamps were removed the heart responded rapidly."

The operation was performed Nov. 15, 1957, and Beattie went home 10 days later to recuperate. "There are no stitches in there and the heart has healed perfectly," the surgeons reported after further examinations last month—before and after Beattie returned to the ring.

"The heart is perfectly normal and he can do anything any other normal young man can do. There is only a tiny dark line where the opening was closed." Beattie has had two professional fights since the operation, and won both by knockouts. Surgeons at the University of Miami Medical School say it is the first case on record where a fighter resumed his career after a defective heart was repaired.

"I feel better than I ever felt before, and have more confidence," Beattie said.

Peoples, who has been promoting boxing since 1932, calls Beattie "a skilled and polished performer who trains hard, mixes his punches and thinks in the ring."
