IN MEMORIAM

ALEXANDER MacKENZIE November 26th, 1950.

To Papa: They said that you had lived your life. That I my tears, should now erase. How could I say that part of me had died.

If it be true that one lives on forever. When memory thrones a place for one apart. Then know that time or place shall never sever Your image from the confines of my heart.

I could not go with you that lovely girl. Where each must cross from dark to light. I only know you gained ascendancy And where you are there is no night.

Your shadow casts a shade no more, And from my presence you have fled. Oh! blame me not if tears still fall, When I remember, that you're dead.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Cameron Robertson, who passed away November 26th, 1941.

The rolling stream of life rolls on, Yet still that vacant chair, Recalls the voice, the smile, the form, Of one who once sat there.

Remembered by Wife and Family.

Island Odds and Ends

The Island portion of the Trans-Canada Highway on which considerable work was carried out during the past summer will be further extended in 1952.

Still in abeyance is the decision as to where the Highway to Wood Islands, will cross the Hillsboro River and what direction it will take thereafter, to connect with the present permanent road near Tea Hill.

Not least of the benefits should be the effect on the tourist business. For years now stories have been prevalent, that many summer visitors arriving via Wood Island and Borden, after driving a few miles on our roads have returned as soon as possible to the mainland, disgusted with highway conditions.

The Canadian Citizenship Council of Charlottetown is preparing to give its annual Christmas party to the new Canadians resident in the Province.

The majority of the new citizens are Dutch. The latter seem to like our Province, and quite a few are buying farms after a period of employment with Island farmers.

When the National Advisory Council on Manpower met in Ottawa recently, some very interesting facts and figures were reported to the Council by various Government Departments.

The volume of employment in recent months had been bolstered by increasing government defence expenditures, by the high level of business investment, and by the strong world demand for major export commodities.

A report by the Department of Defence revealed that Canada's industrial and military preparedness program would not be in full swing until 1953.

The manpower council also obtained some thought-provoking figures from the Department of Immigration, and gave some idea of the extent to which Canadian agriculture had been aided by new settlers.

The manpower council also obtained some thought-provoking figures from the Department of Immigration, and gave some idea of the extent to which Canadian agriculture had been aided by new settlers.

The total number of immigrants of all nationalities who came to Canada in the first eight months of 1951 was 67,000. Of every one hundred of these, 27 were farm workers, 26 were skilled industrial workers, another 26 were semi-skilled, 4 were professional people, and the remainder were in the clerical and other categories.

Thoughts For Our Time

By His Eminence Cardinal McGuigan (Copyright)

Two events of recent weeks received very little attention from the majority of people. These events, seemingly unrelated, are yet dramatically connected.

The casual consideration given to these affairs is a significant proof that we are disregarding the vital factor in the present crisis of our times, namely, the significance of the individual person in the world at large.

Remembrance Day is the commemoration of a thrilling day in history—the end of the first world-war conflagration. Year after year, the joys of that first Armistice Day have been recalled and the sacrifices of thousands commemorated.

It is this fact more than any other which should be kept in mind when we consider the problems confronting the General Assembly of the United Nations which opened its session a few days ago in Paris.

Can we stand by inactive when we think of the numberless dead who lie buried in the fields of battle? Their lives sacrificed in the discharge of duty were a holocaust which calls for a new and better social order.

It is this fact more than any other which should be kept in mind when we consider the problems confronting the General Assembly of the United Nations which opened its session a few days ago in Paris.

But if we are to extricate ourselves from the impending doom, if we are to realize in any degree the common hope of mankind of a world at peace, then we must be prepared to give ourselves to the common task of building a community. The United Nations Organization will only be as strong as the individuals it represents.

They seem to make the hope of peace a childish dream of unreality. As a consequence, we become pessimistic and cynical with the efforts of the United Nations Organization.

Dotting throughout the world—in Korea, Hong Kong, Dieppe, Dunkirk, Normandy, are the graves of those who died in two world wars. Their graves mark the individual contributions to a world community of peace.

But if we are to extricate ourselves from the impending doom, if we are to realize in any degree the common hope of mankind of a world at peace, then we must be prepared to give ourselves to the common task of building a community.

merged—in the common life of the family. The realization of this family community in the world can only occur after a long time and after great personal sacrifice.

When that takes place, we can begin to build in hope.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-fashioned hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

More than half of this money is made up of the savings of private individuals... hard-earned dollars that will give the depositor a backlog of money for future use.
