

Oil For Street Graveling Arrives

A tank car of oil recently purchased by the City as an experiment for use on the gravelled city streets, arrived yesterday and will be given a try-out immediately, according to information received last evening at City Hall.

The oil, which requires to be pre-heated, will be sprayed under pressure by one of the machines now available by the Company. The spraying of Upper Queen Street will be followed by a similar treatment on Highland Avenue, Upper Spring Park Road and possibly Maple and Green Streets, depending on the quantity of oil immediately available.

Should the treatment prove successful, a further quantity will be ordered and applied as promptly as possible.

Haymakers Coming From Cape Breton

Fifteen haymakers from Cape Breton are due in Charlottetown on Thursday night. This number will only partly fill the more than fifty orders for haymakers on file at the National Employment Office, and many farmers will still face the problem of harvesting the crop without assistance.

For the past two weeks the local Employment Office through its clearance system has been trying to secure farm help from the mainland.

In other years temporary workers were usually available in Cape Breton and Pictou County but these sources have been tapped heavily by the demand for construction workers in Labrador, and for farm help in Ontario.

No men at all could be recruited through the National Employment Office in New Glasgow, and the Sydney office at first reported a similar situation.

Later yesterday afternoon however, the Sydney Employment Office wired the information that fifteen men would leave for Charlottetown on Thursday to arrive in this province the same night.

Their arrival coupled with the coming of fifteen full time German farm workers, reported elsewhere in these columns will be of definite assistance to Island agriculture.

A student in architecture, Gregory has just completed his second year at the University of Manitoba, where he continued his studies after completing two years at Dalhousie University.

FUNERAL AT VERNON RIVER—The funeral of Barbara Carey, Earncliffe was held from her late residence yesterday morning to St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River. Services at the church and grave were conducted by Rev. Urban Gillis. Pall-bearers were Charles McIsaac, Joseph Murphy, Gordon McLeod, J. J. MacInnis, Bernard Doyle, and Earl Ings. Burial was in the church cemetery.

FUNERAL SERVICES—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Gallant took place Monday morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. MacDonald, 147 1/2 Upper Prince Street, to St. Anne's Church, Hope River, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Earl Dalton, who also officiated at the grave. The pall-bearers were, Jerome Gallant, Ben. J. Gallant, Nazaire Gallant, Alfred Egan, Arthur Walsh and J. J. MacDonald. Interment took place in the family plot in the church cemetery.

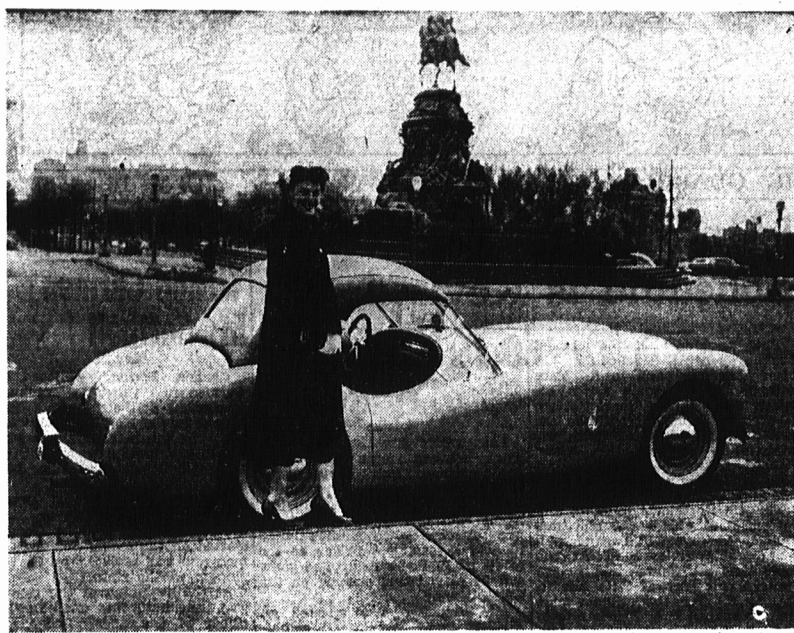

FOR LABRADOR—More than forty construction workers recruited here last week will leave Charlottetown for Labrador this week. Some of the men left by train this morning for Moncton, and the remainder will follow on Friday morning. From Moncton the men are flown to their destination at Goose Bay by Maritime Central Airways. Many of the forty-odd workers are from the Rustico district, where the wind-up of the lobster fishing season caused some unemployment.

FUNERAL HELD MONDAY—The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Smith, widow of the late Archibald Smith, took place Monday morning from her late residence in Johnston's River to the Sacred Heart Church in Mount Ryan, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. T. P. Butler, who also officiated at the grave. The pall-bearers were: Fred Trainor, Walter Walker, Charles Walker, William S. McEachern, Joseph Power and George Macdonald. Interment took place in the church cemetery.

OUTING ENJOYED—Members of the staff at City Hall were the guests of Miss Mary McQuaid at her summer home at Rocky Point last evening, where they arrived by ferry shortly after office hours. Ample provision had been made for the staff and their immediate relatives, to partake of a tasty supper, which was served by Miss McQuaid, assisted by several young ladies of the office staff. A bonfire sing-song followed by a late evening swim brought a most pleasant evening to a close, after which the visitors returned to the city by the highway via West River. Expressions of gratitude for this gesture of good will on the part of Miss McQuaid, were very much in evidence.

TESTING PROTECTIVE SYSTEM—Some excitement was caused and a crowd quickly gathered at 10:45 last night when the sprinkler alarm system bell outside the upper storey at Moore and MacLeod Ltd. went into action. There was, however, no cause for alarm as the bell clanging was due to a test of the testing and filling routine that was taking place. Mr. Fred Moore explained that in addition to the exterior bell ringing, it was the firm's intention to have a wire connection made with the Fire Station at City Hall, with an annunciator attachment indicating where the fire was. He understood that other firms intended to have the same wire installation made in connection with their sprinkler systems. Sgt. Gus Dowling who was patrolling near the Capitol Theatre at the time of the alarm, commended the idea as he was at the scene in just a few seconds, which, as he added, will increase the possibilities of the police being of assistance at a down-town fire.

Islander Drives Plastic Car

In the above picture Mrs. Earl S. Ebers, is shown with the custom built plastic car which she and her husband drove from California to Philadelphia where it was displayed in the National Plastic Exposition. Dr. Ebers and his two sons James Donald and Robert McKay, are now in Charlottetown visiting Dr. Ebers' father, Mr. H. A. Ebers.

Continued from page 1. at least a brigade—one-third of a division—on a year-round basis, something other camps have not been able to do.

When the 25th Brigade was ordered to Korea, for instance, it had to complete training in the U. S. Replacement units for the 25th, and for the 27th Brigade now in Germany were broken up and scattered across Canada last winter because there was no room for them in one camp.

The new camp will be large enough that if war comes, or a greater emergency than the current one arises, a division could be trained there close to Atlantic harbours.

Possibly at Gagetown. GAGETOWN, N. B. July 15 (CP)—Reports from Ottawa today that Canada's biggest army camp will be established in New Brunswick led to opinion here that the site is to be in this area.

Previous rumors to this effect resulted in a public meeting July 4 when residents adopted a resolution of protest. Clearing the huge district would involve 746 families, it was said.

The area on both sides of the broad road in Queens and Sunbury Counties was reported to extend from the Ormocelo River, 11 miles below Fredericton, to Westfield, 15 miles above Saint John. It lies east of the Canadian Pacific Railway main line and west of St. John River lots. The Fredericton and Saint John airports and the port of Saint John are in easy reach of the site.

This area corresponds in size with that of the announced site reported decided upon at Ottawa—50 by 20 miles, or 1,000 square miles and about half the size of Prince Edward Island.

Other areas in New Brunswick had been under consideration, including Camp Utopia—described as too small—and Tracadie, on the northeastern shore.

Copies of the protesting resolution were sent to Federal Government and other officials.

PHOTOGRAPHER HERE—Mr. Guy Blouin, one of the top photographers of the National Film Board, Ottawa, is in the Province where he will remain for several weeks taking pictures of outstanding scenic areas under direction of the Travel Bureau. Mr. Blouin, who is accompanied by his wife, is paying his first visit here and expressed his admiration of the scenery and the possibilities of obtaining excellent photographs.

OLD ISLAND BALLAD—Writing from Cambridge, Mass., Miss Joanne Melanson has forwarded The Guardian a copy of the ballad, "Prince Edward Isle Adieu" which was quoted in full in these columns last year in a letter by Mr. J. A. Gillies, and which has been by the work of Larry Gorman, a noted Island balladist of seventy years ago. The clipping enclosed is from a Massachusetts paper. Miss Melanson writes that she has visited the Island for the past three years and is looking forward to returning in August with her mother, for a vacation.

PERSONALS Rev. Alexander and Mrs. MacKay, formerly of Malpeque, P. E. I., have taken up residence in Apohaqui, N. B. where they have purchased a property. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parr and children, Judy and Jimmie, have returned to their home in Fredericton, N.B., after spending a pleasant vacation in this Province. While in Charlottetown they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. MacArthur. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Davis, and their sons Roger and Laurin, of Pennsylvania accompanied by Miss Ethel K. Sutherland, of Oak Park, Ill., a sister of Mrs. Davis, are enjoying a vacation with friends and relatives on the Island.

Guests Give Fine Impromptu Concert

Residents of North River Road, and hundreds of passing motorists were treated to an impromptu concert last night when two members of the Sydney Girls Pipe Band, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Earle MacDonald, piped and danced for over an hour. The girls showed all the steps of the Highland Fling as well as giving demonstrations of the several reels.

They took turns piping and dancing and spectators found difficulty in deciding at which of them were better. They concluded their concert with Lord Lovat's Lament as they marched up and down the driveway of the Legislative Member's home to a tremendous burst of applause from the motorists who almost blocked North River Road as they stopped to enjoy the proceedings.

The two girls were 15-year-old Vivian Morrison, the champion Highland dancer of Cape Breton for the past four years, and 16-year-old Vera MacDonald who can really blow and who has the Gaelic.

It was interesting to note that in the band the girl pipers wear the Royal Stuart tartan while the drummers wear that of the MacLeods.

Deserting Russian Doesn't Expect Early Major War

BOON Germany, July 15 (AP)—A bushy-haired Russian, described by United States officials as the "most knowledgeable" civilian deserter to the West in recent years, told a press conference today he does not believe there will be any major war for several years.

But if "international dissensions between the Western Nations ever become serious enough to give the Soviets the advantage," he warned, Stalin would not hesitate to throw his troops into war.

The Russian is Eugeny Vichansky, 32, an engineer who worked for six months in East Germany as the official Soviet representative at a factory before he escaped to the West.

He reported active resistance to the Moscow regime among both the military and civilian population in the Soviet Union and in Communist-run East Germany.

Big Demand For Berry Pickers

One of the busiest women in the Province this past week has been Emma (Topsy) Bruce of the Women's Division of the National Employment Office, Charlottetown. Strawberry growers in a wide arc around the City, with a bumper crop on their hands have swamped the local office with orders for pickers.

Within a few days Mrs. Bruce had placed upwards of a hundred women and older girls with growers but the demand for help still rolled in. With no slackening of the demand she sent out a call for the teen-agers from eleven years and upwards, and the growers faced with a crisis accepted the youngsters. Over the week-end and through Monday and yesterday the youngsters collected at the local office, and were picked up by trucks and cars and taken to their destinations. Most of them carried bunches, and were in picnic mood as they left the City.

Reports from the growers—who were doubtful of the usefulness of the younger girls at the outset—are complimentary. Many of them are making upwards of four dollars a day. They are paid four cents a box—and they can eat all the strawberries they like; an inducement not without its attractions.

By this week-end Mrs. Bruce expects to have placed two hundred pickers all told, which she feels is a contribution to the relief of the farm-help shortage.

Potato Cull Pile Source Of Infection

No late blight has been observed in the potato fields of Prince Edward Island or Nova Scotia but the disease was found on the plants in a cull pile on the 8th of July," states the Weekly Potato Bulletin. "It is too bad to see it so early when a little care with the cull piles would have eliminated this source of infection. Farmers should make an immediate check for forgotten cull piles and if any are found they should be thoroughly sprayed with a chemical top killer or with a strong solution of copper sulphate."

Potato aphids are beginning to appear in small numbers. If the weather continues to be warm large populations will build up very rapidly. Colorado potato beetle larvae are also present and they will cause considerable damage during the next few weeks if not controlled. DDT 25 per cent emulsion used at a concentration of one quart to 100 gallons of spray is slightly more effective than the wettable powder for controlling aphids."

Rfmn. MacKenzie, 31, was injured in a vehicle accident on the highway between Hamburg, where Canadian troops are stationed, and Soltau. Details of the accident were not available here.

Official Opening Of 12-Day National Girl Guide Camp

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont. July 15 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today officially opened the 12-day National Girl Guide camp on these grassy ranges near Ottawa in a colorful ceremony under cloudy skies.

Some 1,200 Guides between the ages of 13 and 16, smartly dressed in blue uniforms, marched with precision behind their provincial standards past the reviewing stand where the Prime Minister took the salute.

Mr. St. Laurent spoke briefly in French and English on the theme of the camp, "Our Canadian Heritage," after Mrs. D. E. S. Wishart of Toronto, chief commissioner for Canada, outlined the camp's origin.

Two young Guides received quite a surprise when they mounted the reviewing stand to thank Mr. St. Laurent for officiating at the opening of the camp, the largest ever held in Canada.

Sylvie Caron of Hull, Que., thanked the Prime Minister in French and Sylvia Foster of Port St. John, B. C., on the Alaska Highway thanked him in English. Mr. St. Laurent rewarded them with a kiss.

Purpose of the camp is to teach the Guides the finer points of citizenship.

Jay-Gardiner Wedding

Highfield United Baptist Church, Moncton, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding, when Rev. R. A. Pyke, pastor of the church, officiated in the marriage of Jessie Lorraine Gardiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazard Gardiner, Cape Traverse, Prince Edward Island, and Norman Joseph Jay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jay, Borden, Prince Edward Island.

Baskets of summer flowers in effective arrangement, decorated the church, while the guest pews were marked by bows of white satin ribbon.

Corey Smith, church organist, supplied the nuptial music, playing the Wedding March from Lohengrin, as the bridal party, including the bride's mother, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Mendelssohn's March" as they left the church, and the incidental music during the ceremony, included two of Mozart's composition, "Jesu, Word of God" and "On Wings of Faith". The guest soloist, Miss Geraldine Thompson sang "The Lord's Prayer" prior to the bride's entrance in the church, and "Because" during the signing of the register.

Attending the bride was Miss Rhea Jay, the groom's cousin, as bridesmaid.

Arthur Jay, the groom's brother, was best man, while Norman MacCoubrey and Roland Blenkhorn ushered.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charmingly gowned in a "Margot-Harris" model of cloud white, velvety, featuring a nylon yoke, outlined by a small cuffed bertha, the long sleeves pointed over the hands and the bodice of the gown, fitted tightly in a period design, while the back closing by tiny, self covered buttons, gave emphasis to the full gathered skirt with tiny hip bustles. Her floor length veil of French illusion fell gracefully from a bridal crown. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Miss Jay, the bridesmaid, was wearing an ankle length gown of blue and pink taffeta. The modelled bodice of the full skirted gown featured a white brocaded nylon fabric. She wore a matching head-dress and white elbow length lace mitts, and carried an old fashioned nose-gay of yellow roses and pink carnations.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding, a dress of pastel pink taffeta. Her accessories were in white, and she was wearing a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom's mother wore a dress in beige crepe, with matching accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Queen Hotel. The bride's table, most attractive, was centered by a three-tier, beautifully decorated wedding cake, surmounted by a miniature bridal couple. Flanking the cake on either side, were tall white tapered silver holders, and bouquets of multi-colored spring flowers.

Later, the newlyweds left by car amid a shower of confetti and good wishes for a honeymoon to be spent touring in the Maritimes and parts of the United States.

For travelling the bride donned a powder blue crepe dress, with shorty coat of Royal Blue velvet. Her accessories were in pink, and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The young couple are taking up residence in Moncton, where the groom is on the staff of Blakeney and Son, Limited. The bride is on the staff of The T. Eaton Company, Maritimes Limited, and recently her associates and Moncton friends honored her with a variety shower at which time she received an array of beautiful gifts.

Guests from Prince Edward Island attending the wedding, besides the parents of the bride and groom and relatives included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacKay, Miss June Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Smith, all of Charlottetown, P. E. I., Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Francis, Carleton Siding, P.E.I., and Mrs. Joseph Wadman, Augustines Cove, P.E.I.

Local Man Gets 12 Months For Selling Shako

A resident of Charlottetown literally had the "book thrown at him" in County Magistrate's Court yesterday when Magistrate Gilbert A. Gaudet sentenced him to the limit of 12 months in jail without the option of a fine for selling "shako".

It was the fourth conviction this year for the same offence. He had been caught with five cases, of 24 bottles each, of bay rum this time and the Queen's County Magistrate handed out the maximum penalty. For his last offence he had been sentenced to two months in jail.
