

to repair and renew, and a period of increased demand, with possibly even higher prices (which cannot yet be termed dear) may reasonably be expected. Favored with abundant crops, for which there is a large foreign demand at highly remunerative prices, the outlook for the farmers is peculiarly encouraging, and good times with them means prosperity all round. Our manufacturing interests have been stimulated into new life and vigor, which in turn have vastly aided the present business "boom" by widening and extending the demand for labor in all parts of the Dominion; and it now looks as though this fruitful source of the country's welfare—home manufactures—would have to be much further enlarged in order to meet the growing wants of rising Canada. One after another the various branches of the wholesale trade attest the genuineness of the tidal wave of commercial prosperity which has set in hitherto, the only notable exception being dry goods, which, paradoxically enough, appears to be left out in the cold, on account of warm weather. Let our old-fashioned Nor'westers stiffen up, as soon they must (Venor or no Venor), and dry goods will sympathize in the general improvement. Long is the time since we had such a bright business prospect before us as at present.—Montreal Gazette.

Prince County Judgeship.

It is reported that THOMAS KELLY, Esquire, has been appointed County Court Judge for Prince County. The report is, we believe, correct. Mr. Kelly's name was freely mentioned in connection with this office at the time of its creation; and since the death of the late lamented Judge Pope it was generally supposed that Mr. Kelly would be raised to the vacant position. No gentleman of the profession of the law had stronger claims upon the consideration of the Liberal-Conservative Party in this Island than Mr. Kelly; and the recognition of those claims by Sir John McDonald and his Cabinet is, from a party stand-point, very satisfactory. Mr. Kelly will, we believe, be a good Judge. He is, if we mistake him not, emphatically a "fair-minded man"; and his dignified bearing, his moderation and urbanity, together with his sound judgment, will appear to advantage in the high and responsible office to which he has been called. We heartily congratulate His Honor Judge Kelly.

A New Steamship Line between P. E. Island and New Brunswick.

The Buctouche correspondent of the St. John Telegraph writes: "Mr. G. Girouard, M. P., and other influential citizens of Kent, it is said, are interesting themselves in the project of having a steamer route opened up between P. E. Island and Richibucto, on the completion of the Kent Northern Railway. From West Point, P. E. I., to Richibucto Cape, the distance is said to be only 18 miles, and the passage is open and free from ice, or nearly so, all winter. It is only when eastern winds prevail in the spring that it is liable to be blocked up. It is contended that a steamer such as the "Northern Light" might traverse this route all winter, and convey mails and passengers from the Island to the Intercolonial Railway."

Mr. Blake, the erratic politician, has consented to re-enter public life, and Mr. Burk, the member for West Durham, makes the sacrifice necessary to provide a seat in Parliament. West Durham is the banner Liberal county of Ontario, and has more than once afforded a refuge for party leaders whose constituents have left them out in the cold; but we believe there will be a general feeling of satisfaction at the return of Mr. Blake to Parliament, for, in spite of his ignominious failure as a politician, and his want of the qualities which would entitle him to rank as a statesman, he possesses legal abilities which make him a useful man in committee, and oratorical talents which give interest to any debate in which he engages. But for the inconsistencies of his short career he might have become a formidable man in the Liberal party; now, while we may expect to hear him expound his missionary reforms in the House, we hope for some practical result from his critical abilities and knowledge of legal affairs.—Montreal Gazette.

Last evening, at 8 o'clock, a house owned by Mr. E. Robertson, of Newtown, situated on Grafton street, west, was discovered on fire. The alarm was immediately given and the engines hurried to the scene. The fire originated in a back kitchen and, as the house has been for a long time unoccupied, incendiaryism is supposed to be the cause. The interior walls were burning brightly when the engines commenced work; and the flames had crept into the roof threatening to take possession of the building. After extinguishing all visible fire in the interior of the kitchen several holes were cut in the roof. Water was freely poured through these, and in a short time the last spark disappeared. The building was badly damaged both by fire and water. We have not heard whether the owner has it insured or not. Loss is estimated at $300.

The Picton Town Council, by resolution at a late meeting, imposed a license of $12.00 a year, or $1 a month on parties living beyond the limits of the town who bring meat in for sale and sell it from door to door. Also, $6 a year or $1 a month for those that sell milk. The Standard calls this "a new departure," and advocates a new market house.

Quebec Politicians in a Rough-and-Tumble Fight.

The liberals are not inclined to boast much over their mass meetings of late. It now turns out that at Yamachiche nearly half the names put as movers or seconders of the resolutions were used without consent of the owners. At Kamouraska, a conservative suddenly appeared and accepted the defiance of Mr. Joly, and addressed the meeting for two hours and so disgusted the audience with their liberal ministers that the meeting was closed a few minutes afterwards, and lastly at Bellechasse, a disgraceful scene was enacted. Mr. Joly addressed the meeting at some length, and was followed by Mr. Landry, M. P. for Montmagny, a conservative. Mr. Mercier then addressed the meeting, conducting himself in a most extravagant style, challenging any one present to fight him or meet him in any manner whatever after the meeting. Mr. Fradet, the diver, the late local member for Bellechasse, met Mr. Mercier on the boat, accepted the challenge, and a fight ensued, which was only put a stop to by the personal interference of Mr. Joly. The scene was a most disgraceful one and caused considerable stir among the passengers, many of whom were simply enjoying a Sunday afternoon excursion on the river. The resolutions the liberals had prepared beforehand were torn up by the audience, who refused to pass them.

Decay of an English City.

A correspondent of the London "Daily News" gives a sad picture of the town of Middlesbrough. A few years ago this was one of the most flourishing towns in the North of England. In twenty years its population had multiplied from 8,000 to more than 40,000, and there seemed no limit to its growth. But the depression of the iron trade and the substitution of steel for iron has thrown Middlesbrough in great distress. Eighty-six of its one hundred and sixty-five blast furnaces, the most expensively built in the world, are idle, and there is no prospect that they can again be opened. Its rail mills are useless till they receive new machinery, which there is no capital to purchase. The mansions of its iron masters, palaces, most of them, are closed. The billiard-room of one of these palaces itself cost £50,000—the walls being decorated by an Associate of the Royal Academy. This was but one of the many examples of the magnificent extravagance which has been one of the growths of mushroom prosperity. Nearly all the leading men in the town are now poor. Rents have fallen more than 50 per cent. Properties will not realise the mortgages upon them. Hundreds of houses are empty; dozens of shops are closed; and upwards of 5,000 men, women and children are starving. The ordinary machinery of poor relief has utterly broken down.

At the fire last evening a young man named George Gardiner had an arm dislocated at the elbow by accidentally falling into a hole in the rear of the burning building.

The Rev. D. D. Currie will (D. V.) preach in the Second Methodist Church, Upper Prince Street, to-morrow morning at the usual hour.
