Butt Pincher:

Though flattered by your advances, I believe blatant expressions of admiration in the student newspaper are somewhat excessive. I also do not consider myself a flirt -- cute yes, a flirt no. Maybe instead of grabbing my rear next time you could introduce yourself, shake my hand, not my bootie. Thanks.

-- Cute redhead from the Pit.

To the Kisscapade Girls:

Wow! I didn't know that Newfie Girls were quite so friendly. I'll have to come and visit more often. I'm counting the days until Antigonish.

Lub's ya,

Your offer sounds promising, only I haven't a clue who you are. Good times could be ahead in the Royal court. Give me a clue.

Am writing early in hopes that you won't forget me this year. I've been relatively good and would like a dolly for Christmas and a new car. Thanks.

To the nice man who opened the truck door for me at Pizza Delight: Thanks, you made my week. My friend at Eaton's was talking about this guy who came in, and started changing his shirt in front of us. Sound familiar?

-- J.C.

So, since you now have all these uniforms, can we play dress-up? Hope it didn't rain.

You can take control of genital herpes

...and your life

Coping with recurrent symptoms such as itching or burning pain, tingling, sores, or even localized redness in or near the genital area has never been easy. Add to this the emotional impact of guilt, resentment, depression... a disruption of daily life.

Advances in medical research now enable you to do something about genital herpes outbreaks. A greater understanding of genital herpes — plus the availability of affordable treatments, and counselling — can help you get your life essentially back to normal and potentially keep outbreaks out of the picture for years.

To confidentially learn more about reducing the severity and frequency of genital herpes outbreaks, and minimizing the risk of transmission through safe sex guidelines, contact the National Herpes Hotline.
