

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 1, 1884.

What the Trade Statistics Show

To the "wildly extravagant" statements of Mr. Davies and others, we oppose a few facts and figures:

In 1879, the capital invested in Canadian cotton manufactories was $2,100,000; in 1883 it had increased to $8,500,000. In 1879 the raw material used in cotton manufacture was 12,500,000 lbs.; in 1882 it had grown to 38,500,000 lbs. The cotton cloth made in 1879 was 38,000,000 yards; in 1882, 115,000,000 yards. The increase in the number of workmen, living in the country, consuming the products of our farmers, and using dutiable goods, and helping forward the prosperity and revenue of the country, was about in the same proportion; and our people can to-day purchase cotton goods at lower prices than they could at any time previous to the adoption of the National Policy.

The woollen trade shows a like increase in capital from $1,644,000 to $2,500,000; and woollen goods are to-day as cheap, or cheaper than they were before the advent of the N. P.

In 1878, but 7 per cent. of our sugar was imported from the West Indies, while in 1883, 87 per cent. was brought direct from the West Indies and South America, and but six per cent. by the round-about way of Great Britain and the United States. The labor for refining is now employed and paid in our own country, and the profit of the business goes to build up our wealth; while good brown sugar for family use, is sold, to-day, in Charlottetown, by the pound for 6 1/2 cents, and the best refined sugar for 8 cents.

The output of coal in Nova Scotia increased from 688,000 in 1879 to 1,250,000 tons in 1882!

Between 1875 and 1882, the train mileage of Canada increased from 17,000,000 to 27,000,000; the earnings of railways from $19,000,000 to $29,000,000, and the tons of freight carried from five and a half to thirteen and a half millions.

The aggregate of the import and export trade of the country in 1879 was $67,288,848, and in 1883 to $99,197,684, a difference in favor of 1883 of $31,908,836!

These facts and figures show how false the predictions that the National Policy would ruin the trade of this country and increase the cost of living in it.

The Opposition Candidate.

MR. WELSH is the Opposition candidate after all. After all his protestations that he could not possibly be induced to come out; after all the reports that he would not be seen in the same company with some of those who support Mr. Blake, he is in the field, backed up by those princes of cajolers—Messrs. Davies and Farquharson. Well, he will have ample time, after the battle, to philosophise on the old saying that "discretion is the better part of valor." In the mean time, the boys will have some fun, and the country will have to pay the piper. The Grits are spoiling for a fight, and they shall have it.

The Lieutenant-Governorship.

HIS HONOR LIETENANT-GOVERNOR McDONALD took the oaths of office in the Legislative Council Chamber at twelve o'clock to-day. The oaths were administered by Mr. Justice Hensley, in the presence of a large number of citizens, including Fredk. Brecken, Esq., Postmaster of Charlottetown, the Hon. Donald Ferguson, the Hon. William Campbell, Mr. J. J. McGee, Clerk of the Privy Council, and other prominent gentlemen.

Immediately after the "swearing in" ceremony was performed, the Caledonian Club of Prince Edward Island presented the following address, which was read by Professor Caven:

TO HIS HONOR THE HONORABLE ANDREW ARCHIBALD MACDONALD, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Prince Edward Island,

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOR.—It would be ill the part of the members of the Caledonian Club, were they to fit themselves anywhere save among the first to offer you their congratulations on your elevation to the position of Lieutenant-Governor of this, your native Province. For a long period of years, you have been an active member of our Scottish Society—during many of these years, you have as an office-bearer discharged important duties connected with it; and hence it is fitting that we should be among the first to tell you with what pleasure we witness your preferment, and to bid you God-speed in your new sphere of action, where high and honorable duties will await the exercise of your wisdom and experience.

It is a habit with Scotsmen when a countryman is raised to a position of trust to rejoice with joy as heartfelt as if the elevation were their own. They do not indeed possess the glittering honors, but their patriotism tells them that fresh renown has been added to the indomitable race from which they feel proud to claim descent. If we, therefore, on seeing our chief lifted to the highest position in his native Province should experience some feelings of joyous satisfaction, who will blame us?

The annals of our common country teem with the names of men whose success in the affairs of Government has made them models for the study of all who aspire to administrative eminence. Among such names, History will, we hope, one day write yours. Nor is this hope without its justification from what is already known of your life, we may reasonably infer that your new duties will be discharged with zeal and wisdom. You are no stranger to the people—their wants and their trials are familiar to you. You have been engaged with political matters from the years of your earliest manhood. You have seen arise all the great questions that have affected the people. You have taken part in their discussion, and have borne your share in their tranquil settlement. With such experience joined to your rural tact and industry, your career as Lieutenant-Governor cannot fail to be beneficial to the Province and honorable to yourself.

That such may be the case, and that the years of your Administration may pass filled with happiness and tranquillity to yourself, Mrs. Macdonald and family, is our most earnest wish.

Caledonia Club Room, Charlottetown, August 1, 1884.

To which His Honor made the following

REPLY.

To the Members of the Caledonian Club of Prince Edward Island.

GENTLEMEN.—I return you my grateful acknowledgments for the address you have presented to me on my elevation to the distinguished position of Lieutenant-Governor of Prince Edward Island.

Having been connected with the Caledonian Club for many years past, and holding the honorable position of Chief, to which you elected me, it is indeed gratifying to find I still retain the confidence of the members of that Society, in whose success I have ever taken such a warm interest, and that you are now the first to tender me your felicitations and bid me God speed on entering that new sphere of action to which I have been unexpectedly called by the Government of the Dominion.

I know from past experience that you are ever ready to sympathize with your distressed countrymen, and I now find you equally ready to rejoice when a fellow clansman has received promotion. In this I recognize another evidence of that spirit of loyalty and patriotism so characteristic of Scotsmen generally, which makes them good citizens of the Dominion, confident of the future greatness of our common country, and loving subjects of that revered Queen, in whose person the Royal lines of England and Scotland are so happily united.

If I have been identified to some extent with the various public questions of the past thirty years, it has been but as a supporter of those leaders in the path of progress, whose legislation has placed this Island on an equality with the most advanced Provinces of the Dominion of Canada, in the history of which respected names, familiar as household words are so happily identified, that I can find many, whose bright example I may well strive to emulate.

Thanking you most cordially for your kind wishes for Mrs. Macdonald, for my family and myself, I earnestly pray that the hand of Divine Providence may ever guide me in the discharge of the responsible duties I am called to discharge.

A. MACDONALD.

His Honor has selected Francis Conroy, Esq., to be his Private Secretary.

The Scotch Gathering.

THE "Gathering of the Clans" was this year "a great success" in spite of the rain. The indefatigable President, to whom the success was in great part due, refused to see in the downfall, anything more than "a good Scotch mist," and declared there was no such word as "postponed" in his vocabulary. And so the sports went on,—demonstrating that the sons of the Heather in P. E. Island have lost none of the ardour and prowess for which they are distinguished throughout the world.

—There isn't too much in Mr. Welsh's card—at any rate.

—Buncombe—at the Academy of Music last evening.

The Gathering of the Clans.

AT THE SCOTTISH GAMES YESTERDAY.

The competition was keen and well sustained throughout. The decisions of the judges invariably sustained in all cases, receiving a manly acquiescence from unsuccessful competitors themselves. At the close of the proceedings, Mr. John M. Campbell, whose faithful discharge of the important position devolving upon him cannot be too highly appreciated by the Club of which he is indeed an active member, gave out the names of the successful competitors. J. W. Morrison, Esq., Treasurer of the Club, handed the Chief the envelopes containing the amount of prizes awarded. The Chief presented the same to their winners, accompanied by appropriate complimentary remarks before the presentation of prizes.

Hon. A. A. McDonald, the Chief of the Caledonia Club, from the front of the Grand Stand addressed the vast assemblage, thanking them all on behalf of the Club, for patronizing the Gathering of the Clans. He complimented the people on their good behaviour and orderly conduct during the whole of the proceedings of the day. It was gratifying said the Chief, to see such a large concourse of people assembled to commemorate the games of our forefathers, and to patronize our Scottish Gathering.

He was followed by Archibald McNeill, Esq., the President of the Club. He tendered their thanks to the general public for turning out in such large numbers to countenance the Gathering of the Clans. He alluded to the valuable services rendered the games committee by their fellow clansmen, Mr. McKelvie, Mr. McLeod, F. McNeill and others, from Summerside; Hugh L. Macdonald, of Cardigan; Hector McMillan, of Pictou, N. S.; Samuel Macdonald, of Dundas, and other representative Scotchmen from different sections of the Province, and from abroad, by taking an active part in their respective capacities to render the proceedings as agreeable and successful as possible. He alluded in becoming terms to the promotion of their honored Chief to the high and distinguished office of Lieutenant-Governor of this his native Province.

At the close of his speech the President proposed three cheers to Lieutenant-Governor Haviland who, on many occasions, honored the Club with his presence at their festive boards, and at their Gatherings. Also three cheers to Mayor Hooper for his patronage—and three cheers to the Ladies. The Chief then proposed three cheers to Her Gracious Majesty the Queen. It is needless to add that cheers so heartily proposed were severally responded to by loud and long applause, after which one of the most agreeable, and all things considered, the most successful Gathering of the Clans in this Province terminated.
