Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known, as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Bonne, La.

"I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy

For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

Here and There.

Judge Tuthill, a few days ago straightened out one of the queerest matrimonial tangles ever brought into the Chicago divorce courts. The complainant in the case was Edward D. Tucker; the defendant was L. Josephine Tucker, or as she has been known for more than 15 years, L. Josephine Morris. Tucker married Josephine in 1868, and they lived together about one year, when she suddenly deserted him. She went to Kansas, and there after a year or two, got a divorce from him. Then Tucker married again. His second marriage did not turn out well, for he quarrelled with his wife and fled to Utah. After he had lived long enough in the Mormon territory to have some standing in court, he secured a divorce from No. 2. Then he came back to Illinois a free man, as he supposed, and soon met and loved another woman. He married her and went to housekeeping at Pontiac. Wife No. 2 heard of his new happiness and had Tucker arrested for bigamy. The prosecution of the case developed a strange state of affairs. It was found that the divorce obtained by the wife of 1868 in Kansas was illegal, and the divorce he secured among the Mormons was declared illegal. He was still the husband of Josephine and all the other wives were spurious. He was convicted and sent to Joliet. About a year ago he finished his term there and went to Chicago. Mrs. Tucker corroborated her husband's story as to the marriage of 1868, her desertion and the divorce she obtained in Kansas. There was a technicality, however, in the Kansas divorce, although she had married a man named Morris, and had become the mother of six children without suspecting that the divorce from Tucker was not lawful. Learning that the complications into which Tucker, as well as herself, had fallen, she went to Chicago to have the snarl unravelled. Judge Tuthill ordered that a decree be entered giving Tucker a divorce, on the ground of her desertion in 1879. It took the court just fourteen minutes to straighten things.

Late South Carolina advices state that Dr. C. F. Panknin, a well-known chemist of Charleston, is perfecting an invention for utilizing the bark of the ramee plant as a complete substitute for cotton, and a great revolution is thus promised. Dr. Panknin has placed on exhibition there a large roll of ramee which has been prepared and treated by his process. By looking at the roll it is easy to conclude that the method is perfect. The product is devoid of gum and of particles of the bark. Each filament is distinct and as glossy and transparent as a strand of silk. The roll has been bleached but not carded or combed. When this last process has been applied—which anyone can do with his fingers—it will appear even more advantageously. Dr. Panknin says that he is now perfecting a machine by which he can produce the stuff on a commercial scale. With the machine he uses now he has prepared a quantity of the article similar to that on exhibition. The stalks of ramee are first split longitudinally in half, or as nearly that portion as possible. These slips are then passed through an apparatus similar to a fluting machine, which breaks the weed into small pieces that are easily detached from the bark which is left in long ribbons. The secret lies in extracting the gum absolutely from the ribbon, removing at the same time all the finer particles of bark. This done the decortication is complete. It is learned that the cost of preparation by the chemical process will not exceed that for the preparation for market of equivalent amounts of long cotton. Dr. Panknin is now in communication with business men in New York who are interested in the discovery.

Lovers of the terpsichorean art will be pleased to hear of a new round dance—the latest out. "La Reve" is the name of it, and it has been adopted by the American Association of the Professors of Dancing at New York. This, it is said, was partly invented by Prof. Rives, who says he got the idea from a dying musician, who said he dreamed it. Therefore it is called "the dream," Le Reve. It consists of three glides forward, the last glide done slowly; then a coupe or a thrusting out of the forward foot, recovering it to the fifth position, behind the other foot; last is a jete or jump with the forward foot, at the same time bringing the other foot to the assemblee or position of rest. Then repeat ad-libitum. A square dance was also recommended for the coming season. It is a schottische quadrille, a slight variation on the schottiche quadrilles popular for many years, and still popular in Philadelphia. It was invented by Prof. J. P. Bucks, of Pittsburg.

Rev. Dr. Chas. A. Fowler, of San Francisco, a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, who has just completed a trip around the world, expressed the belief that ten years hence America would pay for her anti-Chinese laws with the blood of her citizens. In speaking of the law prohibiting the Chinse from America, the bishop said it was a most dastardly and disgusting thing that America ever did. He says the feeling in China is deep but quiet, and quotes the greatest prince in China as saying: "We are looking after our home interests now. Ten years will put China in shape as to her interior arrangements, then we will look after her outside interests." They are making great guns and ironclads, and manning them, says the doctor, and in ten years a country with one-third of the inhabitants of the globe will be ready to ask America what she means by trifling with her treaty.

The fire marshal of Boston reports that 7 per cent. of the fires in that city last year had their origin in incendiarism. These he divided into the following classes: Those wherein the motive was a desire for spite or revenge, 28 per cent.; those wherein innate depravity or pure deviltry was the impelling motive, 25 per cent.; fires set by a pyromaniac, 7 per cent.; and where the intent was to rob insurance companies, 40 per cent. The amount of loss caused by accidental fires is placed at 47 per cent. of the total fire waste of the year, as against 31 per cent. last year; and this increase is mainly due to fires arising from spontaneous combustion, on account of which the percentage of loss is increased from 9 per cent. last year to 34 per cent. this year, and to fires caused by electric wires, the number of which has increased three-fold over last year.

A Mr. Backen, the President of a New York Car Motor company, was recently showing some visitors about a building, to convince them that there was no danger in electricity. To show them that some dangerous looking wires were perfectly innocent, he leaned against two harmless looking rods, when, like a flash, he was knocked over, and landed half way across the room on his back in an empty drip pan. Commissioner Baker ran over to help him to his feet, and in touching him received a severe electric shock in his right arm. After a time President Baken got upon his feet, and continued to demonstrate to his visitors, using a little more caution, however, that electricity was harmless.

The latest elixir story comes from the South. Some of the Houdoo doctors there are prescribing a rejuvenating elixir made of dog fennel and gin. With a rabbit's foot in the patient's pocket the preparation is said to be stimulating, particularly if too much dog fennel is not used in making it. Probably it is as good as the other elixirs of life, and, like them, it craves wary taking. Old Uncle Pompey Tagliaferro, of Shoat's Mills, took an overdose the other night, and was so exuberantified that he set fire to his barn, tried to throw his mule into the creek, and finally broke his left leg while chasing his own dog under the hallucination that it was a coon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The West River Bridge.

SIR,—Under the above heading appears an article in the Patriot of the 12th ult. It is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end. Personal spite and animosity gleam from every line. It reveals the envy of the traducer. The work in question was ordered to be performed by the Government, and plans and specifications were prepared under the supervision of the Commissioner of Public Works. The Supervisor simply performed the duties of his office by accepting the lowest tender, and if the contractors fail to perform their contract according to specifications the remedy in such cases can easily be applied. What right has the Patriot's writer to prejudge the contractor's conduct by stating that they will inconvenience passengers at shipping time. How does he know that by that time their contract will not be completed? The Supervisor's duties will be faithfully performed despite the scurrilous effusions of the Patriot writer. Let the meeting for which the envious scribe of the Patriot appears so anxious be called by all means, and Mr. Laird will then find that his Long Creek correspondent will be as dumb as a whipped cur.

The honest and respectable Liberals of Lot 65 will be the foremost to defend the man to whose gratuitious abuse the columns of the Patriot are always too open. Truth and honesty are more prized by them all than the side a truckling knave may take at elections, and Mr. Laird will find to his cost that this wholesale abuse of a deservedly popular and leading member of our community will not be much longer tolerated. Let him close his columns to those foul slanders, or he may soon find himself minus a number of veteran subscribers, and among them

Yours, etc.,
JUSTICE.

Lot 65.

Good Will To All Men.

BROADENING THE LINES OF CHRISTIAN CHARITY ON THE RUINS OF THE HARBOR GRACE CATHEDRAL.

Out of adversity there cometh much good. The disastrous and calamitous fire at Harbor Grace, which, in four short hours, eat up the sacrifices, the toils and hopes of a quarter of a century of the good people of His Lordship Dr. McDonald's diocese, has been the cause of awakening the sympathies of classes of the community. The money loss alone was a quarter of a million dollars. The Lord Bishop of Newfoundland (Dr. Jones) and his good clergy have placed on record at their synod their sympathy with their fellow-christians in Harbor Grace at the loss of their magnificent and beautiful temple of worship. While the fire was raging in the cathedral, among the foremost and most energetic workers were Rev. Mr. James, of the Methodist denomination, and the captain of the Salvation Army. His Lordship Dr. Power, in preaching in the Roman Catholic cathedral of this city last night for a collection expressive of the deep sympathy of his diocese, referred in terms of unstinted gratitude to the Church of England clergy for their resolution of sympathy; and also to the good men of all creeds in Harbor Grace, who risked all to save the Convent and palace at that place, Truly, this is Christlike charity. It broadens the minds of men to the sufferings and trials of their fellow men, and will have that grand and great result of uniting all creeds and classes with stronger ties together, and promote at one and the same time both the spiritual and temporal welfare of our people. God bless these noble men!—St. John's Telegram.

"IT goes right to the spot," said the old gentleman, who found great benefit in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He was right. Derangement of the stomach, liver, and kidneys are more speedily remedied by this medicine than by any other. It reaches the trouble directly.
