

Charlottetown Golf Pro Grabs Nova Scotia Open

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Professional Cecil Dowling of Charlottetown won the Nova Scotia Open golf title here Wednesday, finishing five strokes ahead of Moncton's Alan Ogilvie.

On the final 18 of the 72-hole match, Dowling scored a 73 for a grand total of 296 in the three-day tourney. Ogilvie fired a 71, the best round of the tournament, for an aggregate 301. Dowling is also the Maritime and New Brunswick - Prince Edward Island open champion.

Pete Kelly of Bathurst, N.B., only one stroke off Dowling's pace after 54 holes Tuesday, had to settle for a third-place tie in the final standings with Floyd Keddy of Dartmouth, N.S. Kelly fired a high 82 in the final round. Both he and Keddy finished with 306 marks.

Defending Nova Scotia open champion John Smith of Chester withdrew from the meet after a disappointing first day.

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

There appears to be more young baseball players in Charlottetown than ever before judging from the little league and minor league list.

Tuesday afternoon Jack 'Spy' Ready called a get-together of all those interested and the response was terrific. 101 boys signified their intention of little league ball and 48 stated they were all set to operate in the minor league.

It's easy to see that 'Spy' has quite a job on his hands looking after this flock of ball enthusiasts. Managers are urgently needed to take over the various teams and help 'Spy' see to it that the whole operation runs smoothly.

No sport takes place here during the summer that rates more attention than this activity at Memorial Field. These are the lads who are really interested in playing ball and will give all their ability, no matter how little it may be. They deserve every consideration and if any of you readers are in a position to help, kindly don't hesitate to do so.

This Ryne Duren is fast becoming a bit of a superman with the New York Yankees. His amazing speed ball has the experts scratching their heads to decide if they have ever seen anything to equal it. He hustles strolls to the mound as Casey's great relief artist and opposition seems overcome immediately. At least that's about the complete story to date.

Tuesday night was no exception as the Yankees squared the series with the Chicago White Sox at a game apiece. Ryne came to the rescue of Bob Turley who was looking for his 11th victory of the season. There was one out in the seventh and Duren proceeded to let the Pale Hose down without a hit the rest of the way while striking out six batters. Only man to get on base reached the initial sack in the ninth as the result of a walk.

Duren has been far too consistent to be termed lucky. You don't perform feats like his time after time without exceptional ability.

Ryne apparently has plenty of that. But Duren insists he never pitches a deliberate beanball. That should make batters feel much better. If he drops a few with that bullet ball of his all a fellow has to do to feel better is to convince himself that Ryne didn't mean it.

The young speed merchant puts it this way: They (the batters) have nothing to worry about though, because I have never thrown at anyone deliberately in my life and I never intend to. That's not my style. But I attempt to throw high and inside when it's necessary. That's part of my pitching equipment—of any pitcher's equipment—how can they possibly take that away from me?

Some of the hitters are complaining that they can't even see Ryne's pitches, especially during night games.

"Good Lord, all I did was hear the ball pop into your mitt," Rocky admitted to Yogi Berra during a recent game against Washington when Duren finished up.

"He threw that ball with only three-quarters speed," Berra told Bridges.

"Well, please tell him not to bother throwing any faster," Rocky replied. "That's more than fast enough for me."

Golf professionals were pleased to no end when Tommy Bolt recently won the United States open championship.

Bolt's many friends feel that reports on Tommy's bold defiance of golf etiquette are greatly exaggerated. They insist the reports were "colored" to make good reading.

It appears that Bolt has had a few bad moments when he broke clubs and had run-ins with fellow players but performances of late have proved that Tommy is all over that stage.

One pro put his enthusiasm in these words: "Tommy's a fine gent; has given golf a lot of color, regardless what is said about breaking clubs. I'm sure we all have felt like doing that a lot of time, but somehow restrained ourselves. And now he's over that."

Don Newcombe and Los Angeles met again on Tuesday night at Crosley Field Cincinnati.

When the Dodgers had last seen Newk he was wearing a Los Angeles uniform. Tuesday he was all dressed up in the attire of the Cincinnati Redlegs. And this time he was there on the mound trying to do damage to his former teammates.

But it didn't work out the way it would in a story book.

Big Newk came on in the ninth of the slugfest and he forgot to take his magic wand along. The Dodgers greeted him warmly—too warmly for Newcombe's own good—and the big fellow was charged with the loss of the game.

A really good story went down the drain when Don failed to hold the Dodgers in check. What a difference to the writers if the 27-game winner of 1956 had sent Dodger batters back to the bench gnawing their teeth. Then the papers could blast away at the bad judgment of Alston in trading the big righthander away.

But the Dodgers saved their managers and front office any embarrassment by handing Newcombe his first defeat as a Redleg hurler. Added to his loss record as a Dodger that made an even half dozen reversals to go along with his lone victory.

We still insist the Dodgers acted wisely when they got rid of Newk.

The many good things that were expected of the St. Louis Cardinals are happening these days. The Red Birds have steadily closed the gap separating them from the league leaders and are showing strong signs of keeping up the good work.

The Cardinals are showing exceptional ability to win the close ones and they are getting their share of really fine pitching. Three of the four games played by Fred Hutchinson's boys from Saturday to Tuesday inclusive were won by the Cards by 2-1 scores. The other win was a 7-5 verdict over the always dangerous Pittsburgh Pirates. One of the 2-1 games was also against the Bucs and the other two were triumphs over the team they have to beat to win the pennant, Milwaukee Braves.

If the Red Birds power continues and they can get their share of good pitching, then Fred Haney had better watch out or he will miss out on a share of the World Series money.

This National League race should really be a honey.

Japan's 12 major league baseball teams are drawing record crowds this season.

Attendance totalled $3,000,000 in the 270 games played from April 7 through June 7, an average of 12,222 a game.

At this rate, experts predict a record season total of eight and one-half million paid admissions, 1,670,000 more than last year. Those Japs sure like their baseball.

Flyers Upset S' Side Legion

The R.C.A.F. Flyers defeated the Summerside Legion in an exhibition softball game at Queen Elizabeth Park last night by the score of 7-3. The Flyers banged out 10 hits off Stull, who struck out 8 and walked 3. Dobson, working four frames for the winners, allowed only three hits, whiffed 6 and gave up one base on balls. Sawatski finished the game and was touched for two hits in 3 innings. He struck out 5, and issued no free passes to first.

Robbie, airforce catcher, had a perfect 2 for 2, and Steele hit a triple and single in a 4 trips. Little poled out a three-bagger in three attempts and Byrne and Doyle both hit 1 for 1. The Legion's runs were all unearned. Thye got their first two on a comedy of three successive in-field errors, and their other tally, placed on first by a fielding miscue was batted home by Dougie Arsenault's Taxes. Leguer to left. All the RCAF runs were earned except the final one. Des Roberts made two nice catches in short field.

Little Leaguer Fans 18 Players

SYDNEY (CP)—Little League pitcher Ken Doward struckout 18 batters in a spectacular performance Tuesday night.

The 12-year-old Doward carried his Red Sox team single-handedly to a 1-0 victory over the Yankees.

Aces And B.Y.C. Register Wins

Barry's Lions, Rollaway Aces and Junior Basilea Youth Club are now caught in a three-way tie for top spot in the City Softball League, after last night's games. Junior B. Y. C. and Barry's Lions had been running neck-and-neck in runner-up spot previous to these fixtures and they each won their games last night, Junior B.Y.C. upsetting the League leading Rollaway Aces 9-6, and Barry's Lions dropping B. I. S. Shamrocks 13-8. Junior B.Y.C. has a slight advantage in that it still has two games in hand.

John Hughes, pitching for the Youth Club, registered his sixth win in as many starts. Ralph Pineau was on the mound for the losers.

The Youth Club was most effective in the second inning, getting six runs. They got two runs in the first and one in the seventh.

The Aces, on the other hand, split their runs evenly, getting three in the third and three in the seventh.

Len Arsenault was umpire and Red MacFadyen, base judge.

Art Ballem pitched the Lions to victory in the other softball fixture. He held the Irishmen to seven hits and walked eight.

Sonny Mahar started for the losers and lasted till the fourth, being relieved by Joe Thistle. Between them they gave up 13 hits. This coincided with the number of runs registered by the Lions. They also walked eight men.

Three four-baggers were hit in this fixture. Forbie Kennedy and Dick Carroll hit homers for the Flyers and Junior Dowling poled one for the Irish.

Alf Smith, a recent newcomer with Barry's Lions, made the most sensational play of the game. Wally Shepherd, pinch-hitting for Joe Thistle in the seventh in a last bid to overcome the "roaring" Lions, poled a long one that seemed like a sure extra baser, but Smith, playing centerfield, made an almost superhuman catch to put the game on ice for the Parkdale Squad.

Calhoun Given Nod Over Boyd

CHICAGO (AP) — Rory Calhoun, No. 7 middleweight contender, scored two knockdowns and outlasted a furious finish by Bobby Boyd for a unanimous decision in a national TV bout in the Chicago stadium Wednesday night.

Calhoun, who knocked out Boyd in two rounds in New York last Nov. 22, dropped Boyd in the second and in the ninth but had his hands full all the way Wednesday night.

Referee Walter Brightmore called it for Calhoun 48-42 under the Illinois five-point scoring system. Judge Jim McManus voted for Calhoun 47-43 and Judge John Bray had Calhoun winning 45-44. The AP card had it for Calhoun 46-42.

Calhoun weighed 164 and Boyd 163.

Pontiacs Defeat Tyne Valley 13-8

The Summerside Pontiacs increased their league lead by defeating the Tyne Valley Tigers at Tyne Valley last night.

by the score of 13-8 Pontiacs hammered out 18 hits off pitchers Campbell and Birch, while Charlie Ballem was holding the homesters to 8 hits. Eustace Reeves and Ballem led the hitting parade with 3 hits in 4 trips. Garry Morrison's 2 for 4 was the best for Tyne Valley. Ulric Gallant contributed the fielding gems, the Pontiac backstop catching two nice foul flies. Lloyd Darrach was umpire in chief.
