SENATOR INMAN SPEAKS

Urges Establishment Of "Department Of Tourism"

OTTAWA, — (Special) — A Prince Edward Island Senator urged the government Thursday to establish a Department of Tourism, with branch offices in each province, to deal with tourist travel and its associated industries.

Mrs. F. Elsie Inman (Lib.) declared it was time for a "closer look" at what the future holds for the "Canadian hospitality business."

Diver Missing At Bridge Site

VANCOUVER (CP) — A skin diver hired Thursday to help search the scene of the June 17 collapse of the new Second Narrows Bridge was missing and feared drowned.

Leonard K. Mott, a professional diver from suburban Burnaby, had been hired in the morning by Dominion Bridge Company to help recover the last two of 18 bodies trapped when two spans of the unfinished bridge went down.

The service at the church was conducted by Rev. J. M. Fraser assisted by Rev. D. A. Campbell of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Campbell read the scripture lesson from Psalm 121 and led in prayer. Taking his text, from the gospel of Matthew — "come all ye that are heavy laden and I will give you rest" — Mr. Fraser spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family.

The choir under the direction of Mr. I. G. Phillips and with Mrs. L. A. Johnston as organist sang the following hymns: "Does Jesus Care", "Higher Ground", and "Abide With Me".

The service at the grave was conducted by Rev. J. M. Fraser assisted by Rev. W. A. Paterson of St. David's United Church, Georgetown.

The Rebekah burial service was conducted by Mrs. Spencer Llewellyn, assisted by Mrs. Byron Stewart and Mrs. Leon Johnston.

Pall bearers were: Cecil French, Douglas Graham, Harry Graham, Lester McKeeman, Cameron Reid, and Leo Collings. Interment was in Sturgeon cemetery.

Especially was a "closer look" needed as the situation applies to the Maritimes, she said. Here are provinces "rich in beaches, warm salt air, wonderful scenery, appetizing sea foods and a way of life distinctive to this part of Canada."

The Island Senator was the first speaker at the Upper Chamber reconvened after a two-week adjournment and resumed debate on the throne speech.

In P. E. I., she said, tourism is the second highest income-producing business.

Within a few years tourism could surpass all other industry. "Indeed, this could be the case in the whole Atlantic area."

WIDE RANGE — Senator Inman, who is president of the P. E. I. Innkeepers Guild covered a wide range of topics in her speech. Among these she:

1. Urged M.P.'s from farming constituencies to "direct their influence" to finding ways to rehabilitate vacant farms and put the soil back in production.

2. Deemed it a duty of government to make available educational facilities at all levels.

3. Recalled that from 1891-1917 lobster hatcheries were operated by the fisheries department but then abandoned. She recommended in view of the success of the oyster experiment station success in P. E. I. a study be made of the possibility of artificial rearing stations for lobsters on the Island.

4. Asked government aid in establishment of more fish processing plants, and a promotional program to teach Canadian housewives how to prepare seafoods properly.

5. Appealed for federal assistance in establishment of wild bird sanctuaries in P.E.I. to conserve the small game of that province.

Senator Inman, a member of the P. E. I. Historical Society, called on Ottawa to restore more historic sites on the Island. These would offer much in "glamour and romance" to the visitors. She also urged improved transportation facilities, both for the travelling public and goods, to and from P. E. I.

Mrs. Inman said transportation is the Island's biggest problem, not only from the tourist standpoint, but from a business point of view. Products of the farm and sea should have adequate means of getting to markets.

She suggested that "one or two" automobile ferries to be released from service with the opening of the St. Lawrence seaway, be purchased for Island trade and commerce.
