NOT STRONG AS TO DETAILS.

In the Provincial Legislature a few days ago, Mr. Kichham asked the Commissioner of Public Works for a statement showing in detail the amount expended on Souris Beach between the 13th of May and the 31st December of last year, the names of the persons employed, the dates of their employment, the number of days employed, the amount paid per day to each person employed, the number of persons and horses employed, the amount paid per day for each horse and the length of time employed, the cost and amount of material furnished and the name of the person or persons furnishing the same.

The Commissioner in reply pointed out that the answer to the question would be found in the Road Supervisor's return for Road District No. 4, King's County. Mr. Kichham looked up the Supervisor's return and found the following: "Work on Souris Beach; Road, Archibald Currie $177.50."

Another question of Mr. Kichham respecting the details of an expenditure of $108.45 charged to Souris Beach-work, was answered in the same way by the Commissioner. But at latest accounts Mr. Kichham had not obtained the information he desired.

The Commissioner is evidently not strong on details.

On Thursday afternoon the Commissioner refused to table the tenders for the new Prince of Wales College which had been asked for by Mr. Shaw.

Yesterday morning, however, he came down from his high horse and submitted the tenders received under Mr. Chappell's plan.

Mr. Shaw yesterday jogged the Commissioner's memory in reference to the specification for the proposed college, which had not been brought down as promised, and also pointed out that the information asked for early in the session regarding the proposed new wing to the Hospital for the Insane had not yet been tabled. Mr. Shaw said that this information was very necessary to an intelligent discussion of the budget, and intimated that if it were not to be submitted he would take the usual constitutional appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor.

The Commissioner again mounted his high horse, and informed the House that he did not care the snap of his fingers for the threat of Mr. Shaw,—that the information would be brought down when it was ready and not before.

A Trade Secret.

"Oh, Mr. Scannerton," she exclaimed effusively, "I have been waiting to see you! I wanted to tell you how much I appreciate that poem you had in the latest issue of The Cerebrum Magazine."

"You mean the one that begins:

"Through the turbid depths we plod and plow
And clamour on, we know not how,
To find the goals that promised rest
But weary starting points at best."

"Yes," she answered, with dreamy, downcast eyes. "I like that. And it gets better as you go on. It gets very much better. There were parts of it that I could hardly understand at all."

"Oh, you flatter me!"

"No, indeed. You ought to do more things like that. You ought to write in a more dignified measure and be profound, you know. I like that so much better than these little things that sound as if they were done offhand. Yet I know there must be a great temptation to do that kind of work."

"There is," was the answer. "I very narrowly escaped making this one sound so."

"Tell me how."

"I had to send the thing away in a hurry. I didn't have time to make it sound offhand."—Washington Star.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES.

Montreal Star: A most excellent result of the courage of the Senators in the case of the Drummond County Railway purchase and the proposed extravagant subsidizing of the Yukon Railway, is the fact that the Government is now legislating with one very vigilant eye fixed upon the Senate. An example of this is seen in the apprehension shown by the Ministry lest their precious franchise bill be rejected by the Upper House. In order to prevent this, if possible, they have tied the plebiscite bill up to it; and the Premier has declared, "quite unnecessarily, that if the franchise bill fails to carry in the Senatorial chamber, then the plebiscite must perforce be delayed."

The object of the declaration is plain enough. It says to the Senators that if they dare to balk the will of the majority in the Commons with respect to this franchise business, they must encounter the wrath of the temperance people, who feel that they have had quite delay enough in "their's" already. While this cannot be commended as a fair and high-minded method of inviting the Senate to act freely upon its deliberate opinion regarding this measure, still it shows that the Government realize, as never before, that the Parliament of Canada consists of the Queen the Senate and the Commons,—and not the latter acting alone. Senatorial opinion is to be reckoned with, and Senatorial opposition, if possible, provided for.

AGAINST ENCORES

SIR,—May I be permitted to ask who is responsible for the encores at "some" of our concerts? The Oddfellows concert would, in my opinion, and in the opinion of number of others, have been perfect, had it not been for this encore nuisance. People will stay away from concerts altogether in the future if this state of affairs continues. To encore one, means to encore all; and for what? might one ask in some cases? Sometimes to please the small boys at the rear of the hall.

A Converted Physician.

With the Aid of South American Kidney Cure, Nurses his "Hopeless" Cases back to Health.

A prominent physician writes this of diabetes: "Personally until very recently I have never known an absolute cure." But this same physician says further that he has noted the wonderful work accomplished in patients of his by South American Kidney Cure; patients whom he had ceased to treat because in his estimation there was no cure and no hope. What a tribute this is to be the medical genius in the compounding of this great remedy—this kidney specific. It soothes, heals and cures the diseased parts. Does it quickly and permanently. Sold by Dr. S. W. Dodd & Geo. E. Hughes.

"By Hook or Crook."

In old times the poor of a manor were permitted to obtain as fuel the dead wood from the surrounding woodland. The dead twigs and branches which were beyond their reach they were allowed to lop off with a hook or crook.

There is a document among the records of the town of Bodmin which gives the right to the burgesses of the town, under the concession of the prior of Bodmin, "to bear and carry away on their backs and in no other way the lop, crop, hoop, crook and bag wood in the prior's wood of Dunmeer."

Another part of this paper mentions this as "a right with hook and crook to lop, crop and carry away fuel, etc., in the same wood."

The date of this record is 1525.—New York World.

SPRAINS.

It is commonly said that a sprained joint is worse than a broken bone, and this is often true, for in a severe sprain the injury is really greater than in a simple fracture. The ankle is perhaps the most frequently sprained of all the joints, though the knee, elbow and wrist are also very liable to be injured, in falls especially.

A sprain of a joint varies greatly in severity. It may consist of a simple wrench, without the tearing of any of the ligaments, or it may be a more extensive injury, stopping just short of a dislocation.

In a moderately severe case one or more of the ligaments of the joint will be torn slightly, or possibly completely across. The membrane beneath the ligaments, which retains the lubricating fluid of the joint, will be ruptured, permitting the escape of more or less of this fluid into the parts about, and giving rise sometimes to a considerable swelling. This swelling may be increased also by an effusion of fluid into the joint, especially if inflammation sets in, and finally there is usually a slight or even sometimes a quite pronounced escape of blood into the tissues, and this, gradually working to the surface, appears as a black and blue stain.

In more severe cases the tendons passing over the joint and attaching the muscles which move it to the bones may suffer considerable damage, or one of them may be broken or torn from its attachment, bringing with it a sliver of bone. Where so much harm has been done to all the parts—bones, ligaments, tendons and muscles—it is easy to understand that much pain will result and that the cure will be tedious.

In the treatment of a sprain the first thing to be aimed at is to relieve pain and prevent inflammation, then to favor healing of the torn structures, and after that to restore the use of the limb.

The first of these objects is accomplished by absolute rest of the injured part, the limb being raised, and by lead and opium wash, a spirit lotion, or such other local applications as the physician may prescribe. Swelling is prevented in a measure and pain is sometimes relieved by firm bandaging with a flannel bandage.

When the swelling, heat and pain are gone, the limb should not be used too soon, but should be brought gradually back to health by cold douching, dry rubbing in a direction toward the body and passive motion. It is sometimes necessary in very severe cases to treat the sprain by means of splints, exactly as if it were a fracture or dislocation.—Youth's Companion.
