freely admit in sober moments, wine and sweetmeats the king would have offered him. Instead he asked for, and got the simple, healthful foods which the Lord had commanded the Jews to eat in earlier times.

Paul outlines the life of a true believer, citing behavior which is unbecoming a Christian. If we fail to provide for fresh lusts, he says, they will vanish from our thoughts and lives.—Romans 13:11-14.

A MATTER OF LUCK

Where did Daniel get his high ideals, his strong convictions about obeying the law of the Lord even in a foreign land with all its allurements and enticements? At home, from his parents, exactly where today's young people get their ideals, good or bad.

Matthew 18:5-14 contains Lord's warning to adults against living in a manner that would cause "little ones," or children, to stumble. The penalties for causing a child to fall from grace are so dreadful, Jesus says, that it would be better for us to be hanged in public than to offend a brother in Christ and lead him into sin.

Jim didn't catch any fish today. Now, on the way home, he can't help casting an envious eye at Tim's haul. He isn't that he begrudges Tim his fish. It's just that, in his heart, he can't help wish that he had been the lucky one.

Tim is natural, and Jim is young. He's just beginning to learn that you can't always be a winner, but he still feels losing pretty hard in a struggle.
