

Her First Trial.

Sadly, yet gently, she's weeping Over that fair little bed; Sweetly her baby lies sleeping, The beautiful sleep of dead.

CURRENT NOTES.

Charles Harding Peters, the well known German naturalist and traveller, is dead.

In the German Reichstag on the 24th a treaty of commerce with Serbia was adopted.

The steamer "Scandinavian," which sailed from Montreal on the 24th for Quebec and Montreal, brings 282 emigrants from County Mayo.

The Major General commanding the Curragh, Ireland, has ordered a large increase in the number of sentries on duty, the police having discovered a Fenian plot to attack the camp at an early day.

Herr Janner, Director of Ring Theatre Vienna, at the time it was burned, who was convicted of negligence in connection with the disaster and sentenced to imprisonment, has been pardoned by the Emperor.

Reports from Crawford, Ga., state that considerable damage was done by the storm of the 23d. Many houses were blown down. Several persons were injured by lightning and falling houses. Great loss feared.

It is stated that the object of the alliance between Germany, Austria and Italy is to secure the isolation of France, in order to effect a simultaneous disarmament which Bismarck intends to propose at a European congress.

Ship County, of Aberdeen, from Calcutta, collided with the Owners' lightship with the ship British Commerce, bound for Melbourne. The latter vessel sunk with 25 of her crew. The weather was thick at the time of the collision.

The Swedish Anthropological Society has awarded Henry M. Stanley the medal instituted by the society in memory of the Vega. The medal has been handed to the American Minister at Stockholm, to be forwarded to Stanley.

In the House of Lords on the 23rd Lord Dunraven called attention to the distress prevailing in Ireland, and urged the adoption of a scheme for emigration on a large scale. The Marquis of Lansdowne also spoke in favor of emigration.

After the wheat came up on a Kentucky farm, a sleet storm covered the field with ice. Before this melted a flood swept over, and the ice, rising to the surface of the water, pulled every blade of wheat out of the ground and carried it away.

The real name of "Featherstone," one of the alleged dynamite conspirators in Dublin, is Edmund O'Brien. Kennedy stated that he had turned informer, and is giving information to the authorities touching the doings of the conspirators.

William Bradley, known as "Billy the Kid," has been missing from Ansonia since April 19. He was a native of Birmingham, Eng., and a well known boxer and sporting man. A suitable reward will be paid for information concerning his whereabouts.

An explosion occurred on the 25th, in a mine at Bessies, in the arrondissement of Calais, France. Nine bodies thus far have been recovered. At the roll call, which was held after the explosion, 127 miners failed to answer to their names, and it is feared there are many victims.

Sir Richard Assheton Cross (Conservative) moved the rejection of the Affirmative Bill in the House of Commons, on the 23rd, and Mr. Bourke (Conservative) gave notice that he would question the Government as to whether any steps had been taken by the authorities at Washington relative to the conspiracies against America, alleged to have been organized in England by members of the Irish dynamite party.

The new jury in the Kelly case includes a murderer named Drank, at whose house the murderers drank before going to the Phoenix Park. The sensation of the day in connection with the trial was when a Crown witness named McGlynn swore that Kelly was not among the four men seen by him in Phoenix Park on the evening of May 6th. The Crown solicitors were surprised at this statement, and fiercely cross-examined the witness. The incident is considered very important.

The cyclone in the vicinity of Americus, Ga., on the 23d, was three hundred to a thousand yards wide. Houses were blown down, forests levelled, and all vestige of fences swept away; cattle, swine, and horses were killed by hundreds; all farms and plantations in the track of the storm are in ruins, and the grain crops are destroyed. Twenty-five people were killed and 200 wounded in this county. Many houses and mills with their contents, and animals and children were blown hundreds of yards.

Hon. Neal Dow writes to the New York Sun persisting in his contention that the Maine law has reduced the liquor traffic in the State to one-twentieth of what it was. He says: "I am not surprised that anyone living in a 'license' State should conclude that the 1,162 liquor dealers said to be in Maine indicate a large sale of intoxicants; but if he could see the sort of places these 1,162 shops are he would know that the traffic in Maine is really reduced to very small proportions." He refers to the method adopted for searching out the places alluded to, and adds: "On the 29th they searched one of these places, a low den occupied by low people. The cellar was surrounded by planks instead of stones. In these they discovered what appeared to be a door, but there was no appearance of hinges or lock. After a careful search they discovered a spring, on reaching which the door opened. It gave access to a small cave, with no window, and no means of entrance but by this door. In the cave were two jugs, partly full of whiskey, and an iron gas pipe, coming from and leading to nowhere that they could perceive. On pulling this pipe, a piece of rubber hose was found to be attached to it, the outlet of which they did not discover. On cutting this hose whiskey ran out only in a small quantity. The whole stock-in-trade was not two gallons; but the keeper is one of the 1,162 who pay the 'special tax.' The penalty in this case is $100 fine and costs and six months in jail. In another place the entire stock was contained in two junk bottles, fastened to the belt, one on each side, under the outer skirt of the woman who kept the place. In another place the entire stock was in a flat tin vessel, containing about two quarts, fitted to the person and worn by the 'special tax' payer under his vest."

The Great French Remedy, Dr. LeDuc's Perichondrial Pills.

For the cure of Leucorrhoea or White's Excessive of Menstruation, Green Sickness, Falling of the Womb, Catarrh of the Uterus or Vagina, Hysteria, Pain in the Back, or Piles, or for the purpose of invigorating and giving tone to the Generative Organs, two pills should be taken twice daily, or in very enfeebled conditions, one pill three times a day. To effect cures in chronic cases it will be necessary to continue the use of the remedy for some months. A reasonable trial will create sufficient confidence in the remedy to insure its being taken until a permanent cure is effected.

GSA COOKING STOVES.

WE have made arrangements with the best makers of Gas Stoves in the United States, which we will be able to supply the public, at the lowest possible price.

We have also agreed with the Gas Company (for the purpose of introducing these stoves), to sell the first fifteen (15) for which we may receive orders.

At their Net Cost,

LANDED HERE.

TESTIMONIALS.

The following are a few testimonials from a list of several hundred:—

The capacity of the Stove is surprising. With a No. 8 Stove we cooked for a party of seven, giving them broiled oysters, steak, lamb chops, and baked biscuit, in 15 minutes, at a cost for gas of 4 cents. On another occasion we gave a dinner in courses of twenty men, the bill of fare as follows: Broiled shad, beef steak, roast quarter of lamb, baked biscuit and coffee; heating the water for washing the dishes four times, re-setting the table three times. All was accomplished in one hour and forty minutes, at an expense for gas of 8 cents.

This work was all done on one No. 8 stove. All were enthusiastic over the manner in which the oysters, fish and meats were cooked; none had experienced any so tender, juicy, and of such full flavor before. We consider the stove a great success, and most complete in all its parts and arrangements.

A. C. WOOD, Supt.

I bought one of your No. 12 Gas Cooking Stoves last September, for use in my restaurant, and have used it ever since for baking, broiling and stewing.

I can say for it that it is always ready and does its work rapidly; that there is no dust, no dirt, no surplus heat, as we are using only that portion that we need, and as soon as the article is cooked the gas is extinguished and there is no waste. I think it will do the same amount of work at less cost than coal, even at the high price of gas. It takes much less room than a coal range that would do the same work. I am perfectly satisfied with it and would not be without one for double the price.

J. T. HARKER.

The Gas Stove you sent me, I am glad to say has proved an entire success.

If my testimony is of any value to you, you are at liberty to use it. The increase in the coal bill more than offsets the increase in the gas ditto. The cooking is excellent and uniform in its operation.

No dirt or dust irritates the careful housewife, and Mrs. S. describes it as a "real treasure."

In my humble opinion, any man who really wants to add to the number of allotted days of his better-half, had better invest in a Gas Stove and save her worry, and himself expense.

W. H. SKYMOOR.

We are perfectly delighted with our Gas Stove. It gives entire satisfaction in every respect.

MRS. M. PENNINGTON, 2103 Vine St.

Your favor of the 1st inst. was duly received asking my opinion of the Gas Cooking Stove bought last May, and in reply, would state that the satisfaction rendered by the stove was far beyond my expectations, and the work it will accomplish is marvelous, together with the small expense and comfort attending the same.

EDWIN A. GARRETT.

Having used one of your No. 7 Gas Cooking Stoves for a considerable time past, it is with pleasure that I bear testimony to its genuine merits.

It boils, bakes, broils, roasts, and in fact does everything that a first class stove or range can do, and with a saving of time and labor, that can only be appreciated by those who use them.

It has given us the most entire satisfaction, and to use my wife's words, "I would not be without it for ten times the cost."

From statements of our gas meter taken, we find it more economical than coal.
