Canada Can Take 500,000 Scots

EDINBURGH, Jan. — Canada badly needs British emigrants and British capital and labour, said Sir Victor Warren, Lord Provost of Glasgow, when he returned from a three-week tour of North America.

"Skilled tradesmen can always be assured of a job in Canada," he added, "and under private enterprise the energetic worker will find that he can earn substantially more than he does in this country."

British Press On Appointment

LONDON, Jan. 27—(CP)—The entire British press featured the appointment of Vincent Massey as Canada's first native-born governor-general.

The Empire-conscious Daily Mail announced the appointment with banner headlines.

The papers warmly praised Massey in their editorial columns.

The Times said that the Canadian Cabinet considered Massey "simply the best man for the post" of governor-general "once it was known no member of the Royal Family was free to accept it."

"To the people of this country no diplomatist is better known and respected than the man who represented Canada as high commissioner in London for 10 long and troubled years."

It may be safely said no one could be more acceptable to the King himself as his representative than a man who has long been known as a friend and confidant of the Royal Family, the Times added.

The Independent Conservative Daily Telegraph in an editorial headed "Canada's Choice," said Massey was "the man best qualified to fill the post."

Call Canal Zone Battle Aggression

LONDON, Jan. 27—(Reuters)—Moscow radio tonight described Friday's Suez Canal zone battle in Ismailia, as "a new act of aggression" by Britain.

The Egyptians put up "staunch resistance" in "unequal battle" but finally had to surrender to the "enormous numerical superiority" of the British forces.

"This new criminal act by the British" had roused indignation in all Egypt, the broadcast said.

Canada's Resources In World Demand

OTTAWA, Jan. 26—(CP)—Canada's resources are in world demand in an ever-increasing degree "not only for civil needs but for the defence organization under the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization," Viscount Alexander said last night.

In an address prepared for delivery to the 45th annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy—which may be one of his last speeches in Canada—the Governor-General noted the "vast" mining development which Canada has made since he assumed office here six years ago.

He warned that while this development meant much to Canada in the way of wealth and opportunity, wealth brings responsibilities together with all its troubles.

"Canada will flourish as she grows in richness and prosperity, but she will be drawn more and more into the world's problems and have to shoulder greater responsibilities than are as yet realized."

Reported to be leaving soon to become defence minister in the Churchill cabinet, Viscount Alexander said he addressed the gathering "just before I leave Canada."

"And I must admit that the occasion holds a note of sadness for me. My wife and I have been very happy here in this country amongst you. My children have grown up as young Canadians and are frank in their unhappiness at the thought of leaving Canada, which has become our second home."

He had addressed the Institute soon after coming to this country—"five years ago almost to the day."

During that time he had been particularly impressed by the discovery of two major sources of wealth—the oil fields of Alberta and the great ore deposits of Ungava.

Refreshments were served by the hosts and committee and the meeting adjourned.

P.W.C. News & Views

The third in the series of the Prince of Wales College concerts will be held in the college auditorium on next Monday night. This concert is of particular interest to the students since there is a chorus composed entirely of P. W. C. girls. There are about nineteen of them participating in the concert.

The chorus is under the capable direction of Miss Lillian MacKenzie and is accompanied on the piano by Mrs. G. E. Full. It is hoped that many of the college students will attend since they will surely benefit by it. The girls themselves are all in their late teens and are principally from this city.

The hockey dance which was held last Monday night was a success both for the people attending the dance and for the A.A.A. who received the funds from the students. These funds will be used in helping to finance the trip taken by the King College hockey team from Halifax. In regards to the dance which is to be held to celebrate the occasion, it will be at Prince of Wales and not at the Rollaway as previously mentioned.

The Welshmen have not taken part in outside competition during the past week but many games were played in the house league. The league plans to move into the semi-final series this week, and this along with the finals will fill out a very successful season.

The Hasbeens are leading in the series at the moment. The lead in the scoring race is controlled by Clee Gillis, a very capable hockey player both in school and at P.W.C.

The basketball team has had some serious setbacks so far this season but will remain in their fighting till the last Saturday night they were forced to freeze the ball to prevent the Saints from reaching the hundred mark.

The defeats are due mainly to the fact that the team is composed almost entirely of rookies. But these rookies beat the Saints in the last quarter the other night. The students are still behind the team and know that with a few more games they will have practiced enough to make a better showing against the other teams.

A French conversation class has been started at P.W.C. by Mr. Aikens the French teacher. The class or club as it is better known is held every Friday afternoon. It tends to be a social affair as formalities are done away with.

It is expected that it will become a place where the students and teachers can reach a better understanding of each other since there are several teachers attending the club. Mr. Aikens hopes that they will be able to put on a French play at a later date as the club progresses to prove to the rest of the college that it is possible to learn to speak French in an English speaking community.

Hanging in the college library are many paintings by famous artists of long ago. These pictures were donated by the Department of Education who obtained them from the galleries of the United Nations in New York.

Until next week this is all there is to be heard from your college reporter.

Secretary Of Louis Riel Dies In New York

MONTRÉAL, January—(CP)—Honore Joseph Jaxon, the 90-year-old Riel rebellion veteran who died in New York early this month, was Louis Riel's English secretary.

Jaxon was knocking around Lower Manhattan as a derelict and once lived in a shack of orange crates on the banks of the Bronx River. But a search of his papers after his death indicated he may have owned considerable property.

Bruce Peel, chief cataloguer of the Rutherford Library at the University of Alberta, came upon much information on Jaxon while doing research on a book about Saskatchewan being written by him and Eric Knowles, managing editor of the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

Mr. Peel said Jaxon was born William Henry Jackson in Ontario and that his story of having a Virginian father and a half-breed mother is fiction. Jaxon attended the University of Toronto and came west in 1882 or 1883, settling in the Prince Albert district. Treason, arrived in the Saskatchewan Valley in July, 1884, at the invitation of dissatisfied metis (half-breeds) in the Batoche district.

Jaxon joined Riel the following year and was made the French-speaking rebel leader's English secretary.

The excitement of armed insurrection proved too much for Jaxon and he became insane. He was locked up when Federal troops stormed Batoche. Thus at Riel's trial Jaxon escaped the consequences of his association with the rebel leader.

He was sent to a mental institution in Southern Manitoba for about two years. One day a minister visited the institutional farm and Jaxon seized the minister's team and rig and did not stop until he had crossed the United States border.

Tells Of Relief From Shortage Of Sulphur

OTTAWA, Jan. 26—(CP)—The story of how three Canadian companies cooperated in the development of a project which will ease the shortage of sulphur by about 45,000 tons a year was related Tuesday to the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Dr. Russell W. Allgood, recently-appointed manager of the Copper Cliff Ont. chemicals plant of Canadian Industries Limited, told of the development.

The project, involving the manufacture of liquid sulphur dioxide from gases produced by the International Nickel Company's Copper Cliff smelter and boosting by 60 per cent the production of sulphuric acid at the chemicals plant, will help ease Canada's shortage of elemental sulphur.

Development by the nickel company of a new flash-smelting process using oxygen instead of air provided the initial impetus for the scheme, Dr. Allgood said. C. I. L. made studies which proved the feasibility of production, and the Albitri Power and Paper Company demonstrated successful application to sulphite-mill operations.

Dr. Allgood's paper was one of more than 30 presented at the C. I. M. M. annual convention.

The liquid sulphur dioxide will be used almost entirely by sulphite pulp mills in Ontario and Quebec which now burn elemental sulphur.

A group on strategic metals heard a review of the world situation by G. C. Monture, head of the non-ferrous metals division of the Defence Production Department.

Metallurgists discussed various substitution methods by which strategic metals might be conserved.

Marlene Stewart Gets New Honor

TORONTO, Jan. 26—(CP)—Marlene Stewart got a new feather for her plaid golfing cap Tuesday. Ontario sports writers and sportscasters rated her the province's outstanding athlete of 1951.

The 36 newspaper and radio men participating in a poll of members of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association were unanimous in their choice of the 17-year-old girl from Fonthill.

She got the nod for her golfing achievements—last year she won two Canadian titles and the Ontario Women's open.

Actually, Marlene got the association's first annual award by acclamation. The association had called for two nominations from each of its active members and planned a vote later to choose among the three leading nominees. It dropped plans for the vote after it tabulated nominations and found that Miss Stewart was first choice of 34 members and second of one.
