Intelligence

The practice of allowing civilian workmen and private contractors to bring privately owned chests of tools, instruments and machines into defence establishments constitutes a risk to security.

Boxes and similar containers brought into defence establishments without being checked provide a simple means for enemy agents to introduce explosives or other harmful agents.

Few people in this country would advocate that our military installations and means of production should be bristling with armed guards and protective devices. Such measures are foreign to our Democratic system.

ports that a roundup already may be under way of East Germans who regularly send out information on Soviet activities.

FORCED TO GO - U. S. VIEW The U. S. high commission view was that John was "trapped or forced" into the East. It supported the West German government's contention that the official was kidnapped by Communists.

West Berlin police clung to the view that he and a doctor acquaintance voluntarily went to the Russian sector. They said John suffered "serious mental depression" recently.

John headed the federal anti-subversive activities bureau known as the Office for Protection of the Constitution. He regularly exchanged information with British and American intelligence and as a result had first-hand knowledge of at least the high spots of their activities in East Germany.

One western authority said John also had identified several hundred persons in the Soviet zone who fed information to the West.

BRITISH CONCERN British authorities showed their concern by sending two top counterspy agents to Berlin to investigate. Dispatches from London said Britain has cancelled the signal code system linking London with West German authorities as a precaution against the possibility John carried Allied code books with him.

In Washington, intelligence sources said John was not in a position to compromise American security.

A special session of the West German parliament's committee for protection of the constitution was called for next Tuesday to take up the John case.

The government announced the appointment of Dr. Hanns Jess, president of the federal criminal police, to head John's office temporarily.

Atomic Energy Debate Continues In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republican leaders appealed to the Senate Friday to put a time limit on its bitter atomic energy debate but ran into a down wall of opposition from Democrats who have been fighting the administration's bill day and night since Wednesday.

Majority leader William Knowland of California asked several times for unanimous consent to bring the bill to a vote, only to meet with objections from the floor.

The only other courses, Knowland said, are cloture (limitation by a two-thirds vote of the Senate membership if the leadership can get it) or complete surrender "of legislative function into the hands of those who will try to keep the Senate from functioning."

Senator Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) objected to one proposal which would have limited the debate, beginning Monday, to two hours on each amendment, and four hours on the bill itself.

The tired but stubborn opposition was unswayed by Knowland's offer to call off another night session and hold only a brief, routine session today if a limitation agreement could be reached.

Two Accidents In Summerside

The early hours of yesterday morning saw two rather serious accidents in Summerside, when a 1948 Plymouth car, stolen from a local car lot was found upturned on Victoria Road and though blood was found about the car, the thief or thieves had fled.

A little earlier a Buick car driven by a Kensington man failed to make the curve on Water St. West, striking a Telephone pole and breaking it off. One of the cement posts of the Sea Wall was also sheared off. The car was reported to be badly damaged but the driver was uninjured. He appeared in Summerside Police Court this morning and the case was adjourned until next Tuesday. A party from the Western part of the Province, charged with being impaired while driving was fined $100.00 and costs in Police Court yesterday morning.

A Tignish fisherman, under a similar charge, had his case adjourned for trial at Summerside on September 7. Five other Tignish fishermen also had their cases adjourned.

Under the Highway Traffic Act, a resident of Alberton South was fined $2 and costs for not having a muffler in proper working order. U. S. Defeats Canada In Blind Golfers Meet

TORONTO (CP) - The United States defeated Canada by 39 strokes in the first international blind golf tournament at Lambton court on Friday.

Joe Lazaro, 37, of Waltham, Mass., with 115-105-220 for the 36 holes, emerged as the first North American blind golf champion. He shot a birdie two, missing a hole-in-one by three inches as the ball rolled past the cup to rest 18 inches from the hole.

Trickiest hole on the par 71 course is the 408-yard fourth. The tee stands 60 feet above the level of the green and a creek winds twice across the fairway. Par is 107.

Lazaro, who lost his sight during the Second World War with the U. S. army in Italy when a mine exploded near him, shot that hazardous hole in five, and one stroke was a penalty. He sank a 22-foot putt.

LONG DRIVES

Lazaro, an electronic equipment inspector, was one of 14 blind golfers from Canada and the U. S. who Friday decided four championships in medal play over 36 holes. Lazaro's tremendous drives of 200 yards or more carried him into the lead at an early stage.

He was coached by 16-year-old Joe Curley, a caddy from his home club. The coaches give the golfers advice on distance and direction, but soon then it's up to the contestants to play.

Canada's six-man team - the highest scorer in the side is eliminated from the aggregate total - was only 26 strokes behind the U. S. when play began Friday.

Charley Boswell of Birmingham, Ala., the American champion, who led the field Thursday with 111, carded a 112 for Friday's 18 hole to take runner-up individual honors with 223.

Charlie was paired against 25-year-old Vic Genere, an opponent from Dundas, Ont., who began Friday with 113 and finished with 114 to win the Canadian championship. His 29-year-old brother Carmen, therefore won the Canadian coach championship trophy donated by blind English doctor J. O'Brien.

Charlie Tooth of Hamilton was the 1953 Canadian champion.

Vietminh Forces Continue Fighting In Indo - China As Peace Time Announced

By JOHN RODERICK SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) - The French high command called a halt to offensive action throughout Indo-China Friday and announced the cease-fire will go into effect in north Viet Nam at 7 p.m. Monday, July 27 (7 p.m. EDT Monday, July 26).

Vietminh forces kept up the fight in the Red River delta Friday. The cease-fire will not begin officially in other areas of Viet Nam until shortly afterward to give the Communist-led Vietminh time to get word of the agreement to scattered outposts without radio links to headquarters.

Vietminh guerrillas struck violently before dawn at the French post of Vietri, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and were harassing other garrisons in the Red River delta, a distance of no more than 25 kilometers (15 miles) from points held by French troops, and (C) Carrying no transport north or northwest of the Halphong-Hanoi line. The Vietminh has no air force.

Measures will be taken to prevent evacuating troops from endangering the lives or property of the population, as well as industrial, cultural and health installations and public works.

Ont. Government Spends Money For Fair Trial

TORONTO (CP) - The Ontario government will spend between $3,000 and $4,000 in an effort to see that Eric Walter Kalpiainen, of Port Arthur, is given every opportunity for a fair trial.

W. B. Common, the province's chief solicitor and head of prosecutions, said Friday the attorney general's department has arranged to have a Finnish judge act as an Ontario commissioner under Canadian law to hear evidence at Helsinki on behalf of the accused.

Kalpiainen, charged with murdering his son in a bathroom after domestic trouble, was recently sentenced in Port Arthur to be hanged. Following the death of his son he turned the gun on himself.

His counsel A. A. Patrone, claimed insanity but Ontario alienists claimed he was sane and the court accepted their findings. Patrone, in appealing the conviction, told the court that evidence in Finland that while accused was serving with the Finnish army, he was neurotic and insane and asked that this evidence be heard.

The appeal was granted and the hearing of the evidence in Finland was arranged through that country's legation in Ottawa. W. C. Bowman, a solicitor in the attorney general's department, will go to Finland to help the Finnish judge.

Part of the cost of hearing the evidence in Helsinki will be borne by the legal aid fund of the Law Society of Upper Canada. Kalpiainen's next trial will be at Port Arthur some time in October.

Navy Develops New Speed Boats

HALIFAX, (CP) - The navy Thursday lifted some of the secrecy wraps on a boat with wings that can run circles around the 60-mile-an-hour motor torpedo boats of the Second World War.

The navy's announcement permitted little to be said about the boat that has been observed buzzing about Bedford Basin north of Halifax harbor for more than a year but observers have estimated its speed at a score of 70 knots - about 80 miles an hour.

The 40-foot test craft has wing like sheets of metal protruding from the hull, which lifts clear of the water when the boat's aircraft engines have propelled her to the right speed.

There was speculation that the craft would be idealized for a role in Canada's expanding navy, designed primarily as an anti-submarine force in any future war. The boats would also replace the converted motor torpedo boat now used in sea rescues.

The hydrofoil method for reducing extreme speeds by reducing the "drag" as the hull clears the water is not revolutionary. Experiments have been conducted since the turn of the century and the Netherlands was reported to have been working on similar high-speed craft since the Second World War.

Strange But True

This is the story of the story-book lady from Otter Point. British Columbia. Mrs. Janet Shafer uses her hands and fertile brain to make little books for little sick folk all across Canada.

To date, Mrs. Shafer has made almost a thousand little books which bring laughter and wonder to Canada's shut-in children. How does she do it? By typing make believe stories and weep poems which she illustrates with pictures cut from national magazines or from old Christmas cards. It takes her on an average of two days to make her 16 page booklets, in which some of the material is her own brain children. Then they go out to children's hospitals and to homes where crippled children live.

Hospital authorities across the province commend her for the work of the story-book lady has a tremendous appeal to sick children.

Briefly this is the story behind the story: As a girl, Mrs. Shafer left Toronto to work in a Calgary, Alberta bank in 1919, she quit her job got married and moved to a ranch in the Peace River Country, where her husband died. In 1927 she married again and with husband number two continued homesteading. Later the couple started a milk farm on Lesser Great Slave Lake. A trip among the settlers of this outlying district convinced Mrs. Shafer that something ought to be done to help the many destitute families struggling to get a foothold on the ladder of success.

So, rather than let George do it, Mrs. Shafer got busy herself. Result: Strachone Lodge, a girls' school near Shawanigan Lake which catered to kiddies of English parentage. This work resulted in Mrs. Shafer being given the job of distributing clothing, food and toys to needy children. She carried on in this capacity until 1943, travelling through backwoods districts of the province. Then a group of women formed themselves into a club - a chartered club and the story-book lady was chosen to travel through British Columbia and Alberta to collect useful things for the struggling families.

She covered areas and villages in the two provinces mostly on the shores of the Peace River, where she stayed at hotels or rooming houses, yet strange to say she never went hungry or bedless.

During that three-month-hike she collected and shipped home for distribution a couple of tons of clothing for the needy. Welfare agencies and the men in scarlet now began to set up and take notice of what Mrs. Shafer was doing.

She tried to help everyone who needed help, but needy children commanded the warmest spot in her big heart. Often she travelled miles out of her way just to visit a sick child who needed her help.

It will have accommodation for 55 beds and will have classrooms, students lounge, graduate nurses lounge and provision for a recreation room.

Dulles Comments On Indo-China Protective Line

WASHINGTON (AP) - State Secretary Dulles says a protective line can be drawn by the free nations around the non-Communist states of Indo-China even though under the Geneva peace settlement the Chinese are not able to join actively in an anti-Communist alliance.

Dulles indicated at a press conference Friday that he does not think a power vacuum necessarily will develop in the area made up of north Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

He said the south, or French-protected region of Viet Nam, has plenty of arms and he thinks some military aid in the form of weapons supply may be continued by the United States.

Dulles also said in response to questions that he would like to see stepped up economic and technical assistance to the free Indo-China states by all the countries able to give such aid and which are interested in blocking Red expansion.

He indicated the United States intends to do this by using some of the funds previously marked for military aid.

Dulles opened his press conference with a statement on the Indo-China peace settlement in which he said: "The important thing from now on is not to mourn the past but to seize the future opportunity to prevent the loss in northern Viet Nam from leading to the extension of communism throughout Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific."

SUMMERSIDE TOWN COUNCIL AGAIN DISCUSSES MATTER OF CLASSROOMS

The matter of providing additional classrooms at Summerside High School for the opening of school, following summer holidays was still further removed from the possibility of realization at a special meeting of the Town Council at noon yesterday when the Council divided again in rescinding the approval of alterations and constructions they had approved at a special meeting on July 12th, which in turn had rescinded a decision they had taken on the matter at a special meeting on June 29th.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that the M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd., have already begun the work of converting the present auditorium into 6 classrooms in accordance with the plan approved by the Council at the July 12th meeting.

Acting on what they stated were reasons of economy, the majority of the Council, while agreeing to provide part of the space requested, have opposed providing the full amount of classroom space the School Board maintain is required.

In their first meeting to deal with the request of the School Board, the Council offered to build an extension to provide eight additional classrooms. Following another meeting with the School Board in which the Board strongly emphasized the need for more classroom space than was being provided, the Council rescinded the previous motion and passed another which called for the conversion of the present Auditorium into six classrooms and the construction of a new auditorium.

Accepting this offer while pointing out that it alone was insufficient to meet the minimum classroom requirements the School Board then informed the Council that the Board would use its constitutional authority to proceed further by way of constructing an extension housing eight additional classrooms which would be finished as required.

The action of the Council yesterday in rescinding the previous motion was taken on the advice of the Town Recorder, E. H. Strong, Q.C., according to Councilor Wm. Jenkins, chairman of the Finance Committee, and he together with Councilors Clarence Steele, Donald Lidstone, and Andrew Perry supported the rescinding motion which was proposed by Councilors Hillard Clark and James MacDougall who have consistently supported the plan requested by the School Board.

Following is the text of the resolution passed yesterday: Resolved that owing to the fact that the Board would use its constitutional authority to proceed further by way of constructing an extension housing eight additional classrooms which would be finished as required.

At the beginning of the meeting Mayor Wedge said that in view of the action taken by the School Board it had been deemed necessary to secure the legal advice of the town recorder on the matter and while no official reply had been received from Mr. Strong he had been in conversation with Councilor Jenkins and expected to have a report for the Councilor within a day or two, and had suggested that certain actions be taken now, in the meantime.

Stating that the Council had agreed to provide what the Council considered to be the necessary classroom space required, Mayor Wedge pointed out that the Council is the body that has to pay for these things. Although, he said, the School Act gives the School Board special powers, he believed this was the first time such powers had been exercised in this Province. He said he didn't think part of the School Act was intended to be used except in an emergency, but he added that the matter will be clarified when they receive the legal opinion on the action taken by the School Board.

Councillor Perry said he thought that a resolution of such nature on such an important matter should have been prepared with the knowledge of all Councilors.

At this point Councilors Clark and MacDougall indicated actions in the resolution which they claimed were in error, and which were ultimately amended by the sponsors.

One of these referred to a figure quoted in the resolution of June 12th which, when checked with the original resolution of that date, was found to be incorrect by several thousand dollars. Another part of the original resolution as presented last evening, instructed that a letter be sent to M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd. advising them that the Council would not be responsible for payment of any work performed without the concurrence of the Council. Councilor Clark pointed out that while Schurmans had been engaged to do the work in connection with converting the auditorium, no tenders had been called or let for any other construction, and suggested that it would be ridiculous to send such a letter. This part of the resolution was then amended to read that a letter would be forwarded to the School Board advising that the Council was not assuming responsibility for payment of work it had not approved.

Both Councilors Clark and MacDougall sought assurance that work would continue so that the classrooms would be available for school opening, in what was formerly the auditorium. On this point no one seemed to be certain, although Councilor Jenkins said that the whole matter of rescinding the previous authority granted was to await the legal decision which had been sought. He said the Councilors themselves have looked at the problem from every angle, and he believed that an increase in taxes would be a bad thing this year, and felt that the whole matter had been sufficiently discussed in the weeks since it was first considered by the Council.

Councillor MacDougall referred to the financial report submitted earlier this year by Councilor Jenkins which had noted the need for increased classroom accommodation, and of a later financial analysis that showed that no tax increase would be necessary to provide the money with which to convert the old auditorium into classrooms and build a new auditorium, and Councilor MacDougall claimed this report indicated that it was possible that no tax increase would be required in providing the full accommodation requested by the School Board.

Refusing Security Clearance For Staff Aide WASHINGTON (AP) - The defence department refused Friday to give security clearance to Thomas W. LaVenia, a staff aide to the Senate investigations sub-committee, or detail its reasons for declining to clear him.

Wilbur M. Brucker, general counsel to the defence department, told reporters he had announced the refusal at a meeting with members of the sub-committee led by Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Brucker said also that McCarthy had been mistaken in saying that LaVenia had been granted clearance by the defence department in 1952 while he was working for the office of price stabilization.

Brucker said the refusal to clear LaVenia was on grounds that the defence department had no right to disclose information obtained from another government agency - the Federal Bureau of Investigation - in violation of a promise to keep it confidential.
