Accident-Free Record Pays Off For 5 Company Drivers

A total of nearly 50 years of accident-free driving has been accumulated by five drivers of Holman's of P.E.I. Charlottetown store.

Two drivers, George 'Pud' Whitlock and Ben Bowerbank, each have 13 years of accident-free driving and Irving Costain is second with 11 years. Scott Walker has eight years and Louis Gaudet two years to their credit.

The five were presented with cash bonuses yesterday in a brief ceremony before they went out on their daily rounds. The presentation was made by Reg Newson of Stewart Motors who lease the vehicles to Holman's and share with them the cost of the bonuses.

When asked how he was able to accumulate such an impressive record Mr. Bowerbank said "By watching the other man's driving as well as my own", he went on "I don't wait for the other man to make the stop even if I'm in the right."

Guy Fichaud an executive of Holman's stated that the company is very proud of the record built up by the drivers and urged other drivers to follow their example. He thought this was exceptional when there was over a thousand accidents in P.E.I in 1963.

Dramatist To Deliver Robertson Lecture

Dr. Frank MacKinnon, principal of Prince of Wales College, has announced that Mavor Moulinaise, Canadian dramatist, will deliver the Samuel Robertson Memorial Lecture at the college on Tuesday, March 24 at 8.30 p.m. This will be the 15th in the series which began in 1950 and which has brought to Charlottetown eminent Canadians from a variety of fields.

Mr. Moore was born in Toronto in 1919, and graduated from the University of Toronto in 1941 at the head of his year in philosophy and English. After a year as a CBC producer during which he directed some of the corporation's biggest wartime radio shows, he went overseas with the army, ending up as a psychological warfare officer in the intelligence corps.

After the war he was, successively, chief producer for the CBC international service in Montreal, senior director for the CBC's Pacific region in Vancouver, managing director of Toronto's New Play Society and executive director for United Nations radio and television in New York.

He returned to Canada in 1950 to commence, as chief producer, the CBC's English-speaking television service. He resigned from the CBC in 1954 in order to freelance as a writer, performer, director, producer and consultant. At the time, Alan Sangster, writing in the Forum, called him "one of the most able and gifted men ever to serve the corporation in any capacity." In 1956 the Canadian Council of Authors and Artists presented him with a special award for his "outstanding contribution to Canadian television."

Since then Mr. Moore has become most widely known as a playwright for television and theatre; as an actor starring frequently in CBC dramatic programs; as a dramatic critic (The Toronto Telegram); as a producer, especially of the record-breaking perennial revue "Spring Thaw"; as a stage director, especially for the Canadian Opera Company and for the Crest Theatre's classical revivals; he has also been associated as a director with both the Vancouver International Festival and the new Neptune Theatre in Halifax.

Mr. Moore is also well known as the author of verse and articles on a wide range of subjects. He was the first chairman of the Canadian Theatre Centre and was a member of the original board of governors of the Stratford Festival; he has been on the national committees of the UN Association and the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

Under his chairmanship of the CTC the National Theatre School was founded, and he is still a governor. He has been a guest lecturer at York University on communications, and a chairman for the national Canadian Conference of the Arts.

After having acted as consultant to the Prince Edward Island Centennial Committee in July of last year, Mr. Moore was appointed artistic director of the 1964 Prince Edward Island Centennial, and director of the Confederation Centre.

Among others who have given Robertson Lectures at Prince of Wales have been Dr. Wilder Penfield, Sir Ernest MacMillan, Mavor Charlotte Whitton, Abbe Georges Levesque, Dr. O. M. Solandt, Norman Robertson of external affairs, and Principal Wallace of Queens. The series was established in honor of Dr. S.N. Robbertson, principal of Prince of Wales from 1901 to 1937. The lecture is open to the public and free of charge.

Industrialist Is Happy With Geo'town Grant

An expression of enthusiasm that Georgetown will develop into a modern industrial community, was voiced yesterday by an official of Bathurst Marine Limited and Gulf Garden Foods Limited, the two companies locating in the town.

Jens Moe, president of the two companies, was commenting in Charlottetown, following Monday's announcement that the Atlantic Development Board will grant $700,000 for basic industrial services in the Georgetown area.

Mr. Moe said, on behalf of Bathurst Marine and Gulf Garden Foods, "I would like to express our appreciation to the many people who have helped to make this project a reality. Our thanks go to Premier Walter R. Shaw, Industry and Fisheries Minister Leo Rossiter and members of the government.

"On the federal level we are indebted to Dr. Weeks and Dr. Monture of the staff of the Atlantic Development Board and also to John Mullally, MP for Kings County.

"I might say that from the very beginning the natural features of Georgetown were particularly attractive to us. They have impressed all of our people who have seen them. We have also been impressed by the help and co-operation that we have received from Dr. Kennedy, the members of the Town Council and the people of Georgetown.

"The only remaining need to make it possible for industry to succeed is the development of basic utilities such as water, electricity and sewage disposal. These things have now been assured and make possible the immediate and speedy development of our enterprises at Georgetown.

"I hope that many others who have helped out will realize that it is impossible to mention everyone to whom we owe thanks and that they will recognize this statement as a very personal word of thanks for their help."

Ratepayers Vote To Sell Old School

MONTAGUE — The Montague Memorial School and land approximately 206 by 141 feet is to be sold to the Montague Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion for the sum of $1. This decision was reached at a special meeting of the ratepayers of the district held in the regional high school last night.

The meeting, chaired by G.A. Wightman and attended by approximately 120 citizens, voted 58 to 45 in favor of selling this land and building to the Legion.

The meeting was called when the school board felt that the decision reached at the annual meeting last June, at which time it was decided to sell the school and property to the legion, was not representative of the ratepayers of the district. Last night's meeting was called to reconsider the question of the disposal of the school and property.

Following the meeting the chairman of the school board, Gilbert Clements thanked the ratepayers for their attendance and said that they were to be congratulated for this show of interest.
