

Belgian King Gives Ball, Huge Throng Goes Wild

By EDDY GILMORE
BRUSSELS (AP) — Courtiers barred the doors against a swarming throng of onlookers early Sunday so King Baudouin would have room to dance with a flock of European princesses.

Earlier the bachelor king of the Belgians left the ballroom when the crush of onlookers made dancing impossible.

The scene was the first royal ball the 27-year-old king had given in his seven-year reign and the first in Belgium for 24 years.

From the expression on Baudouin's face it may be a long time before he gives another.

The trouble was too many people in too few rooms and too much curiosity about a monarch little known even to his own people.

Eleven princesses, five princes, an archduke and an archduchess were among the top-drawer guests. More than 6,000 persons in all were invited to the royal fling.

KING BLUSHES

Blushing slightly, the king moved out on the floor with Princess Beatrix, heiress apparent to the Netherlands throne, in his arms.

The sight of the retiring young king dancing in public for the first time was too much for his subjects. They charged forward.

Baudouin and the 20-year-old Beatrix were cheek to cheek whether they wanted it that way or not. That's how much the crowd pressed in.

Baudouin gave up on the dancing at that point.

Escorted by an aide he made the rounds of several buffets. Hundreds of persons swarmed down the corridors of the Palace of Brussels after him.

Everywhere he turned the crowd pushed in. People stood on costly chairs. The women's gowns were stepped on and torn.

TRIED AGAIN

Baudouin returned to the main ballroom, collected a few princesses and entered the royal buffet. All dancing stopped and the crowd tried to follow him.

After a few minutes the king returned and once more tried to dance. It was impossible.

year. Remains will be transferred from the MacLean Funeral Home to her late residence from where the funeral will be held privately. Interment in the People's Cemetery. Please omit flowers.

Mrs. V. Blake Died Saturday At Home Here

The death of Mrs. Vincent Blake, 15 Villa Avenue, occurred at her late residence Saturday morning following a short illness.

The former Edythe Isobel Hyndman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Hyndman, the late Mrs. Blake was born September 16, 1881. She began her formal education at St. Peter's Primary School, and later attended the Havergal Girls School in Toronto.

In 1912 she married Louis G. Hazard. He died the following year. Seven years later she married Mr. Blake.

During her lifetime, the late Mrs. Blake was a faithful member of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Maurice; and one brother, J.O. Hyndman, all of whom reside in this City.

His Honour, Lieutenant-Governor Hyndman, is a nephew of the late Mrs. Blake.

as a means of providing work for two or three men for a considerable part of the year. If the plan goes into effect, and it is felt that the City Council will give its approval, the lot will be supervised continually to guard against petty thievery from the parked cars. A kiosk will be built at the entrance to the lot, and all cars will be checked in and out by the men on duty.

At present the location is a bit uneven and some bulldozer work will be necessary to convert the site to its new use. Once the official go-ahead signal is received from the City authorities, this work would be quickly undertaken. It is felt by Legion officials that the new parking facilities will help to some extent to relieve the downtown parking problem in the city.

Gives Advice To Duodenal Ulcer Patients

WINNIPEG (CP) — A go-slow approach to a radical and extensive surgery for duodenal ulcer was suggested Wednesday by Dr. Ronald Dupuis of Verdun Hospital, who said such surgery gives a much higher mortality rate than is generally believed.

Dr. Dupuis, speaking at the convention of the College of General Practice of Canada, said radical and extensive surgery is practised across the country.

The mortality rate could be as high as five to 15 per cent, he said. "This is prohibitive and disturbing."

"There is mounting evidence of good results from more conservative surgical procedure which avoids removal of the gastric reservoir," he said. "It should be practised more often."

Seventy per cent of patients to be treated by surgery could be
