POTATO WAR

The action of the Potato and Turnip Dealers' Association in releasing to the public a plan of marketing which had been agreed to only in principle by the Potato Board, lighted a fuse which touched off a noisy explosion in Summerville.

The final plan has now been officially released for public consideration and differs in a number of important respects from the plan with which the dealers jumped the gun. Perhaps the most important change is the one which provides the dealers with the opportunity of purchasing potatoes from an agency rather than acting as agents on a brokerage basis and permits them to make sales in any available markets.

Interested growers will have the opportunity of studying in the press the proposed plan and will also have presented for their consideration definite information on various details of the operation. It is very much in the interest of growers to study this information carefully and on it base their decision, rather than upon the many rumours which are being circulated so freely at the moment.

FREEDOM

Apparently the greatest objection to the marketing plan in question arises from the fact that growers feel that they are being compelled to market the crop in a definite manner. The fact that this compulsion is being applied by themselves as a body apparently does not soften the reaction which people have to being forced to adopt what may be a very beneficial course of action.

Many years ago in this Province an act was placed on the Statute books to make attendance at school compulsory. The uproar and opposition at that time was both loud and strong. It was held by the opponents to be a serious infringement upon the time honored principles of freedom that they were to be compelled to send their children to school. Eventually public thinking adjusted itself to the idea and today no reasoning person would take any other course.

THE WRECKER

The individual who heaves the rock through the window, defaces a mail box or destroys road signs is very likely exhibit the same tendencies in their attitude to the less concrete works of man. All over this world, groups of people are busily engaged in building up associations and organizations, if the finished article is not to their liking they make changes and improvements. Similarly other groups are busily engaged in attempting to tear apart and destroy the work of their neighbours. Their peculiar urge stems from a pure delight in destruction. Rarely do their efforts result in an improvement. Wrecking is their diversion and their joy.

HARVEST

The weather man who treated the haymaker so unkindly has reformed and been on his best behavior in treating the harvester as almost a deity in good condition. The crop is excellent and will in part make up for the deficiencies of poor quality hay. Dry weather has checked late blight in potatoes which are now developing rapidly. Pasture is excellent, and all in all with the prospects of better potato prices, the farmer has reason to view the situation with reasonable optimism.

PLOWING

Plowing, the basic operation of agriculture, has through competitive matches, become a glamorized operation. Public acclaim is being directed towards the finished workman who takes a delight in not only getting the job done, but in doing it well. While demonstration serves a very useful purpose as an aiming target for quality in the farm operation. Plowing matches serve a useful purpose and their promoters are deserving of public support and thanks.

HIGH LEVEL

For the second time this year representatives of farm organizations on the North American continent are meeting in Washington September 7 and 8 to discuss mutual problems in agriculture and marketing. The meeting is under the auspices of the International Federation of Agriculture Producers and will draw delegations from the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, and its affiliate, the Dairy Farmers of Canada, as well as from the four national farmer organizations in the U. S., and Mexico's national farmer organization.

The Conference, which is to concern itself chiefly with the problem of the marketing of agricultural surpluses, will be in two sections. The first, on September 7, will deal particularly with the international dairy situation, and the second, on September 8, will consider general agricultural problems of mutual concern to the North American organizations. The holding of the dairy conference was a proposal advanced by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at the recent annual IFAP conference in Kenya.

Trinity Church W M S Begin Fall Meetings

The opening fall meeting of the Afternoon Auxiliary of the W. M. S. of Trinity Church, Charlottetown, was held on September 2, in the Social Hall with an excellent attendance.

Mrs. L. W. Saunders presided and took as her Worship Service theme, "A Nation Before God." The meeting opened with hymn, "Come Let Us Sing," followed by the Scripture lesson from the Psalms and a discussion by Mrs. Cox, representing Canada, and Mrs. Gillespie, representing India. They depicted the existing conditions, their outlook and responsibilities of these two young nations. Miss Mabel Newson then led in prayer.

Mrs. Saunders gave a short talk on the book of the year, "The Church in India." A reading by Mrs. Gillespie closed this service.

After the business session Mrs. Morrison spoke of the fine Missionary literature available and urged greater interest in reading. After some consideration it was decided to order the "Book Shelf" and to circulate the books already on hand among the members.

Meeting closed with Benediction.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER. — On Wednesday evening, September 8, Miss Arlene Ross and Mr. Forrest Ford, whose marriage takes place in the near future, were tendered a surprise miscellaneous shower by their many friends and relatives at Mr. Borden MacDonald's Hall, Parkdale. Miss Ross was the recipient of many gifts which were opened by Mrs. Borden MacDonald and the accompanying verses were read by Mrs. Earl Johnston. A speech was read by Mrs. Earl Johnston and a purse of money was presented to Mr. Ford by little Miss Mardi MacDonald. Arlene and Forrest thanked everyone for the gifts and money. The hall was gaily decorated. For the occasion, with pink and white streamers. A delicious lunch

When the world runs short of good land to feed the earth's ever increasing population, scientists will turn to the oceans for sources of food. The amount of life oceans can support is still a mystery, but that there is a potential wealth of food there cannot be denied — enough flesh and plant food to bridge the gap between human food needs and land productivity.
